COURT BATTLE FOR CAMPBELL FREEDOM NEAR

REARREST INDICATED IF HE WINS LIBERTY

Inmate of Walter Reed Looms as New Center of Investigation.

NEW WITNESSES FAIL TO GIVE ANY ALIBI AID

Officials Also Find Their Leads Produce Little of Real Value.

Freedom for Herbert M. Campbell, accused of the murder of Mary E. Baker, will not be gained by his attorney, Charles H. Smith, without a legal battle, according to Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth.

Prosecution and defense have laid plans for a court fight which will probably be staged before Circuit Judge Walter T. McCarthy in Arlington County in the latter part of this week.

Attention of authorities shifted yesterday from Campbell to an inmate of Walter Reed Hospital, who was secretly lodged in the First Precinct station on Sunday. Carl C. McEntire, the prisoner, was placed under arrest by Detective Sergt. Carlton Talley after he had told soldiers at the institution that he "knew a lot about the Baker case."

Suffers Lapse of Memory.

After Sergt. Talley placed him in a cell he lost all his knowledge of the affair, according to the officer. He is being held for investigation. Lieut. Edward J. Kelly will talk with the prisoner today. It is thought likely that he will then be released.

Attorney Smith conferred with the judge yesterday afternoon and indications were that applications for a writ of habeas corpus will be made on Thursday or Friday. Mr. Gloth is prepared for the move and should Campbell be released after the habeas corpus hearing, it was intimated that the suspect would be rearrested by District police.

Mr. Gloth has conferred with Assistant District Attorney William Collins to effect Campbell's arrest if he is released following the contemplated habeas corpus hearing.

Gun to Go to Goddard.

Mr. Gloth also announced yesterday that Campbell's gun and the bullets taken from Mary Baker's body would be sent to Maj. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert, for examination. This announcement followed one by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, that he would accept Dr. Wilmer Souder's identification of the pistol as the murder gun as factual.

No funds are available in the District or Arlington County for sending the weapon to Maj. Goddard in Chicago. It was indicated at a conference yesterday between Inspector William S. Shelby and Mr. Gloth that the Department of Justice may be asked to finance the examination or that the two jurisdictions will share the expense.

Attorney Smith presented to Mr. Gloth the names of four witnesses, who, he said, would support Campbell's alibi. One of these, Harry Tazoff, a grocer of Virginia Highlands, failed to give the expected corroboration.

Uncertain of Exact Date.

Tazoff was supposed to place Campbell in his store at 5:30 o'clock on the night of the murder. Interviewed yesterday by Mr. Gloth, Detective Sergt. John Flaherty and Talley, the witness, according to the prosecution, recalled that Campbell

A Story Of Clean Service

When Mrs. Ione Calver, of 4226 Fessenden Street, lost a valuable scarf, a fastidious reader of the morning Post found it and exercised especial care to return the neckpiece to its rightful owner.

The scarf had become lost on a street car, almost trampled and slightly soiled, so the finder was careful to have the scarf washed and done up neatly to return to Mrs. Calvert, who paid a substantial reward.

Says: Public interest in the merchant marine has never been sufficiently strong. We all believe in good roads on land. A merchant ship is the only good road on the water. For the same reason that the Government builds highways and leaves them to private operation it is justified in helping build ships for private operation. Both national defense and commerce require ships.

For the first time in years we are making some progress. Since the act of 1928 good rates are paid ship owners for carrying the mail in return for agreements to build ships for which the Government lends money at low interest. Under this system we now have agreements to build 68 ships aggregating about 700,000 gross tons and costing about $275,000,000.

Because of this system we have reached second place among the nations in shipbuilding. But we are still far behind our needs. Our own vessels carry only about 40 per cent of our foreign trade. We are dependent on our competitors to carry 60 per cent of our trade to market. Of course the result is that they help themselves and hamper us. Parity in merchant ships is only less important than parity in warships. We ought to make the necessary sacrifices to secure it.

NATS GIVE $65,000 FOR FIRST BASEMAN

Joe Kuhel, of Kansas City, Reputed as Slugger, to Report Immediately.

TEAM'S COSTLIEST BUY

The Washington Baseball Club last night announced the purchase of the most costly recruit in its history—Joe Kuhel, first baseman of the Kansas City team of the American Association, at a reported price of $65,000 as baseball values go.

Kuhel's cost exceeds the price of $50,000 paid the Sacramento Club for Earl McNeeley in 1924, President Griffith declared last night in announcing the deal. In addition to the cash consideration, the Kansas City team will receive three players now the property of the Washington Club, two of whom are First Baseman Harley Boss and Infielder Charley Gooch, both with Chattanooga and both valued at the waiver price of $7,500. Kuhel will join the Washington Club immediately.

The latest move to strengthen the pennant chances of the Washington team which underwent a severe setback on the recent Western trip, brings to the Nats a third first baseman with Joe Judge and Art Shires already numbered as holders of the post, and is the most recent of a series of deals extending over the past four years in an effort to find a better man than Judge for the job.

An immediate effect of the Kuhel purchase will be the transfer of Shires from the first base candidacy to the outfield despite his lack of experience in the latter position, President Griffith announced in disclosing the deal. The shift will be made with a view to utilizing Shires' batting power.

In Kuhel, the Nats have acquired the outstanding player in the American Association, according to glowing reports forwarded to the Washington owner by Scout Joe Engel, who has had the first baseman under observation for weeks and unhesitatingly declares him to be "the best first baseman in the country," according to President Griffith.

Kuhel is a strapping player, 6 feet tall, weighs 185 pounds and is reputed to be fast on his feet. He has earned a reputation this season as a slugger and his latest published average was .377. He is tied for the league lead with twelve triples. Kuhel bats and throws left handed. Last season he hit for an average of .325 in 161 games. He now rates second in the league fielding averages.

Griffith's acquisition of Kuhel marks the Washington team's fourth major trade of the season after the team had established itself in the thick of the pennant race. Previously the Washington club owner had engineered the Barnes for Harris deal

SIR RONALD REFUSES EMBASSY RUM BAN

British Envoy to Continue Liquor Importation in Spite of Protests.

U. S. POLICY UNCHANGED

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, will continue to import liquors for embassy use. The protests of American drys have not served to move the new British envoy, who announced upon arrival in this country that he would follow the usual custom and serve wine and other liquors on appropriate occasions.

At the embassy yesterday it was stated that the letter said to have been transmitted by Samuel B. Woods, former Mayor of Charlottesville, Va., urging Sir Ronald to follow the precedent set by Sir Esme Howard, his predecessor, and not import liquor, had not yet been received.

In reply to quetsions officials of the State Department said there had been no change whatever in the policy of the United States Government concerning the importation of diplomatic liquors under proper restrictions.

There was no disposition in either diplomatic or official circles to take seriously the contention of Mr. Woods that importation of liquor by foreign diplomats is encouraging the "lawless and unfriendly element."

Mr. Woods' statement that by reverting to the custom generally observed by diplomats Sir Ronald is "doing much to weaken the friendship of the United States for Great Britain," was declared to be absurd.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 28.—Samuel B. Woods of Arrowhead, this county, expressed surprise tonight that his letter to Sir Ronald Lindsay British Ambassador, protesting against the bringing of liquor into this country, had not reached its destination.

"My letter was mailed July 14," said Woods, "and failing to receive any reply after ten days had elapsed. I then decided to make its contents public."

Mr. Woods declared that he protested "as one of a multitude of Virginians and citizens of the United States who have not forgotten the rock from which they were hewn, and many of whom favor an offensive defensive alliance between the members of the English-speaking race."

British Speed Progress Of Naval Treaty Bill

London, July 28 (A.P.).—Progress on the London Naval Treaty bill, which has passed through the House of Commons, is to be speeded up.

It was originally to be taken to the House of Lords on Wednesday, but will now go through all its stages in the Lords tomorrow.

HOOVER'S HELP TO REECE SEEN AS NEW POLICY

President Will Support Backers in Congress, Is Belief.

INTEREST DISPLAYED IN TENNESSEE FIGHT

Chief Executive's Letter Proves Surprise to Politicians.

ACT HELD TO MEAN END OF ALOOFNESS

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

President Hoover's letter of indorsement to Representative Reece in the First Tennessee district was understood here yesterday to mean that the President intends to go "down the line" for all of the members of Congress who have stood by him.

It means, it is understood, a complete swing from his heretofore aloofness in Republican primary fights to the policy of his first political mentor, Woodrow Wilson.

The President's letter caused considerable surprise. Published in the week-end flow of crimination and recrimination, in which the Tennessee fight is buried, it is just beginning to get widespread attention.

Letter of President.

Mr. Reece introduced the Hoover plan of disposing of Muscle Shoals in the House in opposition to the Norris bill, which passed the Senate again. His opponent in the Tennessee primary, Sam W. Price, is making an issue of this against him. The President wrote to Mr. Reece:

"I hear that your opponents are charging you with failure to serve the interests of your constituents because you refused to accept the Senate plan for dealing with Muscle Shoals.

"The fact is that the House plan will secure development of this great resource more effectively and more greatly in the interest of Tennessee than would the Senate plan. I am assured that the Senate plan can not be passed in the House. Nor would I approve the plan, because it is not in the interest of Tennessee or the rest of the Nation. Your course has been the only one that will secure an advancement of this development in the interest of the people of Tennessee."

Difference in Bills.

The Reece bill, known at the time as embodying the President's plan, called for appointment of a commission of three to negotiate for private operation of Muscle Shoals. The Nor-

CANADA VOTES SPELL DEFEAT FOR LIBERALS

MACKENZIE KING GAINS ON FOE IN HARD FIGHT

Five Members of Cabinet Swept Out of Office in Landslide.

REELECTION ASSURED FOR FOUR MINISTERS

Heat Checks Early Voting but Rush Comes Later to Swell Boxes.

Ottawa, Ont., July 28 (A.P.).—With the Conservative party lacking only five seats in the House of Commons to gain the balance of power and 39 remaining to be decided, the Liberal government of Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King tonight faced inevitable defeat in the Dominion election.

Out of the 206 contests completed, the Conservatives held 119 seats; the Liberals, 71; United Farmers, 9; Independents, 2; Progressives, 1, and Liberal Progressives, 1.

Five cabinet members were swept out of office in the Conservative landslide. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance and author of the budget which levied countervailing duties against the United States, was among those defeated. The Liberals had used the budget as one of their campaign issues.

Premier Lags at First.

The other cabinet members to lose out were T. A. Creper, minister of agriculture; F. W. Kay, minister without portfolio; Lucien Cannon, solicitor general, and Cyrus McMillan, minister of fisheries.

Even the premier lagged behind his Conservative opponent in early returns from Saskatchewan, but he finally stepped out into the lead with later reports.

The reelection of R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader and bitter opponent of the prime minister, was conceded in Calgary West.

P. J. Cardin, minister of marine; W. D. Euler, minister of national revenue; Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, and J. J. Ralston, minister of defense, were conceded reelection on the face of early returns.

The Liberals lost a total of nine seats in Quebec, the Independents taking one. These losses, together with the defeat of the two ministers and further encroachments by the Conservatives in the maritimes, gave their opponents a substantial lead.

Voting Light at First.

The polls opened at 8 a. m. and for a time, probably because of the heat, voting was light. But two hours later, when it was plain that there

BRITAIN'S NEW GIANT OF SKIES BEGINS HER FLIGHT TO MONTREAL

EXPECTED TO REACH GOAL EARLY FRIDAY.

CLOSE GUARD KEPT AGAINST STOWAWAYS

Air Liner Carries Crew of Four Officers and 32 Men.

Cardington, England, Tuesday, July 29 (A.P.).—Britain's great new air liner R-100, making the first transatlantic flight by a British dirigible in eleven years, soared away from her mooring mast here at 3:45 a. m. (9:45 p. m., Monday, E. S. T.) today, bound for Canada.

The start was without hitch. The powerful Rolls-Royce engines began running soon after 3 a. m., and as the starting moment approached roared deafeningly.

Then, with loud cheers from a crowd that for hours had stood about watching the preparations, the mooring ropes were cast off and the airship rose rapidly and set out for Liverpool.

Due in Montreal Friday.

From there she will fly north toward the Hebrides Islands, west of Scotland, avoiding a low pressure area north of Ireland. A cold, strong wind was blowing.

According to schedule, the R-100 should reach St. Hubert Field, Montreal, some time early Friday morning.

Her course was left to the discretion of her commander, Squadron Leader R. S. Booth. He probably will take the Northern Great Circle route, passing north of Ireland to a point south of Cape Farewell, Greenland, crossing Labrador and following the St. Lawrence River to St. Hubert Field.

Last Smokes Taken.

Her four officers and 32 men, who had remained aboard ship most of the evening, got out between 2 a. m. and 3 a. m. for the last smokes they will enjoy until they land in the Western World.

Close guard was maintained against aspiring stowaways. A stowaway succeeded in making the voyage aboard the R-34 in 1919, last previous British dirigible to cross the Atlantic.

Everyone connected with the flight was confident of the big airship's powers. Officers and crew were in the highest spirits.

44 Persons to Be Aboard.

England's most famous airship commander, Maj. G. H. Scott, is aboard but not in command. That responsibility has devolved upon Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, who has under him a crew of four officers and 32 men. Lieut. Comdr. Sir C. Denniston Burney, director of the firm which constructed the R-100 is making the trip, as are also an admiralty observer, a meteorological officer and one or two others. The company, including the crew, is 44 persons.

The 2,000 pounds of food carried is divided into three days' ordinary rations and one day's reserve rations with an added day's supply for an emergency. In the latter classification the surprisingly un-British item of chewing gum is listed.

There are 500 gallons of drinking and washing water on board. Meals will be served in the dining room, cooked in an adjoining kitchen.

The airship is equipped for long wave wireless transmission, and long and short wave reception. The call

NEW RUSSIAN TRADE BANS UNDER STUDY

LUMBER IMPORTS HIT

Associated Press.

Demands that Russian products be barred from the United States continued to occupy the attention of Treasury officials yesterday as new evidence and petitions reached their desks.

Assistant Secretary Lowman, who last week barred shipments of Russian pulpwood, and has raised the duties on Russian matches by 50 per cent, said no new orders were in immediate prospect. Pulpwood was barred after testimony was given that convicts had helped to load it. A section of the tariff act forbids entry of products wholly or in part by convict labor.

Lowman said the import duties on Soviet matches were increased at the order of President Hoover upon proof the matches were sold by the Russian government in the United States at less than the selling prices prevailing within that country. Such action under the tariff law is technically described as "dumping," and may be met by raising the American tariff by administration action.

Complaints also have been raised regarding manganese and other products from Russia. Matthew Woll, a vice president of the American Federation of Labor, has contended that all exports from that country should be banned as produced by forced labor.

Customs records during recent months indicate Russian shipments to the United States have been rela-

POSSES HUNT IN VAIN FOR "SLAIN" WOMAN

Rockville Search Begins as Motorist Reports Seeing Body Lying on Auto.

TRACKS OF CAR FOUND

Police of Rockville, Md., a posse of Potomac citizens and members of two volunteer fire departments late last night searched in vain for the body of a woman reported murdered near the Congressional Country Club.

First reports of the supposed murder came from Oltho Talbott, vice president of the Montgomery County National Bank at Rockville, who telephoned Rockville police that while driving on a road near the country club he had passed a machine on the running board of which a woman was lying, apparently unconscious or dead. At the rear of the machine, Mr. Talbott reported, he saw a man standing in the road holding an object in his hand which he believed might have been a club or some other deadly weapon.

Upon the receipt of this information, Policeman Lloyd Whipp, of the Rockville police, went to the scene with a posse of Potomac citizens. They searched the vicinity carefully and found tracks where an automobile had been turned around in the road.

However, no bloodstains or other indications of a struggle were found. Not satisfied with this investigation, Policeman Whipp summoned the Kensington and Rockville Fire Departments. Searchlights on the trucks of these two companies were played through the trees and bushes along the roadside for several hundred feet in an effort to find the body of the Democratic Harmony Meeting Ends in Fight

Bay State Leaders Fail to Indorse Specified Candidates.

Worcester, Mass., July 28 (A.P.).—A "harmony" meeting of Massachusetts Democratic leaders, called to select a slate for the State primary, failed to accomplish its business today after a fist fight developed between two delegates.

An effort to prevent the conference from sponsoring any specific candidates was led by Representative W. M. Connery, of Lynn. He introduced a resolution to prevent such action and it was during the speeches that the disorder developed.

Mr. Connery's resolution was passed, 268 to 255, but the vote was doubted. During a roll call today the disorder reached its height. The chairman had little or no control over the meeting, the stage became overcrowded with delegates, and the fist fight in the back of the hall started. With the women delegates frightened by the condition, John F. Fitzgerald, former Mayor of Boston, led in the singing of "Sweet Adeline," while policemen dragged one of the battlers out.

While the meeting was still in turmoil, Joseph B. Ely, of Westfield, a candidate for governor, urged the gathering to defeat any move to vote on candidates. His plea was so strong that those who had doubted the vote on Mr. Connery's motion withdrew their objection. The meeting went on, but without action on candidates.

United States Senator David I. Walsh opened the meeting. He said the unemployment situation was a political condition and it needed the best thought and leadership of the administration in Washington.

REPRESENTATIVE W. M. CONNERY.

"We must not think that Massachusetts is Democratic because of the election of 1928," he said. "Gov. Smith got the independent, the progressive, the so-called intelligensia and the naturalized vote and yet he only carried the State by less than 25,000 votes. I impress this on you only to show the necessity of caution and sound judgment.

"Send men to Washington who will say 'we are sick of this policy of indifference. We want economic freedom for the poor and the workers. Our party is not the enemy of the farmer or the business man; we want everybody to have a square deal.'"

Trio Prostrated by Heat Despite Drop of Mercury

Capital Swelters as Humidity Soars; Official High Mark Is 91, But Kiosk Shows 99; Showers Probable Today; Breezes Cool Middle West.

Three men were prostrated by the heat yesterday as the mercury touched 91 as it peak on the coolest day Washington has experienced since the record-breaking heat wave began about two weeks ago. One of the men was critically hurt in a 20-foot fall from a ladder when he was overcome.

He was Alonzon Lanbatch, 56 years old, a painter, of 4010 Illinois avenue northwest, who received severe injuries of the back and pelvis when he toppled to the ground from the ladder while painting a house yesterday afternoon on Tilden street near Broad Branch road northwest He was removed to Emergency Hospital, where his condition was regarded as grave.

Percy M. Normand, 36 years old, a plasterer, of Bladensburg, Md., suffered minor hurts in a fall of 12 feet from a scaffold yesterday afternoon when he was prostrated by the heat while plastering in the Episcopal Home, at Nebraska avenue and Rock Creek Church road northwest. He was treated at Georgetown Hospital and dismissed.

Jack Porcher, 26 years old, of 1209 O street northwest, was overcome by the heat while weatherproofing a building yesterday afternoon at Fifteenth and H streets northwest. He was treated at Emergency Hospital and dismissed.

So far as the mercury was concerned the heat wave appeared broken yes-

Brig. Gen. C. C. Sniffen, 86, Secretary of Grant, Dies

Cumberland, Md., July 28 (A.P.).—Brig. Gen. C. C. Sniffen, of Washington, secretary of President U. S. Grant, died suddenly tonight at Town Hill Hotel, on Town Hill Mountain, 23 miles east of here.

The body will be taken to Washington tomorrow for interment in Arlington Cemetery.

Gen. Sniffen arrived at the hotel accompanied by his wife about a week ago to escape the summer heat at the Capital. This he had done for many years. Shortly before supper he was stricken and died in three hours. He was born in New York City January 1, 1844.

Brig. Gen. Culver Channing Sniffen, was well known in this city, where he made his home at the Ontario Apartments, Ontario road and Eighteenth street northwest.

In 1869 he was an executive clerk to President Grant and acted as assistant secretary to him from 1873 to 1877. He was named a major in the Paymaster Corps of the United States Army from New York in 1877, becoming a lieutenant colonel deputy paymaster in 1899, colonel assistant paymaster general in 1901, and brigadier general paymaster general of the Army in 1908. During this service he was chief paymaster of the Fifth Army Corps at Santiago, Cuba, and also at Montauk Point, Long signal is "FGAAV." The wavelengths were not disclosed because it was feared that wireless enthusiasts, principally amateurs, might attempt communication and interfere with weather and other routine messages.

A number of special experiments are to be made during the flight, the most remarkable of which will be an attempt to ascertain whether the upper air over the Atlantic Ocean contains traces of vegetable organism, living spores and other matter. This will be done by exposing special type glass dishes outside the control car, the dishes to be treated with a substance upon which the organisms would be caught and colonized.

Largest Airships in World.

The R-100 and the R-101 are the largest airships in the world. The R-100 is 709 feet long and 133 feet wide, while the R-101 is 724 feet long and is slightly slimmer.

The R-100 originally was designed for the London-Egypt-India trade and is so constructed its cruising radius should range between 4,000 and 6,000 miles. It can carry a load of ten tons of freight in addition to a passenger list of 50.

A feature of the R-100 is that it incorporated a design which seeks to diminish air resistance by including the passenger accommodation within the envelope. The volume of the gas-bags is 5,150,000 cubic feet, giving the ship a gross lift of 156 tons.

The last trip of a British dirigible across the Atlantic to the North American continent was in 1919 when the dirigible R-34 crossed the Atlantic ocean from Scotland to Mineola, N. Y., covering 3,200 miles in 108 hours. She carried a crew of 31 persons, including a stowaway. The return journey of about 3,000 miles was made in 79 hours.

R-34 First Dirigible to Cross.

The R-34 was the first craft of its kind to cross the Atlantic. She had a cubic capacity of 1,960,000 feet a length of 640 feet and gross lifting tonnage of 59½. The R-34 was wrecked in 1921 by a windstorm at Hamden which almost cut her in two. It was believed at the time a mooring mast would have been effective in preventing the ship's being wrecked.

Since the voyage of the R-34 to the United States, two other dirigibles have made the crossing, the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles, which was built in Germany and was flown to the United States by Dr. Hugo Eckener as part of the German war reparations to the United States, and the famous Graf Zeppelin which has made several trips to America and one voyage around the world.

Elaborate Radio Arrangements.

Elaborate preparations for communication by wireless with the R-100 have been made, both in Great Britain and in Canada. Not only will there be direct communication with the airship and its bases, but a constant exchange of information with the ship when in flight.

Direct communication will be maintained by St. Hubert Field near Montreal and Cardington, England, the ship's home base. After passing mid-ocean the airship will be in direct communication with the Canadian station at Louisburg, N. S.

Weather forecasts will be collected in Toronto and sent to the airship by the most direct method.

Trio Named by Hoover On Highway to Alaska

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday appointed Ernest Walker Sawyer, of California; Herbert H. Rice, of Michigan, and Maj. Malcolm Elliott, of the Army Engineers' Corps, as special commissioners to investigate the practicability of a highway from the northwestern part of the United States to Alaska.

The three commissioners are to cooperate with representatives of Canada in the study. The proposed highway would pass through British Columbia and Yukon Territory. Provision for the study to ascertain the feasibility and costs was made by Congress at the last session.

Land Condemnation Jurors Are Selected

Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat, in District Supreme Court, yesterday named a jury of five men to appraise and condemn land for the extension of Fourteenth street northeast between Randolph street and Michigan avenue, Taylor street west of Fourteenth street northeast, and for the widening of Michigan avenue between Thirteenth street and Thirteenth place northeast.

Members of the jury are: Robert B. Patterson, Benjamin Braiek, William A. Hurley, James R. Keene and G. L. Johnson. The order specified that the jury must review the land on September 16.

Gen. Johnston Chosen Head of Awards Group

Gen. John A. Johnston was chosen chairman of the police and fire department medal awards committee at an organization meeting of the committee held in the District Building yesterday. Fire Chief George S. Watson was named secretary.

The committee was appointed by the Commissioners recently to carry out provisions of the new law providing for award of gold and silver medals to policemen and firemen selected for the honor because of valor displayed in the preceding year. Awards will be made annually.

U. S. GUNBOATS AID REFUGEES IN CHINA

BAPTIST GROUP IS SAFE

Shanghai, July 28 (A.P.).—American, British and Japanese gunboats today gave refuge to foreigners who fled from Changsha as 10,000 Communists overran the Hunan Province capital looting and burning.

Three American missionaries were among the few foreigners who remained within the walled city with 500,000 Chinese. The others hastily boarded the foreign warships in the Siang River.

Warned by renewed Red activities in northern and eastern Hunan, foreign governments had dispatched warcraft to protect their nationals.

The Nationalist government's garrison, weakened by transfer of troops to the Honan and Shantung Provinces war fronts, was overpowered by the Reds, who swept over the city walls and poured through the gates.

Spawn of civil war which has racked the province recently, the Reds despoiled the city, which a few weeks ago was captured by Kwangsi Province rebels, who, in turn, were chased southward by Nationalist armies.

In the adjoining province of Kiangsi, the important City of Nanchang was reported to have yielded to a Communist army after a siege of many weeks. Three thousand refugees were said to have reached Kiukiang, Yangtse River port.

Richmond, Va., July 28 (A.P.).—The Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board was advised today that all American missionaries at Pochow, China, are well and safe. Anxiety was expressed several days ago when no word had been received from those in the Chinese city, which is in the war zone.

The board announced the following telegram from Wilbur J. Carr, Undersecretary of State at Washington.

"Your telegram July 26 received. American Consul Nanking reports telegram received from American missionary at Kweiteh states he has received word from Pochow that all Americans there are well and safe. Consul has requested authorities to facilitate departure of Americans who desire leave Pochow."

Four missionaries of the Southern Baptist denomination were reported last week as among the Americans at Pochow. They were Dr. Mary King, of Tennessee; Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Strother, of Louisana, and Miss Olive Riddell, of Virginia. It was stated today that Miss Clifford Barrett, of South Carolina, was also among the Southern Baptist missionaries at Pochow.

Navy Is Adequate, Jahncke Asserts

Assistant Secretary Says Treaty Is Great Step Toward Peace.

(Associated Press.)

Terming the London naval treaty as "a great step in advancing our amicable relations in the sisterhood of nations," Assistant Secretary Jahncke, of the Navy, said in a radio address last night he believed the United States had achieved a Navy "adequate" for its defense.

The treaty, Mr. Jahncke said over a National Broadcasting Co. hook-up, "dedicates us to an orderly and a normal advance in furthering our national defense at sea in a manner quite free of any threat of war, and with animosity toward none."

"We do not talk now of a 'big' Navy or a 'small' Navy. We all want an adequate Navy, and this I can assure you the President has always sought and I believe has gained."

He related the development of the Navy, liking its growth with increasing industrial welfare. He said the Navy should be credited for its part in the development of radio and the steel industry, the latter "the barometer of our national business today."

Capper Sees Hoover About Wheat Problem

(Associated Press.)

The wheat situation was still on Senator Capper's mind yesterday as he called at the White House to say good-by to President Hoover before leaving for his home in Topeka, Kans.

Recently the Kansas senator suggested that the Farm Board take 100,000,000 bushels of wheat off the market in an effort to bolster prices, but Chairman Legge of the board said no. Senator Capper talked about wheat with the Chief Executive and suggested a new market for wheat products might be available in China. The Republican senatorial primary in Kansas is a week from tomorrow. Senator Capper plans no campaigning since he is without opposition.

Many Reds Are Seized In Hungary, Roumania

Budapest, July 28 (A.P.).—Aladar Tamas, local Communist leader, and twenty of his followers were arrested today and charged with preparing mass demonstrations for August 1. They will be held in custody until August 2. The Communists were preparing to celebrate an "international antiwar day."

Bucharest, July 28 (A.P.).—Many Communists, preparing for an "international antiwar day" on August 1, were arrested today. Arrests were made in Temesvar and other districts besides the capital.

(Associated Press.)

Georgia's population was officially announced by the Census Bureau yesterday as 2,902,127. The gain over 1920 was 6,295 or 0.2 per cent. The figure was less than preliminary estimates which had placed Georgia at 2,903,722.

Georgia showed the smallest percentage of gain of any State thus far reporting. Vermont coming second, with a gain of but 1.9 per cent. Montana has been the only State showing a decrease in reports to date.

Father Freed by Coroner In Crushing of Baby Girl

War-Time Aviator, Who Had Been Drinking, Falls on Baby and Kills Her While Walking With Her in His Arms.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—A father who fell while intoxicated and crushed to death his 5-month-old daughter was exonerated of criminal responsibility today by a coroner's jury.

The wife of Edward M. Johnston, war-time aviator and La Salle street broker, who was arrested Saturday after the child's death, collapsed after taking the stand to tell the jurors her husband always had been devoted to her and the baby. She was helped to a seat beside her husband.

Johnston said he had taken several drinks earlier while on the way to a cemetery to decorate the grave of his wife's child by a former marriage.

The infant, Mary Jane, had been left in the father's care Friday night while Mrs. Johnston went to visit her brother. When the baby awoke and cried Johnston carried it in his arms. He stumbled and fell upon the child. When Mary Jane became quiet he laid her in her crib. The baby had suffered broken ribs and a fractured skull, and when Mrs. Johnston returned the baby was dead.

23 ARE NAMED IN WILL

New York, July 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Securities worth $16,835,985 on April 5, 1928, the date of his death, comprise the bulk of the $17,210,599 gross estate of Chauncey M. Depew, chairman of the board of directors of the New York Central Railroad, lawyer and pioneer railroad man. This was made public today when Transfer Tax Commissioner Stephenson filed his reports. Debts and other deductions amounting to $1,256,350 reduced the estate of Mr. Depew, who was one of the outstanding figures in American history and 93 years old at the time of his death, to a net value of $15,954,249.

Mrs. Mary Eugenia Palmer Depew, the widow, of Washington, receives a life interest in $6,637,053, one-half the residuary estate, in addition to $150,000 in cash, an automobile valued at $1,400, and jewelry and clothing worth $3,366. Mrs. Depew also received $200,000, the first and largest debt to be paid against the estate. This sum represented an antenuptial agreement signed at Nice, France, in 1901, by which she relinquished her dower rights in her husband's fortune.

Chauncey M. Depew, jr., a son, is the other principal beneficiary. He receives the Depew home at No. 27 West Fifty-fourth street, worth $160,000, and furniture, silver and office furnishings totaling $37,176. He is also left $3,418,526 of the residue outright and a life interest in a like amount.

Yale University gets $1,000,000 and may also share in the residuary estate should Mr. Depew's son die without heirs. The village of Peekskill receives $100,000. The bequest to Yale is without restrictions, but the gift to Peekskill is to be used for public and educational endeavors.

Twenty-three relatives and friends were remembered in the will. These included property in Pelham worth $28,000 and a $150,000 trust fund to Kate Strang, a sister, who died April 11. Her three daughters will share the bequest equally. Anne Depew Paulding, a niece, receives a life trust of $200,000, and Charles Paulding, a nephew, $50,000. Others receiving $50,000 are Hazel P. Depew, of Pontiac, Mich., and Florence Allison, of Detroit, while Adelaide N. Hegeman, of New York, receives a life trust of a similar amount. The other gifts range from $1,000 to $10,000 each.

Alcohol Drinkers Taken to Hospital

Drank Seven Bottles of Denatured Product, They Declare.

Two middle-aged men who told police that they had imbibed seven pints of denatured alcohol labeled "poison" were taken to Gallinger Hospital last night by police, following their arrest at Minnesota and Pensylvania avenues southeast. The men gave their names as Albert J. King, 43, 1438 Eighth street northwest, and Iverson Leatherwood, 51, of 431 Thirteenth street northeast.

They were found lying in a side streeet, groaning loudly. Two empty denatured alcohol bottles were found beside them, and they told police that they had drunk seven bottles in all. Gallinger officials said their condition was serious.

The men were arrested by Policemen W. E. Grimes, C. O. Rouse and B. H. Allen, of the Eleventh precinct.

Borah Leaves Capital For Month in Maine

(Associated Press.)

Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, left Washington yesterday afternoon for a month's rest in Maine. His exact destination was not announced.

The physical condition of the senator has caused his friends considerable concern for the last month. After a visit to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, he was advised by physicians to take a long rest.

MASTER OF FAIRFAX FACING NEW INQUIRY

Board of Inspectors to Hear Captain in Sea Tragedy on August 12.

PINTHIS' GRAVE FOUND

Capt. Archie S. Brooks, master of the S. S. Fairfax, of the Merchants & Miners Line, has been ordered to appear August 12 before a board of United States steamboat inspectors at Norfolk to answer charges in connection with the collision between his vessel and the tanker Pinthis in Massachusetts Bay on June 10.

As a result of the collision the Pinthis burst into flames and quickly sank. Several passengers and members of the crew of the Fairfax also lost their lives. The death toll was 49.

Boston inspectors of the Federal service, following their investigation, charged Capt. Brooks with reckless navigation, violation of pilot rules, negligence and unskillfulness.

Scituate, Mass., July 28 (A.P.).—The watery grave of the oil tanker Pinthis, which sank off here June 10 after a collision with the steamship Fairfax, in which 49 lives were lost, was found today.

It was found lying on a sandy bottom and had not exploded, Hubert Grove, diver for an insurance company, which had been conducting search for the craft, reported.

The Pinthis was lying on its port side—the side that was struck by the Fairfax during a heavy fog.

The speed indicator on the tanker was set at half speed, Grove said. All the windows were broken, the foremast was split and the ship was in about 96 feet of water.

Two ghastly figures met his gaze, Grove said, as he was lowered to the Pinthis. He believed them to be the bodies of two of the crew which had no chance to escape. One of the bodies, clothed in a white shirt and dungarees, was in an upright position, tangled in a life line. The second body, clad in a dark suit, was lying on the floor of the pilothouse.

The diver said he saw none of the other victims. He made no attempt to bring up the bodies of the two he saw as he did not want to risk the chance of becoming tangled at the ocean bottom.

Pardon to Mooney Asked in New Plea

Court Denies Prisoner and Billings Chance to Hear MacDonald Story.

San Francisco, July 28 (A.P.).—Thomas Mooney today mailed a new pardon petition to Gov. C. C. Young on the eve of a State supreme court hearing for John MacDonald, recanting witness whose testimony twelve years ago helped send Mooney and Warren K. Billings to prison for life for the San Francisco 1916 preparedness day bombing, in which ten persons were killed. The plea was mailed a few hours before supreme court justices denied Mooney's request to attend tomorrow's hearing.

Chief Justice William H. Waste said the court deemed "unnecessary" the presence of either Mooney or Billings, being concerned solely with MacDonald's testimony and its bearing on the pardon application of Billings.

MacDonald, located recently in Baltimore, repudiated testimony he gave during the bombing trials and said he perjured himself, having been coached by police to identify Mooney and Billings after their arrest.

Red Circulars Urging Camp Rebellion Seized

Camp Dix, N. J., July 28 (A.P.).—Communist circulars urging C. M. T. C. students here to rebel against camp duties and to join an international demonstration August 1, were confiscated tonight by Brig. Gen. Rosenbaum, camp commandant.

The circulars, 6,000 in number, were signed by the Young Communist League of New York. They were believed to have been delivered by several girls who entered the camp yesterday in an automobile and left hurriedly after orders were given to halt them.

Mixed Baby's Father to Sue Hospital Today for $100,000

Unwanted Infant Will Be Plaintiff in Action, With Second Damages Demand by Mr. and Mrs. Watkins Planned for Future.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—Damages of $100,000 for a "lost identity" will be asked in a suit to be filed tomorrow by counsel for William Watkins, distraught father of one of the two babies in the now famous Watkins-Bamberger baby tangle.

The suit will be brought against the Englewood Hospital Association in behalf of the infant the Watkinses brought home as theirs, only to find him labeled "Bamberger."

"It will be the first suit of its kind ever filed, so far as I know," said Barratt O'Hara, attorney for Watkins.

"The baby will be plaintiff. The Watkinses say the baby is a Bamberger.

"The Bambergers says he is a Watkins and contend they have their own baby. Hence the plaintiff will allege he does not know who he is. The amount of damages asked will represent the damage done to him through confusing his identity."

O'Hara said the suit will be filed through the baby's best friend, Mrs. Grace Dibrell, clubwoman, who has interested herself in the case. The suit will name the entire staff of the Englewood Hospital, where the Watkins and Bamberger babies were born. This will make 25 doctors defendants.

Mr. O'Hara also announced that later another lawsuit, probably for $100,000, would be filed against the hospital, in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Watkins. The grounds will be the mental anguish to which the couple has been subjected through the possibility that they have the wrong baby.

Mr. O'Hara said habeas corpus action to obtain custody of the baby claimed by the Charles Bambergers also would be brought later. It is Mr. O'Hara's plan to have three municapl court judges decide whether the baby, which yesterday was christened George Edward Bamberger, is really a Bamberger.

REBUILDING TO OPEN IN ITALY QUAKE ZONE

Region to Be Constructed on Lines Laid Down by Ruler.

TENTS HOUSE SURVIVORS

Rome, July 28 (A.P.).—Temporary housing construction for the stricken population of southern Italy which lost their homes in last week's devastating quake will begin tomorrow.

The distribution of food now is regular and sanitary services are in full operation.

The latest report to Premier Mussolini said the number of dead and injured had not changed appreciably since the last report when the list numbered 2,142 dead and 4,551 injured.

Tomorrow the council of ministers will meet in Rome to consider the situation created by the disaster and to take any steps necessary for the aid of the six provinces hit by the quake.

The stricken area of the Apennines breathed more easily today almost for the first time since Wednesday's quake. While the work of extricating bodies from the ruins continued, engineers laid first plans for rebuilding the ruined towns.

New Town to Come Up.

Partly aided by a flow of cable contributions from American relatives and by aid from the government and large corporations in Italy, the quake region will be constructed on new lines laid down generally by King Victor Emmanuel himself. During his visit to Melfi the king was informed that the ruined sections of Melfi contained houses built on the site of the ruins of 1851.

"Then," said the king, "it would be logical to build on different grounds this time."

Accordingly the engineers will forbid the construction in this dangerous part of the town and are laying out a new town along the sides of the valley through which runs a railroad which has proved to be much less susceptible to earth shocks. The houses, moreover, instead of being constructed on huge stones with little mortar as at present, will be of earthquake-resisting materials. The same principle will be applied to all of the stricken towns.

Hundreds of workmen from Naples, Foggia, Bari and Potenza will aid, thus reversing the old custom of these inhabitants who usually build their own houses.

Many Survived Shocks.

At Melfi, Villanova, Aquilonia, Lacedonia, Ariano, Arevico and other stricken towns the populace is sleeping in tents and is supplied with food and water by troops. Several storms have burst on them, almost flooding them out and hindering rescue work.

One of the most remarkable features of the rescue work is the number of persons taken out alive after burial of three days. This now is about 25, including a mother and baby at Melfi. Those rescued in a more or less injured condition were nearly starved and were suffering from shock, but it is believed most of them will live.

With the letting down of the bars on the sending and receiving of telegrams, thousands of cables from the United States have been received asking information of relatives.

Although the majority of the population is still living in the open fearing further quakes, the Institute of Terrestrial Physics in Naples does not believe there will be further serious shocks.

Premier Mussolini today made a personal gift of 30,000 lire (about $1,600) to the earthquake sufferers in southern Italy.

Man Is Found Burned Night Before Wedding

Clyde, Ohio, July 28 (A.P.).—Officials today were investigating the finding of the body of Russell Gibbs, 22, near here last night in his automobile, which had been destroyed by fire. Gibbs was to have been married today to Miss Doris Kuns, 21, a childhood sweetheart.

Identification of the body, which was burned beyond recognition, was made through a masonic ring. Gibbs, officials said, after leaving the Kuns home late last night, took 5 gallons of gasoline to a stranded motorist. They are investigating the possibility he might have been lured to his death. They believe he might have been the victim of a rival of Miss Kuns or a highwayman.

Crew Quits Freighter As Fire Sweeps Cargo

Rio de Janeiro, July 28 (A.P.).—The Swedish freighter, Kronprins Gustaf Adolf, 2,225 tons, bound from Danzig to Santos with a cargo of coal, has been abandoned because of fire in the cargo off Victoria, Brazil.

A message from Capt. Moercy today said he had decided to abandon the ship immediately. The Lamport and Holt liner Vandyck, bound from New York to Rio de Janeiro, picked up the officers and crew, numbering 30. The freighter put into the harbor of Recife on July 22 with fire in the hold, but later attempted to continue the journey. Victoria, seaport off which she was abandoned, is 275 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro.

Gotwals Halts Action On Trolley Revaluation

The public utilities commission yesterday postponed action on the petition of Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, that the street car companies be revalued. Action was postponed, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, said, at the request of Maj. John C. Gotwals, engineer commissioner, who said that he would like a few days to study the question before passing on it formally.

Subsequently Maj. Gotwals, who has been engineer commissioner and as such a utilities commissioner for only a week, said that he would be ready to act on the revaluation petition at the next regular meeting of the commission later this week.

One Dead, Second Dying In Wood Alcohol Party

Detroit, July 28 (A.P.).—One prisoner of the Detroit House of Correction is dead, another dying and a third is recovering today as a result of a "wood alcohol party" in the prison warehouse this morning.

The three prisoners, all serving terms because of nonpayment of alimony, broke into the warehouse and took the alcohol which was intended for use in painting. Paul Selke, 38, died, and Stanley Budzynski, 38, is expected to die. Ignace Wiskowski, 40, will recover, physicians said.

James G. Coates, Painter, Dies.

London, July 28 (A.P.).—James George Coates, mural painter, died today at the age of 61. He was a native of Melbourne, Australia. He painted some of the portraits for the Canadian war memorial exhibition in 1919.

HOT RUNOFF IS SEEN IN STORE FOR TEXAS

Mrs. Ferguson and Sterling Regarded as Extremes of 11 Candidates.

LOVE TO AID PUBLISHER

Dallas, Tex., July 28 (A.P.).—Texas Democrats today looked at the 55,441 lead Mrs. Miriam A. ("Ma") Ferguson, former governor of the State and wife of a two-term governor, had run up over Ross S. Sterling, wealthy Houston publisher, in last Saturday's primary and began forming alignments for the campaign leading to the run-off primary Saturday, August 23, when the Democratic nominee for governor will be chosen.

Thomas B. Love, Dallas lawyer and State senator, the first of the nine defeated candidates for the gubernatorial nomination to declare himself, announced he would support Sterling. Frank Putnam, of Houston, "wet" candidate, said he would support Mrs. Ferguson, since Ferguson was "wet," although Mrs. Ferguson is a "dry." Dr. C. E. Walker stated Mrs. Ferguson would get his support.

Gov. Dan Moody came out with a statement of support for Sterling.

Torrid Campaign Predicted.

In the selection of Mrs. Ferguson and Sterling, Texas voters were regarded as possibly having reached to the extremes of the eleven voting opportunities offered them in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and thereby to have assured the State its most torrid campaign.

The Fergusons, "Ma" and James E., campaigned together. They promised two governors for the price of one; a lower tax rate, less legislation, opposition to a proposed $300,000,000 road bond issue, and pleaded for further vindication for Ferguson, who was impeached and removed from office in the middle of his second term.

Sterling, rated as a multimillionaire despite a very humble beginning, for some time has been chairman of the State Highway Commission under appointment of Gov. Moody, and assumed sponsorship for the proposal to issue the $300,000,000 in road bonds.

As the counting of returns by the Election Bureau continued tonight, 701,664 votes had been talled from 245 of the 253 counties, with 82 counties complete, and it was estimated a possible 125,000 votes remained to be counted. There was no thought, however, the trend would be changed.

Love Is Bad Fourth.

The vote for governor stood:

Mrs. Ferguson, 204,057; Sterling, 148,616; Clint C. Small, 109,724; Love, 70,059; James Young, 64,850; Earle B. Mayfield, 47,273; Barry Miller, 46,168; C. C. Moody, 4,011; Putnam, 2,505; Paul Loven, 2,475; Dr. C. E. Walker, 1,926

In the Democratic contest for the United States senatorial nomination, the veteran incumbent, Morris Sheppard, scored an easy victory without having made a single campaign speech. He polled 419,930 votes, on the face of the latest returns, as against 139,789 for R. L. Henry, "wet," and C. A. Mitchner, 32,874.

Representative John C. Box, of Jacksonville, was trailing Martin Dies, jr., of Orange, by nearly 6,000 votes when returns from 13 of the district's 14 counties, including five complete, and the others practically so, were unofficially compiled late today by the election bureau. The vote was Dies 29,055 and Box 23,325.

Germans Plan Hop To Iceland Today

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, July 28 (A.P.).—Wolfram Hirth and Oscar Weller, German aviators, who plan to cross the North Atlantic to the United States in a light sport plane, tonight expressed the hope that they would be able to hop off tomorrow on the next stage of their trip by way of Iceland and Greenland. Their departure will depend on weather conditions.

The German airmen, flying a light single-motored airplane, arrived at Kirkwall late yesterday from England. They said they would follow the Northern air route which will carry them to Newfoundland and will make no effort to get speed or distance records. Their first landing in the United States probably will be Detroit.

The airmen who set out from Germany on July 24, hope to visit a number of cities in the United States. The hop between the Orkney Islands and Iceland is approximately 850 miles.

TWO BANDITS KILLED AFTER BANK HOLDUP

FOURTH SEIZED AS AID

Glencross, S. Dak., July 28 (A.P.).—A trio of holdup men who sought to rob the Glencross Savings Bank today walked into a police trap and were shot down.

Two of the men, George A. Anderson, of Timberlake, near here, and George Decosset, of Yankton, S. Dak., were killed. A third, Melvin Scranton, also of Timberlake, was probably fatally wounded.

Sheriff Henry A. Johnson had received information of the projected holdup and after informing the bank cashier, H. J. Schirber, secreted himself near the entrance.

The robbers entered the bank flourishing pistols shortly after noon and were handed over the contents of the money drawers, about $1,300, by Mr. Schirber. As the trio ran toward the door with the loot, Sheriff Johnson and Mr. Schirber, who had armed himself, opened fire. The robbers were cut down without being able to return a shot.

Both Anderson and Scranton were well known in their home town of Timberlake, 8½ miles east of here. Anderson is survived by his widow and five children. Scranton also is married.

A fourth man, suspected of having driven the trio to the bank in an automobile, was picked up tonight by members of a citizens' posse. His identity was not revealed.

All of the loot was recovered.

Two of Three Escaped Convicts Recaptured

Albany, N. Y., July 28 (A.P.).—Two of three convicts who escaped last night from the Virgil road camp for Auburn prisoners, were recaptured near Cortland this afternoon, Acting Warden Frank L. Heacox was notified.

The two taken, according to word received from the sheriff at Cortland, are Merritt B. Schuyler and Charles Warner. Albert R. Latham, the third, who got away last night, was understood still to be at large.

20 DIE AS TORNADO HITS TURKISH CITY

HUGE HAILSTONES FALL

Adrianpole, Turkey, July 28 (A.P.).—This ancient capital of the Ottoman Empire and treasure store of Moslem architecture tonight was a mass of fallen minarets, domes and roofs, blown over by a tornado that killed twenty persons and injured hundreds yesterday.

Four-fifths of the houses in the city, which has a population of about 60,000, were destroyed. The tornado spared the roofs of big government buildings, but literally blew out the windows and doors. Official documents were whirled out through the streets like snow.

After the tornado hailstones the size of walnuts poured down. Crops in the surrounding country were ruined and trees were uprooted.

Nine minarets, picturesque Moslem towers giving a distinctive quality to the "sky-line" of Adrianople, were hurled by the tornado to the ground. So were the tops of four minarets rising from the famous mosque of the Sultan Selim, one of the great treasures of Moslem architecture.

The tornado struck suddenly. After a hot and oppressive day the wind rose in the evening and then with a terrific roar the tornado swooped on the city. Twenty-two minutes later the hail poured.

A freak accident occurred in the crash of one of the minarets. The stones fell on a carlage, killing the two horses but not touching the occupants.

Eagels Estate $60,000; Mother Will Get All

New York, July [illegible] (A.P.).—The attorney for Mrs. Julia Sullivan Eagels, mother of Jeanne Eagels, today said the late actress' estate had been appraised at $60,000. Miss Eagels died without leaving a will and her entire estate will go to her mother.

At the time of Miss Eagels' death it was said she was wearing jewelry valued at $350,000, but police who took charge of the jewelry said later that it was worth only $7,000 or $8,000.

BUCKLEY'S SLAYERS KNOWN, POLICE HOLD

Detroit Chief Withholds Details of Hunt for Radio Man's Assassins.

FIVE TAKEN IN ROUNDUP

Detroit, July 28 (A.P.).—The statement of Police Commissioner Thomas C. Wilcox that the slayers of Gerald E. Buckley, radio announcer, are known to the police formed today's major development in Detroit's newest crusade against outlawry.

Commissioner Wilcox's cryptic remark that his officers knew the gunmen who early last Wednesday shot down the radio enemy of the underworld aroused considerable speculation. The commissioner added that the slayers were not yet under arrest and that he had nothing more to say.

Earlier in the day Commissioner Wilcox said that his officers had made a "large number" of secret arrests but that these suspects would never be revealed unless some evidence could be found against them.

The police already are holding five men captured in a Grosse Pointe house yesterday while detectives and ballistics experts are trying to link them to the Buckley slaying.

Other developments in the crime war today included a plea by defense counsel for three men charged with kidnaping that their trial be postponed until after the special mayoralty election September 9 as a fair trial was impossible now. There also was a daylight gunbattle between police and a robber in which the robber was slain and one of the patrolmen wounded. The attendant of a downtown filling station was found slain at his post, presumably by a hold-up man.

Of the five alleged gangsters held by the police as a result of the Grosse Pointe arrests, one of them, Joe Catalanotte, has been identified as one of the men seen running from the home of Barney Roth, Hamtramck, under cover officer after Roth and John Meltz were slain there July 5. Ballistics experts also set to work in an attempt to determine whether any of the eleven bullets fired into Buckley's body came from the five guns found hidden in the Grosse Pointe house yesterday.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

DEAR ALECK: You can't tell about women. They are funny.

We've just been sitting here on the porch of this bay hotel watching a group of young boys and girls play that old-fashioned boarding house game of croquet. They are all, save one, about 20 years old and belong to some kind of a club in Washington. Pete's receding hair marks him as more mature than the others. You would get the impression that he would feel a little out of place, Aleck, but he doesn't. He dominates the crowd.

* * * *

HE refused to go swimming with the rest of the bunch. No, siree, he wasn't going to be stung by a lot of sea nettles when there are good pools in Washington, and he wouldn't play croquet either—because Pete is obviously too old to go in for athletics.

But does this make him an outsider? It does not. He is the life of the party.

He jumped up suddenly a few minutes ago and told John he would bet him a dollar that Charlie could go a round of croquet better than he. Then when John accepted, Pete ruled the girls off the course. He wasn't going to have his dollar hinging on the temperament of women, he said.

IT seems, Aleck, that when your ball is near a wicket another player can come along and knock you out of sight. Pete explained that he was not going to have any of those women doing that in a money game and everybody agreed that Pete was right.

With this settled, Pete got up and followed the two players around from wicket to wicket and such a tensity developed as you never saw.

When somebody on the sidelines would speak the girls, one and all, would chorus:

"Sh, sh, Pete has a dollar on this game."

* * * *

IT never occurred to any one to say: "Sh, sh, John has a dollar on this game."

It was Pete's game from beginning to end. And the jubilation that attended his victory was all of one note. "Pete won a dollar. Pete won a dollar."

No one said, "John lost a dollar, John lost a dollar."

Yet it would seem, Aleck, that Pete could not possibly have won a dollar unless John had lost one, and it would seem too, that John Stamped himself just as much a man of the world and just as much a big shot when he accepted the dollar bet as did Pete when he offered it.

TURMOIL SWEEPING STATE OF PARAHYBA

ONE DEAD, SCORE HURT

Rio de Janeiro, July 28 (A.P.).—The Brazilian state of Parahyba today was reported in turmoil over the assassination on Saturday of Joas Pessoa, state president and liberal candidate for the vice presidency of the country at the last elections.

There were no direct communications from the state to the capital, but dispatches from neighboring states reported that serious trouble was imminent.

In rioting today one man was reported killed, a score were injured and several houses burned.

Crowds marched through the streets of Parahyba, the state capital, and set fire to residences and stores belonging to Pessoa's political opponents. Persons driven from burning buildings had to take refuge in barracks of an infantry battalion that has been policing the city while the state police was fighting rebels at Princeza.

At Cabedello, Port of Parahyba, disorders also occurred.

Senor Pessoa was slain at the City of Recife, state of Pernambuco, while sitting with friends in a cafe. His assailant, Joao Dantas, a political enemy, was wounded in the head and captured.

Dispatches from that city say that 187 prisoners imprisoned for various offences at Parahyba stormed the main gate of the prison, begging for friends to avenge the death of Pessoa.

For more than four months Jose Periera, a state deputy, has maintained open rebellion against state authorities. His stronghold is in the region around the City of Princeza, which he recently proclaimed an "Independent state." The quarrel originally started over a question of political patronage in the state.

ROAD TO JOIN THREE U. S. PARKS IS URGED

Thatcher Proposes Highway for Mammoth Cave, Great Smoky, Shenandoah.

ROUTE PLAN ANNOUNCED

(Associated Press.)

A great national park-to-park highway to connect the Mammoth Cave and the Great Smoky Mountain and Shenandoah National Reserves, was proposed yesterday by Representative Thatcher (Republican), Kentucky.

"These three great parks," he said, "present such different features of beauty and appeal that the vacationist can find no more satisfactory means for utilizing a vacation period than to negotiate by auto these three outstanding scenic and recreational grounds of the East."

The proposed highway would start at Mammoth Cave National Park, 80 miles south of Louisville, and run to Cumberland Gap via Glasgow, Monticello, Cumberland Falls and Middleboro, Ky., and Knoxville, Tenn., to the Great Smoky region.

From there it would run through Bristol, Tenn., and Roanoke and Natural Bridge, Va., down the Shenandoah Valley, there describing a loop to take in Washington, Fredericksburg, Richmond and Appomattox before turning across that part of the route extending from the Great Smoky to the Shenandoah Valley, and returning to Kentucky over Federal highway No. 6.

This portion of the highway would touch Lexington and Frankfort, extend through Louisville and then go south via the Lincoln Farm in Larue County to the Mammoth Cave Park.

NEW BANS ON SOVIET GOODS UNDER STUDY

tively small. Outside of the manganese and pulpwood under complaint, furs, platinum and a very small amount of timber have virtually constituted the total. The only manufactured product entering the United States from Russia apparently has been the match shipments against which the increased duty was imposed.

Senator Black (Democrat), Alabama, yesterday made public a letter he had received from Secretary Mellon promising to apply the tariff law ban to shipments of lumber if evidence could be produced to show that convict labor had been used in its production.

Thus far, the Secretary's letter explained, there had been positive evidence that the shipments were not convict made and on the other hand only "the announced program of the Soviet government of Russia and copies of affidavits from escaped prisoners."

Woll Thanks Secretary.

In a letter to Lowman yesterday, Woll thanked the Assistant Secretary for his action in barring shipments of Russian pulpwood and expressed the hope that it would be followed "by similar rulings on other commodities which are produced by convict, forced or indentured labor."

"American labor," he added, "can not compete with the convict, forced or slave labor of Russia, Europe and the Orient and at the same time maintain the American standards of living. The elimination of or a substantial reduction in the purchasing power of American workers, by any means, will be followed, almost immediately thereafter, by a condition in America which, the Soviets hope, will result in the destruction of the American form of Government."

Two Freighters Refused Entry.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Port of New York authorities today refused entry to two freighters loaded with pulpwood from Archangel, in accordance with the embargo placed by the Treasury Department on such cargoes from Russia.

The barred cargoes are in the Norwegian steamer Christian Bors and the British steamer Grelisle. The vessels lay at anchor off Debloe Island while their New York agents held a fruitless conference with port authorities.

The Amtorg Trading Corporation operates the Christian Bors. Amtorg officials refused to make a statement on the port's action, saying it would be taken up with Washington.

Man Killed, One Hurt In Wrangle Over Dog

Bremerton, Wash., July 28 (A.P.).—A gun fight over a dog today resulted in the death of Louie Marsh, 48, and the wounding of Samuel J. Pyree, Fernwood rancher. Pyree, slightly wounded by birdshot, was taken into custody after the duel.

Three weeks ago Pyree's dog was shot and he accused Marsh of the deed. Today's encounter followed.

BILL OPPONENTS RAPPED

As a contribution to the Muscle Shoals controversy, the President's letter occasioned no surprise. Although in his campaign he did say that Muscle Shoals was an exception in his general policy of private operation of such enterprises, he changed his attitude many months ago. His first message to Congress, in fact, recommended such a disposition as proposed in the Reece bill. In view of the Senate and House deadlock on the matter it does not seem to be likely that anything will ever be done with the property. That is neither here nor there.

The thing of interest just at this time with the campaigns getting under way was the President's evidence of willingness to help those men who have stood by him. Many of the House members, especially in the agricultural West, and some of the senators are sorely in need of presidential help.

Neutrality Emphasized.

It had been taken for granted, of course, that the President, as leader of the party, would do all he could for party nominees. His neutrality in the primaries has heretofore been emphasized.

It was reiterated as late as the Morrow-Fort-Frelinghuysen campaign in New Jersey. Since then, though, there has been a rather definite indication of the President's interest in primaries, but it did not take such publicity form as the letter to Mr. Reece. Arthur L. Galen, senatorial nominee in Montana, received administration support in his recent campaign with O. H. P. Shelly, it is learned. The President's interest there was obviously to get the stronger man into the race against Senator Walsh, Democrat, in November.

Leaned to Other Extreme.

Known as a very vigorous and positive man when he was Secretary of Commerce, he apparently felt that he came into the Presidency with the handicap of too much of a big stick reputation. His publicity men had heaped it on pretty thick during the campaign.

To get away from this he leaned to the other extreme and took the surprising attitude that Congress was Congress and he was the President and that they should operate unfettered in their respective fields.

This was as much as the Senate wanted and it proceeded to run away with him. He was being widely criticized for lack of leadership just before Congress adjourned when he asserted himself, took Congress in hand and spanked it good two or three times.

The countrywide reaction was so favorable that it was remarked that a vigorous leadership was to be his from then on.

The Reece letter harked way back to the Wilsonian period, and those were the days of leadership. No one questions that.

Monument Approved For Millionaire Hobo

Plans for the hoboes' monument to the memory of James Eads How, "millionaire hobo," who died last week at Staunton, Va., were completed when Jeff Davis, "king of the hoboes," was advised by the White House and the War Department that congressional sanction for the memorial will not be required, he said last night.

It had been expected that congressional sanction would be necessary for erection of the statue, as it is to be placed on Government property, but it was stated that approval of the plans by the War Department will be sufficient. The statue, to cost $50,000, is to be modeled by George El. Cincinnati sculptor. The hoboes' union has 800,000 members, Mr. Davis says.

Man Asks Decree; Says Wife Spurns Home Here

H. Leroy Wright, of Eleventh street northeast near G street, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to award him a limited divorce from Evelyn R. Wright, of Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Wright, who claims that his wife will not leave her mother's home in Baltimore to live with him in Washington, told the court that they were married April 26, 1925, at Baltimore and have two children. He asserts that his place of employment is in Washington; that he is ready to provide a home for his wife and children, but that his wife refuses to live at any place except at her mother's. Attorney L. A. Widmayer represents the husband.

Democrats Vote Dry in Colorado

Colorado Springs, July 28 (A.P.).—The State Assembly of Democrats here today voted overwhelmingly against placing the party on record as favoring repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Gov. W. H. Adams was designated the party candidate for governor for a third term.

S. Harrison White, former representative from Denver, pleaded for a wet platform after another leader of the wet faction had announced the question would not be put before the assembly.

Shouts for a vote added to growing confusion. Several fistic encounters resulted on the floor. The vote was 800 to 175 against putting a wet plank in the party platform.

Morrison Shafroth, son of former Gov. John F. Shafroth; Edward P. Costigan, former member of the Federal Trade Commission, and James A. Marsh, all of Denver, were designated as senatorial candidates. Representative E. T. Taylor, of Glenwood Springs, was unanimously designated from the Fourth District.

Denmark's Two Cruisers Doomed.

Copenhagen, July 28 (A.P.).—Denmark, which owns but two cruisers, the Heimdal and Niels Juel, has decided to dispose of them. The Heimdal will be scrapped and the Niels Juel, just returned from a royal visit to the Iceland jubilee, probably will be sold to China, naval officers believe.

Minister of Marine L. Rasmussen has confirmed recent reports of intended "naval reduction."

was to be no immediate amelioration of the hot weather, the voters began pouring to the polls throughout the Dominion and the indication was that the complete vote would be a heavy one.

The premier, asserting that the chief issue of the general election was the record of the Liberal administration he has headed, awaited the verdict of the electorate in his office at the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa.

Mr. Bennett, leader of the Conservative opposition, spent the day in an Ottawa hotel and issued a statement in which he promised to give the voters a good government based on diligence, experience in practical affairs, heed to the citizens' prosperity and love of the Dominion and the empire if his party is victorious.

Today's vote, ending at 6 o'clock, was to choose 245 members of the House of Commons, a body in which the Liberals have held control since 1918.

Winnipeg, Man., July 28 (A.P.).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, was lagging behind his opponent in early returns from Prince Albert in the Parliamentary elections. With 11 of 146 polls tallied, George Braben, conservative, with 1,048 votes led the liberal chief by 80 ballots.

Regina, Sask., July 28 (A.P.).—Charles A. Dunning, Liberal Minister of Finance and author of the Budget Bill which embodied countervailing duties against the United States tariff, went down in defeat today in the general election. He was beaten by F. W. Turnbull, Conservative, in Regina.

Tree-Sitter Hurt Seriously in Fall

Youth Fractures Skull; North Carolina Contest Is Called Off.

Rocky Mount, C., July 28 (A.P.).—Losing his balance on an improvised platform where he had been treesitting since Friday, William Andrews, Rocky Mount youth, suffered serious injuries here today when he fell 15 feet to the ground.

The lad, member of a tree-sitting crew competing for prizes offered by merchants of the city, suffered a fractured skull, a broken shoulder and other injuries. Physicians tonight were doubtful of his recovery.

The accident brought a sudden end to the tree-sitting careers of other youthful endurancers. Sponsors of the contest immediately ordered all sitters to the ground, tore down the hastily erected platforms and announced that none of the prizes would be awarded.

Annapolis Club to Fete Capital Civitans Today

Washington Civitans will hold their annual outing at Walker Shore, on South River, today as guests of the Annapolis Club. There will be games and sports during the afternoon, including bathing. A shore dinner will be served.

Harry Pitts, Tom Crowell and George Coale are in charge of organizing the Washington caravan, which is to proceed along Defense highway to South River Bridge, following the first turn to the right after crossing the bridge, and thence to Walker Shore.

Gunmen Kill Detective When Ordered to Halt

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Thomas E. Hill, a detective, was shot and killed tonight in a battle between four gunmen and police in the Bronx.

The gunmen opened fire from their automobile when ordered to halt at Macombs Dam Bridge, where a police squad was watching for stolen automobiles. Four suspects were captured after a chase along the Harlem River Viaduct.

THREE PROSTRATED BY HEAT IN CAPITAL

BREEZES COOL MIDWEST

terday, the highest temperature reported by the Weather Bureau being 91 degrees at 11:45 o'clock, while by evening it had dropped to 78.

The humidity, however, told another story, the lowest record for the day being 52 per cent at noon, while the fluctuation for the day was between that point and a high of 75 per cent. At 9 o'clock last night it was 71.

Thundershowers were predicted as "probable" for today.

At the kiosk, on Pennsylvnia avenue at E street, the thermograph recorded an even temperature throughout the afternoon that fluctuated fractionally above and below 99 degrees. At 4 o'clock it was 11 degrees hotter at the kiosk than in the Weather Bureau laboratories. In the evening the kiosk instrument showed 85 degrees, compared with the 78 officially announced by the bureau.

While the Weather Bureau yesterday saw the possibility of showers today to bring more endurable weather by tomorrow, no prospects were held out for general rains so badly needed for agricultural relief.

Egg Market Affected.

The University of Maryland yesterday reported the deaths by heat prostration of 91 hens which had been competing in an egg-laying contest in its agricultural experimental station at College Park. The excessive heat also has curtailed egg production generally, it was stated.

Police of Montgomery County still are maintaining closest surveillance to minimize waste of water.

The long-continued dry spell has wrought havoc among farmers of Fairfax County. Dairymen are also hard hit as they have been compelled to purchase feed for their stock. Pastures are dried up and no corn or ensilage has matured enough to harvest. The corn has shriveled and turned brown before it has tasseled and it is not fit in its present condition. Crops of all kinds have suffered and farmers fear they will be unable to get through the coming winter. They say that rain even in the near future will be too late to do any good.

Baltimore reported five deaths due to heat yesterday, bringing the total for the past ten days to 34. One of the day's victims was the Rev. Christian Oiert, 60, a priest at St. James Catholic Church. The top temperature in the city was 87 at 2 o'clock, or 12 degrees below the peak on Sunday. The Government thermometer at Keedysville showed 100 for the eleventh consecutive day.

Breezes Cool Middle West.

Temperatures in the Middle West slumped off as cooling breezes swept in from Canada yesterday. Illinois continued warm, but Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa enjoyed much more comfortable weather, with temperatures rarely above 90.

Sharp recessions were noted at Omaha, where the mercury dropped from 108 to 81; Lincoln, Nebr., from 108 to 75; Sioux Falls, S. Dak., from 105 to 84, and Sioux City, Iowa, from 104 to 77.

In the Southwest, however, scorching temperatures continued. Yesterday was the hottest day in St. Louis in the history of the Weather Bureau, with a temperature of 107.8 surpassing the record of 107.1 set in July, 1901. Four deaths from heat were reported and numerous prostrations.

Mark of 113 Recorded.

Mexico, Mo., set a record with a temperature of 113. Other hot spots were Sikeston, Mo., 110; Poplar Bluff, 109; Fulton, 107, and Jefferson City, 104. Practically all other Missouri cities reported 100 or higher.

The waters of the Mississippi River dropped to 3.7 feet at St. Louis, the previous low record for July being 5.8 feet in 1926.

Kansas City and Topeka experienced slight relief as breezes kept the mercury to a maximum of 100. Nashville, Tenn., set a new all time record with a temperature of 106.

Four Die in Louisville.

Four persons died of heat prostration at Louisville, where the temperature soared to 106.9. Other Kentucky cities with high mercury readings included Owensboro, 106; Ashland, 107; Bowling Green, 113; Hopkinsville, 109.5, and Harlan, 103.

All along the lower Mississippi Government dredges sought to clear obstructed channels to permit passage of heavy barges as the water fell to a point dangerous to navigation.

Meanwhile, many crops suffered as the drought passed its seventy-first day at Memphis, and its sixty-fifth at Little Rock.

Virginia Heat Wave Is Relieved by Rain

Wind Accompanies Shower Near Harrisonburg, Causing Damage.

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., July 28.—Scattered thundershowers this afternoon brought some relief to southeastern Rockingham and adjacent portions of Augusta County. That section is being visited almost daily by showers, the only part of the valley so benefited. Harrisonburg and the remainder of Rockingham received only a light sprinkle.

A strong wind which accompanied the shower wrought havoc over a small area between Harrisonburg and Mount Crawford, to the south, uprooting trees, smashing limbs, flattening corn fields and demolishing sign boards.

A rainfall of .22 inches was reported at the Dale enterprise weather station, the heaviest precipitation recorded in weeks. The mercury had soared again to 100 degrees before the showers cooled off the air.

COURT BATTLE FOR LIBERTY OF CAMPBELL IS IMMINENT

He was uncertain whether he stopped there on the night of April 11. Mr. Tazoff had no sales record of Campbell's visit, said Mr. Gloth.

The other three witnesses uncovered by Attorney Smith to aid his client's story are Mrs. Marian Stuart, 620 Hamilton street northwest; Mrs. Anna Good, a coworker of Mrs. Campbell at the Potomac Electric Power Co., and Charles Fostnoybt, an employe of Schneider's Bakery on 1 street near Fourth street northwest.

Presence Corroborated.

Mrs. Stuart corroborates the presence of Campbell at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy K Smith, 620 Hamilton street northwest, between 8 and 9:30 o'clock on the night of the murder. Mr. Fostnoybt is supposed to account for the suspect's presence at the bakery about 9:45 o'clock on that night. Mrs. Good will corroborate the story of Mrs. Campbell's activities before leaving this city for her home on April 11.

Nothing was added to the alibi of the suspect by the new defense witnesses, according to Mr. Gloth. "The only thing we have as to his activities between 5:30 and 7:30 o'clock on the evening in question is from the members of his family," he said.

While the defense made no appreciable headway yesterday, the same could be said of the prosecution. Witnesses whom they had hoped would bolster their case failed to lend the anticipated support.

One Loses Assurance.

One who was to prove an acquaintanceship between the murdered girl and the realty man lost his assurance of the story he told when interviewed by headquarters detectives. Another who was to place Campbell's automobile near the culvert also failed. Investigation yesterday of information received at headquarters that Campbell and another realty man tried to obtain the use of an apartment to stage a party proved to be a case of mistaken identity.

Frank G. Campbell, brother of the accused, today still issued a statement to the public in behalf of his brother in which he will present the peculiar circumstances which preceded his arrest and connection with the case.

Campbell was questioned for more than an hour yesterday by Sheriff Howard B. Fields, who is directing the investigation; Detective Sergts. Flaherty and Talley and Mr. Gloth.

The nature of the questioning was to attempt to clear up details of Campbell's story which were never satisfactorily explained. Nothing of importance developed from the interrogation.

BACK TO DEMOCRACY.

A year and eight months ago, the political crepe hangers were moaning over the Democratic party, and asking what was to become of it. Admittedly there was room for pessimism. Gov. Smith, the presidential nominee, had gone down to overwhelming defeat; Senate and House candidates, in many cases, had gone down with him, and the "solid South"—that bloc of States that had remained true to the party since the Civil War—had been rent asunder. Virginia, Texas, North Carolina and Florida all were in the Republican column.

There was talk of forming a new party, one that would be made up of what was left of the Democratic party and of those disorganized groups that were in sympathy with its principles and ideals.

Fortunately for the Democratic party, there were men who would listen neither to the obsequies nor to the talk of a realignment. It was these men who reorganized the national committee and made it a fighting force.

What has been happening in the political world has been a vindication of their faith and courage. Virginia is back in the Democratic fold, the anti-Smith forces having been overwhelmingly defeated by the regular Democratic candidates for State offices. North Carolina also is back, the voters having turned on the veteran Senator Simmons for bolting the party in November, 1928. Last Saturday, these two were joined by Texas, when former Gov. "Ma" Ferguson and Ross S. Sterling finished first and second, respectively, in the Democratic primary. They will fight it out in a run-off primary later. Whoever wins in this will be the next Governor of Texas, the Democratic nomination being equivalent to election.

From a national standpoint, the most interesting feature of the primary was not the remarkable race of Mrs. Ferguson, but the remarkably poor showing of another gubernatorial candidate, namely, Thomas B. Love. Love led the anti-Smith revolt in 1928, and was given much of the credit for the Hoover victory in the Lone Star State. In this year's campaign he ran on an "anti-Tammany" platform and pleaded for the votes of the 1928 deserters. He placed a poor fourth in the race.

The result in Texas, together with the results elsewhere, will serve to make the Democratic party the fighting organization that a minority party in the United States should be. Two strong parties are needed in this country. Their existence makes for competition, and competition and the desire to excel in public service make for good government.

TEAMWORK IN INVESTIGATION.

Harmony and cooperation among investigators are essential in the running down of a murderer. When they are lacking, the result is bungling and chaos and, frequently, an unsolved crime.

A case in point is the murder of Barney McBride, an Oklahoma oil man, whose body was found under a culvert in a nearby Maryland county. Maryland authorities and District authorities quarreled over the question of jurisdiction. The former insisted that McBride was killed in this city and the body transported across the line into Maryland; the local authorities contended just as vigorously that the murder was committed close to the spot where the body was found. That was nearly eight years ago. Today the murderer of Barney McBride still is at large.

In marked contrast is the manner in which the Mary Baker murder is being handled. Here, too, is involved a question of jurisdiction. However, there is no conflict. The indications are that the Navy Department clerk was killed in Arlington County, but nobody is sure of this; she may have been slain in Washington and the body carried over to Virginia.

The way in which the investigators of the National Capital and Arlington County have shoved the question of jurisdiction into the background while concentrating on the more important problem of finding the murderer is a tribute to their zeal and to their common sense.

DAVIS CUP DEFEAT.

The showing of the American Davis Cup team in the matches against France was most disappointing. The veteran Bill Tilden chalked up the only American victory when he defeated Borotra and it was only a last-minute waiving of the player-writer rule by the Lawn Tennis Association that admitted him to the team. George Lott fell before the onslaught of Cochet. The American doubles team of Allison and Van Ryan met its master in the Cochet-Brugnon combination. Borotra conquered Lott and Cochet whipped Tilden to make the margin of French victory four to one. Four times in as many years America has been forced to bow to France in the Davis Cup competition.

The crushing defeat is the result of neglect in the training of successors to the veterans. Bill Tilden has borne the burden of cup play for years and now there is no one to step into his shoes. Lott, Van Ryn, Doegg, Allison, Mangin and other stellar players who have youth in their favor lack tournament experience. Between these young men and the veterans of whom Tilden is representative there is no group which can be depended upon to uphold American prestige while the new contenders are being seasoned.

At the conclusion of the French matches, Tilden announced that he was definitely through with cup competition. For some time he has contended that younger men should be given their chance to uphold the American standard in international play. It is to be hoped that the tennis association will realize at this early date that it must pin its hope on the younger stars and that it will start them forthwith through a seasoning process of tournament play that will result in a superior American team a year hence.

AUTHORITY OF COMMISSIONERS.

District day on the Rapidan apparently inaugurated a movement to extend the powers of the District Commissioners. President Hoover is deeply interested in the welfare of the National Capital. He has used his appointive power to completely change the make-up of the Board of Commissioners. If the President decides to ask Congress at its coming session to confer more authority and responsibility upon the board, he will take a logical and constructive step.

Congress now serves as the city council of Washington, and the authority of the Commissioners is narrowly restricted. Under present conditions Congress must decide innumerable petty questions that could be more expeditiously settled by direct action of the commission. What penalties shall be fixed for delinquency in payment of taxes? What streets shall be widened, or renamed? What shall be the rate of assessment for construction of sewers, &c.? All these questions must be ground out in the slow mills of congressional legislation. In any other city such a process would be considered absurd.

Congress has no time to give to administrative details and legislative trifles of this kind. The result is that needs of the District are frequently ignored. No one can expect the representatives of 48 States sent to Washington to determine policies of the Nation to give attention to regulating vendors on the streets. It is only because Congress has been fanatical about "losing its powers" that it is still burdened with these local details, and that the District is still hampered in its development by prolific red tape.

The board of commissioners of such cities as have a commission form of government exercises the complete municipal authority. It can not be said that the Commissioners of the District, who are appointed by the President, are less trustworthy than they. Congress will no doubt always direct the policy of the District government, but there is no reason why the Commissioners should not be granted broad authority in carrying out that general policy.

For the most part the District Commissioners are appointed because of their knowledge of Washington's problems and their efficiency as administrators. They are more capable of promoting the interests of the District and of regulating its routine functions than is Congress. They are more responsive to the wishes of Washington people. A movement to extend their authority will find ready response. It is to be hoped that the President will advocate such a measure in his next message to Congress.

THE UNTRUTHFUL KIOSK.

No one can deny that it has been hot in Washington. For more than a week a torrid sun has baked the city, but the District has suffered far less than other cities. On Sunday the temperature was 99. In seventeen cities the thermometer stood at a higher level. But Washingtonians, for some unaccountable reason, are prone to compare the temperature recorded in the Pennsylvania avenue kiosk with the official temperature of other cities. Such comparisons are unfair to Washington. They misrepresent the degree of discomfort to which Washingtonians are subjected during hot spells, and they make it appear that Washington is one of the hottest cities in the country.

The official temperature is taken from a thermometer that is located in Washington, in a shaded shelter on the roof of the Weather Bureau Building. It may be argued that this is not the temperature that is experienced by the man in the street. The kiosk thermometers, however, do not measure the true temperature experienced by the man in the street. The kiosk is constructed of glass and metal; it sits on the sun-baked pavement and its ventilation leaves much to be desired. It is a storehouse of heat and the temperature reflected by its thermometers is more closely akin to the temperature that would be indicated by a thermometer placed inside a closed-up automobile parked in a sunny street than to the temperature experienced by the man in the street.

Comparison of the kiosk temperature to the official temperatures of other cities is a libel on the District. The official temperature, which is the temperature of the air itself, is somewhat lower than the temperature in which the public works and plays, but the kiosk temperature is considerably higher than the temperature actually experienced. The kiosk is a meteorological liar. It should be made to tell the truth or else be banished.

SHIPPING GROWTH.

The progress made by the merchant marine in recent years is gratifying to every American. A recent survey showed that this country has jumped into second place on the list of shipbuilding nations. Now a report from the research department of the Shipping Board furnishes details as to how American shipping held its own in the fiscal year 1929.

American flag vessels carrying the commerce of this country to other lands increased 7 per cent during the year, compared with an increase of 6 per cent for foreign vessels engaged in the same commerce. Nearly 41 per cent of the 111,400,000 tons of goods moved by water between American and foreign ports was carried in American bottoms. This is an excellent showing in view of the youth of the American fleet. About 33 per cent of the tonnage and 35 per cent of the number of vessels engaged in this trade were American. Revenues from this service amounted to approximately $366,000,000.

Other countries are conscious of the fact that the United States is making an effort to build up its merchant marine and are straining to their utmost to maintain their positions on the seas. Yet the youthful fleet under the American flag was able to hold its own, and is now forging ahead. Moreover, a new construction program is now under way. Officials of the Shipping Board anticipate a substantial increase in the carriage of both passengers and freight as soon as this new tonnage is afloat.

Having stepped into the position of the world's greatest commercial nation, the United States must have an adequate merchant marine to carry and protect its commerce abroad. Within a few years this country should be handling at least one-half of the commerce coming into and leaving American ports. As the position of the merchant fleet is strengthened, the percentage can be gradually increased. American trade can not be made secure in any other way. The shipping industry now has the momentum of an excellent start. With the continued aid of Congress and the increasing patronage of the people it should steadily extend its growth.

MORE COTTON USAGES

From the Houston Post-Dispatch.

Though not what it might have been, reduction of cotton acreage in the South this year amounts to something, and reveals a growing purpose on the part of the cotton planters to cooperate with the Farm Relief Board in its acreage curtailment program. In Texas, the cut in the planting amounts to about 4 per cent under the previous year, and in some of the other States a greater reduction is recorded.

Attacking the problem of the surplus from the production angle, the producers are interested also in the attack from the angle of increasing consumption. The Federal Government is aiding in the latter, as well as in the former, though there has been far more publicity about what the Farm Board is doing than about what the Department of Commerce and the Department of Agriculture are doing to find new uses for cotton materials.

As an illustration of the concern the Department of Commerce is showing in cotton's welfare, that department is distributing 400,000 booklets giving information on how cotton can "make a vacation more successful." In the booklet are suggestions for the making of myriad articles from cotton. Among the cotton conveniences suggested are shelter tents, refrigerators alfresco, portable boats, pin cushions, inflatable pillows, life-saving vests, arctic down sleeping robes, auto awnings, lamp wicks, beach pajamas, &c. The Bureau of Home Economics is advocating increased use of cotton clothing.

The Cotton Textile Institute is cooperating with these governmental agencies in promoting wider uses of cotton, and a measure of success is already apparent. It has been a long time since the women were wearing cotton as much as they are this summer. Frocks of cotton fabric are widely popular, and the popularity of cotton promises to grow in the realm of feminine attire. Lengthening of skirts also means a greater consumption of cotton. What has been added to the skirts this summer is sufficient to account for no inconsiderable amount of cotton goods.

And cotton in men's fashionable summer suits is also being suggested. At a meeting of the Cotton Textile Institute at Myrtle Beach, S. C., the other day, some of the prominent leaders in the industry present wore cotton suits. More startling in style setting, however, was the appearance on the dance floor of the St. Regis Hotel in New York a few nights later of Maj. Stuart Cramer, of Cramerton, N. C., in a tuxedo suit made of fine white cotton gabardine. The St. Regis enforces a rule that those admitted to its roof dance floor must be properly attired in evening clothes. When Maj. Cramer inquired if his attire was proper for the occasion, he was informed that his suit "was the most proper attire that had been seen on the roof this summer." The style is catching on and others are said to be putting in orders with their tailors for white cotton gabardine tuxedos.

It is estimated that on August 1 of this year there will be a supply of 5,800,000 bales of cotton on hand. What the new crop will amount to it is too early to predict. With this large carryover, obviously there is need for a much greater consumption, to prevent the surplus from becoming burdensome. According to economists of the Department of Agriculture, if all the new uses for cotton were taken advantage of 2,000,000 additional bales could be consumed in this country alone this year. For those who would aid the cotton producer, the first thing to do is, therefore, to join in the movement to procure greater use of cotton.

THE BUSY LIFE.

'Tis well for man to dream of peace,
But better 'tis that he Shall never see his battles cease
Than grow a drone to be.
Old age should keep the rocking chair
But while a man is strong
'Twill keep his courage in repair
To labor with the throng.

This world has need for busy men.
There still is much to do.
The idler dozing in his den
Is lost to mortal view.
But he who clears a swampy place
To build a garden gay,
Has made the world a better place
For all who pass his way.

The man who keeps his dreams alive
When need exists no more,
And dares to toil and dares to strive
For better than before,
Finds richer pleasure through the years
In all the care he knows,
And all the pains and doubts and fears
Than idle peace bestows.

'Tis not enough the purse to fill,
The mind must be content;
A manly man must labor till
His strength is wholly spent.
For happiness is born of pain,
And peace is born of strife.
They best enjoy the rest they gain
Who lead a busy life.

If You Will Get the Man's Crop, Why Not Let Him Work Good Land?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

AMERICA faces a situation that requires a change in her immigration laws.

She is able to produce more than her present population can consume; and to keep the wheels turning and insure future prosperity, she must find new markets.

The obvious solution of her problem would be to sell the surplus to consumers in other lands, but the foreign market isn't like the one here at home.

If you should ask a manufacturer which market he would prefer, the Middle West or the South, he would choose the Middle West.

Wages are low in the South and the workers have comparatively little money to spend for luxuries.

In foreign lands the standard of living is lower still and the people are unable to consume America's surplus for the simple reason that they don't earn enough money to pay for it.

There appears but one way to solve the problem.

If America's future prosperity depends on these foreign consumers, and their consuming capacity is small while they remain in their native land, the obvious solution is to bring them over here where they can earn more money to buy more goods.

That suggestion meets with two objections.

Certain aliens make bad citizens, and it seems absurd to bring more job-hunters to a land that already has six million idle men.

The answer to the first objection is that immigration can be made selective.

Races that do not learn America's speech and absorb America's customs—that can not and should not mingle their blood with America's—these must be kept out entirely.

The others, whose kind settled America and fused their blood to make a new race, could be absorbed by the million without one harmful result.

True, they would require jobs, but jobs are created by demand.

Here, as in their own land, they would need shoes, clothing, food, furniture, houses.

One man's wages, earned by creating wealth, would be expended for countless articles to supply a family of consumers, and thus he would help to pay the wages of many other men.

That America needs these foreign consumers is beyond argument.

The only question to decide is whether she shall keep them in their own land where they earn little and split that little among the producers of many lands or bring them over here where they will earn much and spend it where they earn it.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS ON THE NAVAL TREATY PASSAGE.

Gulchburg Leader—Ratification of the navy pact by the Senate ends a long period of suspense and is of the greatest significance. It is as yet too early to gauge its effect on the 25-cent shave, the wheat surplus and the poor quality of melons, but we believe the chances of the Giants winning the pennant are materially enhanced.

• • • •

Bilgeborough Argus.—The overwhelming manner in which the London naval pact was approved by the Senate proves two or three things conclusively. They are that prohibition deserves a fair trial, that China must be given every opportunity to work out its own destiny and that it is impossible to get anywhere in golf without a slow back-swing. The country is fundamentally sound.

• • • •

Bedpost Falls—The treaty is not perhaps all that could be wished for, but every true American will feel grateful that the United States Senate has taken action, which will reduce the number of one-way streets, give the workingman the eight-hour day, standardize the height of celluloid collars and give the Brooklyn Club its first pennant in years. The use of the lively ball has at last been justified.

• • • •

Cinchburg Center Bugle—The ratification of the London naval pact is one of the greatest forward steps ever taken by a representative government. Some of the rates may be high and we can see where tariff reprisals by certain European governments may be expected, but in the long run Senator Smoot will be justified. The escalator clause is obviously open to suspicion, but on the other hand, Mahatma Gandhi's motives are above reproach and we believe the future of India is distinctly brighter. Don't see America short.

• • • •

Shaving-Mug Heights Clarion-Herald—The average American looks upon the ratification of the London naval pact with undisguised satisfaction. It serves notice on Mexican bandits that the rights of an American citizen must be respected.

• • • •

Onion River Eagle and Dispatch—Ratification of the London naval treaty, so ably framed and fought for by Senators Hawley and Smoot, is a lesson to the vested interests of this and all other countries that they can not drop ashes on the parlor rug with impunity. Babe Ruth's attitude wins complete vindication, and if we are not mistaken Earl Carroll is a better man for having abandoned Mme. Lupescu and returned to the Roumanian throne. Right is right and 50 cents a pound is enough for liver in any country.

• • • •

Kawkaw Creek Register-Gazette—Thanks to President Hoover's firm stand for a radio in every home, the London naval treaty has been ratified by the Wickersham committee. This gives Tilden a chance to play and assures the public that in the coming international yacht races brokers' loans will not be juggled with. We believe the condition of the market is technically improved and that the short interest has been materially crippled. In the American League we favor Washington. Tomorrow, cooler, with rain in the late afternoon.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Contributor Contends That Married Women on Federal Rolls Should Be Required to Retire in Favor of Jobless Husbands Having Families to Support.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have noticed in the papers of recent date the great interest the President has manifested in the tremendous number of people out of work. I am wondering if he has given consideration to the question of the enormous number of husbands and wives now employed in the Government departments at Washington.

Investigation at the Government Printing Office will show a great number of working married couples, who receive jointly from $16 to $18 per day and who as a rule have no dependents. In many instances the husband will work in the G. P. O., while the wife is employed in some other department of the Government. In one case, well known throughout the office, a high official receives over $5,000 per annum and his wife something near $3,000. The same is true of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and of every other Government department.

This is all wrong, especially in view of the unemployment situation here and elsewhere. Thrift is all right when not interferring with the basic needs of others. But every working married couple means unemployment for some man who has a wife and children to support. It is not just that such a condition should be permitted to continue. If the President's attention were formally called to the matter he would doubtless issue an order—for at least during the present period of unemployment—to eliminate this condition, it would certainly prove a great boon to the man needing work. It is estimated that there are over 1,000 married couples now on the pay roll of Government departments in Washington alone.

Just think of the happiness that would result if an order were issued to eliminate this condition and thereby to give the jobless man a chance properly to feed and to clothe his wife and children.

Washington Should Adopt Antinoise Regulation—One in Cuba Works Fine.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now that we are thoroughly aroused over unnecessary noises day and night all over the country, let me suggest one little thing that Washington can do to take the leadership of cities in this matter.

Havana, Cuba, has such a regulation and it works fine. No complaints at all, and all's quiet after midnight. Havana for some years has prohibited the sounding of automobile horns after midnight.

What is the necessity for horns at night? Traffic is light, and there are few pedestrians on the streets. Every one ought to be asleep at that hour—and the majority of working people are.

Can not this idea be brought to the attention of the proper authorities?

Finds Quillen and Coolidge Articles Contain Much Friendly Counsel.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I would like to tell you how much good Robert Quillen has done to me. He is my grand interpreter and advisor on so many baffling subjects. I am very young—in my early twenties—and I can truly say that he has prevented me from doing many foolish things that I would have regretted later had I not read and followed his advice.

My father, who was news editor of a large daily, died several years ago and I have needed somebody's kind but stern advice about lots of things that I found confusing. Robert Quillen's advice seems much like my father's would have been to me were he living in this present age.

It has pleased me very much to notice that you have started to publish short articles by Calvin Coolidge. His articles are good and helpful in directing me in the right perspective of life. I do not agree with several things he says about political affairs, but that is probably ignorance on my part.

Give the Public Here a Real Swimming Pool Is Argel's Plea.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The present hot weather brings sharply to mind the urgent need of a $250,000 municipal swimming pool, which the present constructive Congress should build for the welfare of the centrally located people. A location in Potomac Park, east of the railroad tracks and adjoining the present tourist camp, would be an ideal place. New Orleans, Dallas, San Francisco, Kansas City and other places have pools. A new pool would fit in quite nicely with the present building program. That a great and growing city like Washington does not have a municipal swimming pool is an outrage. What's the matter with those legislators who tell us where to head in? Don't they ever feel the urge to take a cool, refreshing swim? But then I suppose they'd prefer to run up to Atlantic City—on Government transportation.

Street Car Jolts Are Nuisances as Well as Detrimental to Health.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Several times in your letter column attention has been called to the promiscuous jolts which street car passengers are subjected to these days.

Time was when rookie motormen were properly trained for their work. Today the power is almost invariably turned on or off with indecent haste in slowing up and increasing speed as well as in making stops and starts.

As for me, this unnecessary jolting may be classed as no more than an ordinary nuisance and does not matter a great deal, especially if I can get a seat. At the same time I can readily believe that with nervous individuals who ride much in street cars these plaguy jolts fall within the purview of the board of health.

DEBT FUNDING HELD MEXICAN CREDIT AID

President Ortiz Rubio Says Settlement of Claims Will Help Country.

TO BE PUBLISHED SOON

Mexico City, July 28 (A.P.).—In a statement to the press tonight President Ortiz Rubio said that the advantages obtained by Mexico through the debt funding agreement signed by Finance Secretary Montes de Oca in New York would serve as a base for establishment of the national credit.

The president believes that once Mexico's good faith has been demonstrated it will be easy also to settle the question of her internal debt, and everything referring to claims by nationals and foreigners growing out of the revolutions.

"By instructions of the executive, Finance Secretary Montes de Oca prepared the plan which met with so much success in New York and before he left for that city the plan was approved by a cabinet council, which means it had the full support of all the collaborators of the executive," the statement said.

"I am confident also that in a short time we shall be able to reach an agreement on everything referring to the claims of nationals and foreigners for damages caused by the various armed agitations our country has experienced.

"For completion of this work I confidently expect patriotic collaboration of all Mexicans.

"The agreements will be published soon. All the agreements made with the various creditors and also the agreement above referred to will be submitted to congress at an opportune moment."

Heiress Crashes Plane But Escapes Unharmed

Boston, July 28 (A.P.).—Miss Alice du Pont, of Wilmington, Del., daughter of Felix du Pont, vice president of the Du Pont interests, narrowly escaped injury today at the East Boston Airport while taking Federal tests for a private pilot license.

The young heiress had made three successful landings in an airplane and was taxiing when the craft went into a ground loop and crashed into the tail of another plane. The propeller of Miss Du Pont's plane was broken and the fin, rudder and rear of the parked plane were damaged. Miss Du Pont, who had been receiving instructions from her brother, Felix, and a school on Cape Cod, flew here today from the family's summer home at Osterville.

Cudahy Is Victim Of Poison Liquor

Scion of Packing Family Taken Ill Following Return From Europe.

Los Angeles, July 28 (A.P.).—Michaeel Cudahy, scion of the Chicago packing family, was confined to a hospital suffering from what "Doctors diagnose as poison liquor," his mother, Mrs J. P. Cudahy, said tonight.

"Michael and his wife returned a week ago from Europe," Mrs. Cudahy said, "and I never saw him looking better. Then suddenly his lower limbs became paralyzed from what the doctors diagnosed as poison liquor. He is recovering now and I hope will be out of the hospital soon."

A year ago following a collision with an automobile, Mr. Cudahy was arrested for driving while intoxicated and fied $5,000. Shortly afterward, he and his bride, the former Muriel Evansen, actress, departed for Europe.

Island, during the Spanish-American War.

He was a member of the Army and Navy Club, the National Press Club, the Society of Foreign Wars, the Empire State Society, and the Masonic order.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Zenobia Blanche Richardson, of Washington, whom he married after the death of his first wife, the former Miss Rebecca Sarah Ruan, also of Washington.

MRS. CRAWFORD RITES.

Funeral Services Will Be Held Today in Capital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Minerva R. Crawford, 76 years old, a native of Washington, who died Saturday after a long illness, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the John R. Wright Co. funeral home, 1337 Tenth street northwest. The Rev. John C. Palmer will officiate. Burial will be in Glenwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Crawford was the widow of John J. Crawford, a well-known resident of Washington. Her father, Capt. George W. Miller, commanded one of the first companies organized here during the Civil War. She had been widely active in the Order of the Eastern Star. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Bert Ray Landes, and a brother, John Crawford Miller. Another daughter, Mrs. Harvey Van Aken, died some time ago.

Stunned by Bermuda Hop Penalty, Flier to Appeal

Roger Williams Thinks His 90-Day License Suspension Is Because Island Got Peeved Over Publicity He Gave Rain on His Arrival There.

New York, July 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—It begins to look as though Lindbergh might be arrested one of these days for flying the Atlantic.

Roger Q. Williams, who has flown over a lot more ocean than the Lone Eagle though to far less acclaim, was a trifle stunned today when he received a notice from Gilbert C. Budwig, director of air regulation in the Department of Commerce, that his pilot's license had been suspended for 90 days because of his recent nonstop round-trip flight between New York and Bermuda. He first thought somebody was kidding him with a fake notice.

"On our flight from Maine to Rome, Yancey and I flew over a lot of countries just the same as other transatlantic airmen have done and nothing was said about it," Williams said. "When we took the Pathfinder to Cherbourg to put her on a boat we received an amusing telegram from the French air ministery, saying that inasmuch as we already had flown over 75 per cent of the military fortifications of France permission was thereby granted to fly over them all. The really funny part was that we hadn't seen a single fortification."

Williams added ruefully that the suspension will take away his "bread and butter at a time when my appetite is still good" because he has been engaged recently in test flying a new 18-passenger Burnelli monoplane at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, but the notice from Mr. Budwig puts an end to all that.

"Your license," it says, "must be forwarded to this office immediately, and you are prohibited from flying any aircraft during the period of your suspension." The violation charged to Williams is that "on June 29, 1930, you did fly over Bermuda without prior approval from the authorities of that country."

"Maybe the Bermuda Chamber of Commerce is sensitive about their climate and got sore because we gave so much publicity to the fact it was raining cats and dogs when we got to their little island," Williams said, with a grin. "Of course, it would be our luck to arrive there in the only downpour of the year.

"The suspension seems a little bit ridiculous to me, because we only used Bermuda as a reference point in our navigation. If we had landed there they might have had a real cause for complaint, although, as far as I know, no action of this sort has been taken against Yancey and Bill Alexander, who flew out there and landed in a seaplane some time ago."

He pointed out that other ocean fliers have passed over numerous foreign countries with immunity from aerial red tape and that airplanes flying between Buffalo and Detroit regularly cross over Canadian territory without any protest being made. He will appeal the ruling as soon as he can obtain a hearing in Washington.

REGISTRATION DATE CHANGE HELD SURE

Maryland Assembly Today to Pass on Ritchie Plan Favoring Jews.

QUICK ACTION FORESEEN

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., July 28.—On the eve of the extraordinary session of the Maryland General Assembly called by Gov. Ritchie for the specific and sole purpose of changing the registration dates for Baltimore City so as to permit some 25,000 Jews to participate in the November election, indications are that the governor's plan will be rushed through without any trouble, all reports of some Republicans possibly balking, to the contrary. The present registration dates conflict with the Jewish holidays.

That the way would be cleared to get this piece of emergency legislation through as promptly as possible, probably within an hour, loomed following a conference tonight between the governor and rival party leaders. Attending the conference were David G. McIntosh (Democrat) Baltimore County, president of the Senate; Walter J. Mitchell (Democrat) Charles County, and J. A. Gunther (Republican), Allegany, floor leaders in that body; also E. Brooks Lee (Democrat), Montgomery County, speaker of the House; James J. Lindsay, Baltimore County, and Joseph A. Wilmern, Charles County, Democratic and Republican floor leaders, respectively, of that branch.

The plan is to pass the emergency measure under a suspension of rules, which would require a three-fifths majority of the two bodies. In this connection Republican votes will be necessary and some rumors have been going the rounds that members of that party are showing a disposition to balk, largely as a piece of political jockeying, seeing a chance to take a trick to the embarrassment of their rivals, but it is not now believed that any such situation will materialize.

The Baltimore City registration dates fixed by an act of the last Assembly are September 23 and 24 and October 7 and 8. The two September dates are the feast of Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year, and those in October coincide with the Feast of the Tabernacles, all holidays that are observed strictly by Hebrews.

Thousands Flee Floods in India

Karachi, Sukkur Receive Refugees After Great Indus Overflows.

Karachi, India, July 28 (A.P.).—The swollen waters of the Great Indus River and its tributaries tonight drove to safety here and in Sukkur 15,000 refugees from the flooded upper Sind region.

Leaving behind devastated homes, the refugees poured by railroad and highway into the two cities. The flood waters were washing almost up to the embankment of the railway that was their principal means of escape. Shikarpur, a city of nearly 50,000 inhabitants, was in grave danger of being submerged.

Large forces of police were sent there and to other points in the danger zone to supervise strengthening the river and canal embankments along the Indus. Last night a canal was cut to relieve the flood pressure on the embankments of the Indus in the hope of saving Shikarpur.

SOUTH'S POPULATION GIVEN AS 37,821,423

Gain of 14.2 Per Cent for Last 10 Years Shown by Census Count.

16 STATES AND DISTRICT

(Associated Press.)

The 16 States and the District of Columbia listed by the Census Bureau as comprising the South had a 14.2 per cent population increase in the last 10 years, as compared with a 12.7 per cent increase in the decade ending with 1930.

A compilation of the totals showed that on April 1 there were 37,821,423 people located within their borders, a numerical increase of 4,695,620 over 1920.

The South 10 years ago had 31.3 per cent of the total population of the United States. While the total population of the country has not yet been compleed, the unofficial total of slightly less than 123,000,000 indicates a slightly smaller Southern percentage this year.

The States listed by the Census Bureau as comprising the South are the South Atlantic States, including Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida; the East South Central States, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi, and the West South Central States, Arkansas, Louisiana Oklahoma, and Texas.

The population of these groups, their numerical increase since 1920, and the percentageo f increase were:

Group	Population, 1930	Increase	Pct.
South Atlantic	15,780,617	1,790,345	9.9
East South Central	9,888,311	995,004	11.2
West South Central	12,152,495	1,910,271	18.6

Bank Head, Ill, Charged With Theft of $50,000

San Diego, Calif., July 28 (A.P.).—Isaac Irwin, president of the California Savings & Trust Bank here which closed last Wednesday, was arrested today on a charge of grand theft of $50,000.

Irwin collapsed yesterday and the warrant was served on him in bed. Bail was fixed at $50,000. Pending the 72-year-old banker's recovery a deputy sheriff was stationed at his home. He is alleged to have illegally diverted $200,000 of the bank's funds.

Warrant Issued for Banker.

Mineola, N. Y., July 28 (A.P.).—A warrant was issued today for Charles C. Hubbell, treasurer of the Long Island Commercial Discount Corporation, on complaint of stockholders that he had sold stock amounting to $450,000 on a misrepresentation that the company was making money. They charged that dividends had been paid out of capital.

NEW FERRY SERVICE SOUGHT BY RAILWAY

Chesapeake Beach Co. Asks Line From Terminus to Eastern Shore.

SHIPPERS' NEEDS CITED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Following opposition by the Claiborne-Annapolis Ferry Co. to the proposal of the Chesapeake Beach Railway to establish a ferry service between Chesapeake Beach and the Eastern Shore of Maryland, the railway company has presented a new brief in which the urgent need of such a service for Southern Maryland is strongly set forth.

The brief cites the history of the Claiborne-Annapolis ferry as evidence of the financial success and popularity of ferry service on Chesapeake Bay. Between 1922 and 1929 that company, the brief asserts, converted a "corporate deficit" of $216,000 into a corporate surplus of $243,000, indicating a net profit of $459,000 in seven years. The Claiborne-Annapolis ferry has also put into service two new large boats, which, according to the brief, have been purchased out of earnings.

The Claiborne-Annapolis line, contend counsel for the railway company, "scarcely taps the territory south of the Choptauk River. This territory is a large producer of fruits, vegetables anud other perishable food products, and it can not be denied that it is in the public interest that every protection should be afforded an expeditious and satisfactory outlet as well as a choice of outlets."

New Market Outlet Seen.

Alleging the proposed ferry route will shorten both time and distance in relation to the Washington market via the applicant's railroad as well as by truck, the brief further states the Claiborne-Annapolis ferry at rush periods, cannot accomodate all traffic now offered and considering that its landing place on the Eastern Shore is remote from territory south of Choptauk River, business center of the Eastern Shore, it is reasonable to assume a direct line to that territory would be as profitable as the Claibornue-Annapolis ferry.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—An early advance in cotton on continued dry weather was followed by declines under realizing and liquidation which seemed to be coupled with some local and Southern selling during today's later trading. The new October contract, after selling up to 12.95 early, or 20 points net higher, broke to 12.56 and closed at 12.58. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 16 to 20 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 9 to 14 points in response to the relatively steady Liverpool cables and the failure of over-Sunday weather reports to show any rain in Southwestern sections which were complaining of drought at the end of last week. Offerings were comparatively light at the start, with the advance extending to 13.13 for the new December and 13.37 for March contracts, making net gains of about 15 to 20 points on the more active positions.

These prices seemed to attract realizing, however, and offerings increased on an idea that the cooler weather reported in the Northwest might work downward into the belt and cause showers in Northwestern section. The demand seemed to taper off as prices worked lower and the market showed increasing weakness in the late trading, when, in addition to scattering liquidation, there appeared to be some local or Wall street selling and some selling for Southern account. The new December declined to 12.72 and March to 13.03, making net losses of about 16 to 20 points, and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the lowest.

The failure of bullish features in the weather and crop news to have a more stimulating effect on demand was evidently a disappointment to holders of cotton, and probably accounted for some of the afternoon selling. A private crop report was published, placing the condition of the crop at 66.8 a month ago and the indicated yield at 14,005,000 bales, against 14,435,000 last year. These figures came in for some comment and there was also comment on private cable advices reporting excessive rains and overflows in India, but without much apparent effect on the immediate market.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling, covering and continental buying on the Southern weather news and said the larger inquiry for cotton cloths in Manchester was maintained. Exports today, 2,873, making 6,812,620 so far this season. Port receipts, 3,657; U. S. port stocks, 1,560,819.

Credit Reform Set By Building Group

Capital Contractor Tells of Plans Drawn at Chicago Parley.

Assured of support of three organized factors in the construction field, a department known as the Allied Building Construction Industries of America, was launched at a Chicago conference last week, Edward J. Harding, assistant general manager of the Associated General Contractors of America, announced upon his return here.

The new organization represents a cooperative enterprise for elimination of loose credit practices within the industry. Thirty-one representatives of allied groups concurred in principles expounded at the Chicago meeting, Mr. Harding stated, and all others represented at the conference are expected to join later.

Promotional plans for launching nationally affiliated credit bureaus in practically every city of the country are to be drawn immediately, and work will be started in the near future, Mr. Harding said.

Garretts Sail Tomorrow for Post in Italy

Ambassador Has Been Entertaining on Estate Near Baltimore.

Ambassador and Mrs. John W. Garrett will sail tomorrow from New York for England, where they will pass a short time in London en route to Rome, where the Ambassador will resume his duties. For several months the Ambassador and Mrs. Garrett have been at their estate in Baltimore, where they have entertained with musicales, having introduced at one of them a notable orchestra from Italy. They will spend a part of the summer at the Island of Capri, where they have a villa.

The ambassador has appointed as his private secretary, Mr. Frederic William Wile, jr., of Washington, who was an honor man in the class of 1930 at Princeton University. The ambassador is himself a Princeton man, class of '95.

Mr. Wile will sail for Naples on the S. S. Vulcania on Friday and will go directly to Rome.

Spanish Ambassador at Hot Springs, Va.

The Spanish Ambassador, Senor Don Alejandro Padilla y Bell, will return to Washington tomorrow from Hot Springs, Va., where he has been for a few days with his son, Senor Ramon Padilla, and his daughter, Senorita Rosa Padilla.

Teh Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation, Mr. F. Trubee Davison, will return to Washington today from Long Island, where he passed the week-end sailing around Montauk Point on his yacht, Medora, with a party of friends. Mrs. Davison sailed last week for Europe, where she will pass a few weeks.

The delegates of Guatemala and Honduras to the boundary conference —Dr. Mariano Vasquez, of Honduras, and Dr. Eugenio Silva Pena, of Guatemala—will entertain at luncheon at the Pan-American Union today in honor of Mr. Francis White, Assistant Secretary of State.

Former Gov. and Mrs. D. W. Davis, of Idaho, who have for some time made their home here, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Ruth Davis, to Mr. Daniel Stubbs, of Superior, Nebr. Mr. Stubbs is a former naval officer who was recently graduated from Harvard law school. The ceremony will take place in Washington some time in September.

Senor J. A. Montalvo, director of posts of Cuba, left the city last evening for Miami, Fla., from which point he will fly to Havana.

The director has been the guest of honor at many social engagements since his arrival in Washington ten days ago. Sunday he was a guest at the Gibson Island Country Club and yesterday he was the guest of honor at a small farewell luncheon given by Mr. Joseph H. Bagley at the Wardman Park Hotel, at which the Postmaster General, Mr. Walter F. Brown, was also a guest.

Senor Montalvo also gave a farewell dinner on the Willard roof last evening for friends prior to his departure from the city.

Mr. William Wirth entertained at the dinner dance on Saturday evening at the Plage Deauville at the Wardman Park Hotel.

The acting Superintendent of Public Schools, Mr. Jere Crane, and Mrs. Crane will leave Washington on Thursday by motor for Haven, Me., to spend a month. They will be joined in New York by Miss Catherine Crane, who has passed July in West Point and at Roosevelt Park, N. J.

Britjsh Naval Attache Departs for the West.

The Naval Attache of the British Embassy and Mrs. J. S. M. Ritchie have left for the West Coast to pass several weeks. They will return to Washington the middle of September.

Mrs. Aubrey Lynn Clarke and her daughter, Miss Mildred Blaine Clarke, left today for San Francisco from where they will sail Saturday for Honolulu. They will remain there until September.

Maj. and Mrs. D. B. Netherwood are in Asheville, N. C.

Mr. E. F. Morgan will return the middle of the week to his apartment at the Mayflower from an extended stay in Atlantic City.

Mrs. E. Rives Waters will spend August at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., and later visit in Atlantic City.

Miss Waldman Engaged To Mr. Muir.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Waldman have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Maybelle Eleanor Waldman, to Mr. Henry K. Muir.

Mrs. Fairfax Harrison and daughter, Miss Sallie Harrison, have returned to The Plains, Va.

Behind the Screens

—With NELSON B. BELL—

TWO more of the big shots are coming to the Capital this week. On Wednesday morning at 8:05, providing the Liberty Limited is not delayed by the drought or molten rails or something, there will alight at Union Station Mr. Frank Capra and Mr. Samuel Briskin, of Columbia Pictures, Inc.

Mr. Capra, you will recall, is one of the better of the cinema's directors, having been responsible for "Ladies of Leisure," a picture which, as I recall it, did rather well at the RKO-Keith Theater not so long ago, and also having wielded whatever takes the place of the megaphone now that sound is here over "Rain or Shine," Joe Cook's first celluloid vehicle, coming into the same playhouse next Saturday. Mr. Briskin is assistant production manager for Columbia, in whose charge will be reposed many millions of dollars for discreet disbursement during the next year.

The Messrs. Capra and Briskin are not harassed by the gentlemen of the Income Tax Bureau, but come to our chilly Commonwealth to consult Commander Jones with regard to the production of a mighty epic of the ether to be known as "Dirigible."

Whether this is the same "Dirigible" that John Monk Saunders thought he had written for Paramount or not I shall be in a better position to advise you day after tomorrow.

Lieut. Nash, on a tour of duty at the C. M. T. C., at Fort Myer, Va., speaking for himself and the other officers similarly engaged, has invited the dramatic desks of the local press to sup at the camp this evening and immediately thereafter cast an appraising eye over the program of entertainment to be presented by the "boys on the lot."

More than once have I attended these shindigs when they came much nearer being worth $6.60 than some of the professional productions for which tickets have been $6.60. When Frank Tinney was over at Meigs, for example. It is by no means impossible that a few Al Jolsons may be enrolled over at Fort Myer.

Edward Everett Horton is the player who is doubling in the first run houses this week. He is star of "Once a Gentleman," at RKO-Keith's, and less important but just as amusing with Ann Harding in "Holiday," at the Metropolitan.

In this morning's mail, as a bit of relief from the bawlings out occasioned by the suggestion that some of us might enjoy Will Osborne quite as much at Lehigh's little brother, Rudy Vallee:

"Hello, Nelson. Vacationing here, but would just as soon be there. However, I expect to be there around Labor Day. Regards to all. (Signed) WESLEY EDDY."

Since the postmark was Lake Placid, N. Y., I take it that Wes has neglected to read the temperature tables in his daily paper!

I wonder how many of those who attend the Palace this week to view Jack Oakie and Ginger Rogers in "The Sap From Syracuse" will recognize the actor who plays the part of the voluble shipboard pest who calls himself Senator Powell and turns out to be Vanderhoff, the great engineer, whom Littleton Looney has been impersonating against his will all the way to Macedonia?

It is George Barbier who appears in that role and George Barbier back in the old days of the Columbia Players, probably the most popular stock company that ever provided summertime amusement in the Capital, with his wife, Carrie Thatcher, garnered a full share of the applause for consistently competent character work.

That was back in the day of Julia Dean, A. H. Van Buren, Everett Butterfield, Jessie Glendenning, Dorothy Bernard, Paul McAllister and the rest.

A caller yesterday, whom many will remember pleasantly, was Carl S. Hinnant, formerly organist at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater. It was Carl Hinnant and Milton Davis, just to refresh your memory, who introduced the then novel idea of syncopated pipe organ and piano duets to Washington audiences, thereby causing them—the audiences—to tear up their seats and tear down the house with enthusiasm.

Carl stopped off en route from his home in Wilson, N. C., to New York, having left for the latter village last night by motor.

Saturday's caller was Oscar Doob, in charge of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer publicity, whom I missed at the office but met later at Loew's Palace, which was cooler. You should have seen him applaud the Loew "Cheer Up" stage show and heard him hiss the Paramount screen feature!

It won't be long now until those Waring's Pennsylvanians will be here and it is going to seem just a little bit odd to hear them tooting at Thirteenth and F. Fred and his boys have played a total of about 24 weeks in Washington and this engagement at the Palace will mark the first time they have ever appeared locally in any but a Crandall house.

Ned Gerber, formerly director of publicity for the Universal houses in the New England district and later for Fox in the same territory, yesterday assumed a newly created position on the executive staff of the local Fox Theater, where he will serve in a variety of helpful capacities under the managing directorship of Hardie Meakin.

Mr. Gerber is a high-pressure publicist and theater man with wide experience to his credit, who ought to make it possible for Mr. Meakin to cut down his working day from 22 hours to not more than 18.

Especially is this true since Irene Weber, office secretary at the Fox, has returned from a two weeks' vacation on Long Island to get some rest.

Always tomorrow, those thunderstorms—and tomorrow never comes.

Polish Charge To Entertain Countrymen

Mr. Lepkowski Will Give Reception Thursday to Technicians.

In the absence of the Polish Ambassador, Mr. Tytus Filipowicz, who is at his home in Warsaw, the Charge d'Affaires of Poland Mr. Stanislaw Lepkowski, has issued invitations for a reception on Thursday evening at 9:30 o'clock to meet the delegation of graduates of the Warsaw Politechnical Institute.

These thirteen young men will arrive in Washintgon tomorrow evening and will be here Thursday, Friday and Saturday. During their stay in the Capital they will be presented to President Hoover, and on Saturday they will leave for Pittsburgh. Their stay in this country will be about a month, during which time they will visit many industrial plants.

The embassy, which has been closed since early this month, will be opened Thursday evening, and what few members of the diplomatic corps, official and residential Washington are still remaining in town will gather there for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Mathews Woods, of Capitol Hill, announce the marriage yesterday of their daughter, Leah Virginia Woods, to Henry B. De Groot. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride with a few friends and relatives in attendance.

The bride wore a garden frock of blue flowered chiffon organdie and carried a bouquet of old-fashioned flowers. Mr. and Mrs. De Groot left after an informal buffet luncheon for an extended motor trip through the White Mountains and Canada. Upon their return they will reside at the Paramount, 829 Quincy street northwest.

Mrs. Frank Hines, wife of Maj. Gen. Hines, Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, has gone to Rehoboth Beach, Del., to be the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy, for a few days.

Mr. French Strother, who is in New York, will join Mrs. Strother at the Wardman Park Hotel the end of the week.

Portes Gil and Family Arrive in New Orleans

New Orleans, La., July 28 (A.P.).—Portes Gil, former president of Mexico, arrived in New Orleans today aboard the steamship Parisima from Havana with his wife and 3-year-old daughter, Rosa Alva. He was met at the dock by the Mexican consul general and his staff and escorted to a hotel where he plans to remain two days.

Then he will go to San Antonio, Tex., and later to Rochester, Minn., where the daughter will undergo medical attention. Besides the immediate family, the party included Lieut. Col. Jose R. Bosquez, of the Mexican Army, two private secretaries and an Indian nurse.

Brother of King Carol Unhurt in Plane Mishap

Bucharest, July 2 (A.P.).—Prince Nicholas, brother of King Carol of Roumania, was compelled to make a forced landing while flying at Constanza near Bucharest today. He was not hurt.

Three military airplanes also crashed in a storm near Jassy and two private planes near Predeal. King Carol also saw two military planes collide in the air during a flying exhibition at Kromstadt. There were no casualties.

Shopping With Bab

DEAREST Genevieve:

It isn't so much the heat as the humanity. Am I not right? The last of the sales before closing for August, are now under way. Charming hats and frocks to finish out the summer may be purchased now for almost nothing.

Schwartz Has Decided to Close

—on Tuesday, August 5. So this week will be the last final clearance of everything left in the shop. Every type of model is included in this last sale, and all have been divided into three groups. Frocks which were $49.50 are now $22.50. Frocks which were $29.75 are now $13.50. Then there is a group of small sizes, lovely little dresses for only $9.75. These have been $21.50 Tub silks, chiffons, and other materials you will find useful now, are included. Schwartz, 1325 Conn. Ave.

Children's Hair Cuts At Vanity Beauty

—Shop, are popular for more than one good reason. The location of The Vanity Beauty Shop, 1328 Connecticut Ave., with entrances on two streets, is perfect, as parking is an easy matter. You are right by the car stops and bus stops, which means so much in taking children around this hot weather.

Then, too, the cool, breezy interior, and the detailed attention to the last word in sanitation, adds to the feeling of confidence which mothers have in this establishment.

You know that The Vanity Beauty Shop takes great pride in the fine sterlizing equipment they maintain. Go in and see for yourself that this is one of the finest places to take children for hair cuts.

Summer Costumes Lend Themselves

—delightfully to portraits. Underwood & Underwood take so many pictures of pretty girls these days, in their midsummer frocks and hats. If you have a costume of which you are especially fond, go down and have yourself photographed in it. You will always be glad that you did so. The twenty-five per cent discount is still in effect. If you have proofs of a former sitting, from which you have not yet ordered, this is the time to take them down and have pictures made, at a great saving.

I presume the summer discount will not continue much longer, so attend to it right away. If you are passing Underwood & Underwood's stop by and see the window of photographs of girls in summer hats. Very effective.

Affectionately,

Bab

F. R. writes:

1. Are apples beneficial?
2. Are they fattening?
3. Are eggs beneficial?
4. Are they fattening?
5. Of what benefit is chicken?

REPLY.

1. Yes, as a rule.
2. One can eat only a few at a time.
3. Yes, as a rule.
4. Same as 2.
5. Chicken is a good protein food.

DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS.

Mrs. M. L. E. writes:

1. What causes uremic poisoning
2. What can one do to escape it?
3. What are the early symptoms of the disease?
4. How can one rid himself of excessive uric acid?

REPLY.

1. Disease of the kidneys or failure of the kidneys for any reason.
2. Avoid kidney disease. If kidney disease exists, live carefully. Avoid exposure to cold, infections. Eat cautiously. Avoid alcoholic beverages.
3. Albuminuria, casts, dropsy, mental heaviness, headache, high blood pressure.
4. By eating potatoes, bananas, and other vegetables and fruits. By drinking water freely. By sweats. Excess uric acid seldom causes trouble.

TARTAR AND FALSE TEETH.

W. W. M. writes: Tartar has destroyed my natural teeth and is now eating on my false teeth. Will you kindly advise me what preparation I could use in order to prevent this trouble?

REPLY.

To keep the gums in good condition drink a pint of orange juice daily, or the equivalent of this in other fresh fruits and vegetables rich in antiscorbutic vitamins. You are mistaken about tartar destroying your teeth—both the natural and bargain variety. Tartar is hard on the gums, but not much so on the teeth.

To prevent tartar, keep the teeth clean. If there are deposits, have a dentist scrape them off.

BUCK ROGERS, 2430 A. D. — Find Mystery Ship Empty — By Phil Nowlan and Dick Calkins

Our shot merely jarred the mysterious space ship that had attacked us—but the terrific power in the atomic shell should have annihilated it! We gazed thunderstruck at the queer craft.
Though still intact, the enemy ship began to fall toward the surface of Mars.
We disabled it anyhow, Bob.
I never knew anything to resist an atomic rocket before. What can that craft be made of?
Down it plunged—straight toward the city of King Inwaldo, which we had just left.
We landed. I went straight to King Inwaldo.
Yeah! It attacked us. We shot it down. Was it badly smashed?
No, that's the funny part about it. And when we dug it out and opened it up there was nobody inside!

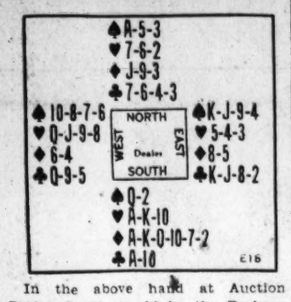
WORK ON BRIDGE

COULD YOU HAVE DONE BETTER?



In the above hand at Auction Bridge South would be the Declarer with Diamonds the trump, the size of the contract depending upon whether he started with a bid of one or more.

At Contract Bridge South would be tempted to bid No Trumps because his hand counted 23 and probably nine tricks could be run right off the reel, unless West opened Spades. It happened that North had the Spade Ace; but it would have been foolish for South to bid three No Trumps with an unstopped suit when the probability of making game at Diamonds was so great. The proper Contract bidding would be: South three Diamonds, West pass, North four Diamonds, East pass, South five Diamonds.

In the play West led the Queen of Hearts. The advantage of leading the Queen instead of fourth best from Queen-Jack-nine is self-evident in this hand; if a small Heart had been led, game would have been easy for Declarer.

With the Queen led, Declarer thought that his best chance lay in a squeeze play; so he led six rounds of trumps. While this forced each adversary to discard four times, it did not squeeze either of them. West parted with one Heart and three Spades; East with one Spade, two Hearts and one Club. This left West with a good Heart and East with a good Spade and a good Club; consequently Declarer failed to go game.

Could Declarer have played the hand any better?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

Declarer should have appreciated the predicament he was in and should have tried the chance that was open to him to make game if the king of Spades were held by East. Dummy should have been put in the lead with a trump at trick 2 to lead a small Spade to trick 3. Of course, East would win with the king and lead a Heart which South would win and lead a good trump and next his Queen of Spades. Then dummy would be put in again with a trump to cash his Ace of Spades, on which South could discard his losing Heart or his losing Club. Played in this way Declarer would make five-odd.

Jane Interprets the Mode

Paris, July 28.

VERY much in vogue for this summer is the contrasting color. But sh-h-h-h-h, it has to be well done! For instance, what I would call well done in this respect, was the Heim ensemble consisting of a pale blue dress, and another rose-colored one, the two worn with a reversible packette, one side rose and the other blue! But was the rose jacket worn with the rose dress? Never! When she wore the rose dress, she wore the blue side of the jacket out and when she wore the blue dress, the rose jacket out.

The all-white evening dress certainly takes the prize this summer—and it will be quite as popular for winter, don't ever worry. Why not, when it can be so stunning when worn with a white wrap, and then become an entirely different ensemble when worn with a red velvet jacket and shoes, or green or electric blue, or purple? That's the contrasting color idea again!

The above is a particularly Heim feature, and following is a particularly Dah-ray one! It's a good thing M. Jacques Heim thinks I'm rather nice, or he would be pulling my ear-r-r-es. Anyhow, I suggest a white dress in one of the unshrinkable materials, that is, satin or—well, satin, and either a red or green coat, this in velvet. Matched with colored satin shoes. Then she wears this ensemble for summer and has the dress dyed to match the coat (and shoes) for her new fall evening ensemble! Later the dress dyes black, has lightening touches of pink and she has another outfit altogether.

Suzanne Talbot has a more practical flare to her early fall models than she has shown before. It is just as well, because I like things myself to be more practical in the daytime and more fantastic in the evening.

The ensemble she let me sketch for you today shows this new practicability of hers, but don't think for a moment there were not some fancy touches that were typically Talbot! There was, for instance, the odd decolletage of the dress which showed a little bit of the flesh underneath the pleated white organdy collar. And the slightly more than three-quarter length of the sleeve and the black stitching. Thus the dress and the coat of black crepe "tiflis" was lined in pink and the lining allowed to show in pink revers stitched in black. While a black handkerchief was pink lined, and could be worn either side out.

"Crepe tiflis" is just another name for a crepe marrocain, but we must be different and put new names on old weaves. Miladi won't wail that there is n-n-n-n-othing new under the fashus sun.

There is something new in the leaflet world, though, and that's in this week's illustrated leaflet for which you have to send only a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dar Department of The Washington Post. It tells you how to use our new designs in a variety of ways, and has a lot of late and after summer beauty hints in it, too. Better hurry!

And in addition we offer the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Washington Post every Sunday. Are you looking for it?

Au Revoir!

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF July 29 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 5:30 a. m. to 7 a. m., noon to 1 p. m. and 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and 4 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Your hands will not be tied by fate on this date, as the astrological influences are not pronounced enough to influence you one way or another. The stronger forces of your character will be the dominating factors of the day, and your natural inclinations will have a chance to be aired.

Children born on this July 29 will have dignified, self-reliant natures and rather a love of display and position. They will have an intense love nature, and they will almost worship those whom they love and admire. They will be influenced by their "pedestal" people.

You are, above all else, the very embodiment of all that is correct and conventional in life. You are always well poised and complete mistress or master of yourself, whether it be at your most glorified or most embarrassing moments in life. You always feel certain that you are right, and you never see obstacles—the rest of the world must keep in step with you. You yourself do not worry, but your invulnerable indifference is a worry to others who would like to penetrate it. You do not have an elastic mind nor a tolerant one, and you are "down" on those who do not lead or think your "Philistine" life. You never allow yourself to display any violent storms of emotion, but your "freezing-up" methods are just as effective when you wish to show disapproval.

Underneath your hardness and bravado, however, may be found a person who longs for love, affection and understanding. You are happier with people to whom you can condescend than you are with your own class or superiors. You secretly distrust and resent superiority of intellect. If you be a woman you must fight both envy and jealousy, or they will destroy your chances for real happiness and contentment. Your reading does not show that you will ever be in want for any of the material comforts and many of the luxuries of life. You are able to organize work and to direct others. If you marry, your pride will never let you show the world the true state of your home relationships, if they be unharmonious.

Successful people born July 29:

3—John S. Pillsbury—Governor of Minnesota.

6—(Edward) Percy Moran—Artist.

TODAY'S SUN AND TIDE TABLE

		AM.	PM.
Sun rises	5:05	High tide	10:54 11:29
Sun sets	7:23	Low tide	5:12 5:40

WEATHER CONDITIONS

Forecast—For the District of Columbia, partly cloudy, probably local thundershowers Tuesday; cooler Tuesday night; Wednesday fair and cooler; gentle to moderate south, shifting to northwest or north winds.

For Maryland, partly cloudy, probably local thundershowers Tuesday; cooler Tuesday night; Wednesday generally fair and cooler; moderate south, shifting to northwest or north winds.

For Virginia, partly cloudy with local thundershowers Tuesday; cooler Tuesday night; Wednesday partly cloudy and cooler, possibly showers on the coast; moderate southeast and south, shifting to north winds.

Pressure is low from the Hudson Strait region south-southwestward to Tennessee. Resolution Island, 29.52 inches. Pressure remains relatively high over the Gulf States and the Gulf of Mexico, Galveston, 30.00 inches, while the extensive area of high pressure from the far Northwest has overspread the northern plains States and the extreme upper Mississippi Valley, Valentine, Nebr., 30.20 inches, and it is attended by considerably cooler weather in the upper Mississippi and Missouri Valleys. The weather remains abnormally warm, however, from the lower Mississippi and Ohio Valleys eastward, except along the coast.

The indications are for showers and thunderstorms on Tuesday in the upper Ohio Valley, the North Atlantic and Middle Atlantic States and Tennessee, and Tuesday and Wednesday in South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida. The temperature will rise from southern Maine to Delaware Tuesday, but the eastward advance of the northwestern area of high pressure will be attended by cooler weather as far east as the Appalachian Mountains Tuesday, and in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States Tuesday night and Wednesday. Normal temperature will likely prevail Wednesday in the Ohio Valley, the lower lake region, and the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

STAUNTON

A MILITARY preparatory school that really prepares a boy, not only to enter college, but with training that equips him to STAY there. Consult reports of Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools (copies in hands of public school superintendents). Note the college success of Staunton graduates. Examine reports for several years and observe our consistent leadership among preparatory schools that are essentially military.

Do not misinterpret the term "Honor Military School." IT HAS NO ACADEMIC SIGNIFICANCE. Staunton Military Academy was the first military school from the Potomac to the Rio Grande to receive this War Department rating; for several years the only Honor Military School in the South. An Honor School today, but upon that basis alone we would not solicit or desire your patronage.

The Goofus Don Juan

The Goofus Flappers cried,
"For he can squeeze the six of us
When we sit by his side.
"No need the rest to wait their turn
When one is on his knee,
For he has knees to hold a score
Of Flappers such as we!"

Coronatyped Letters are Good Form

No longer is an apology expected for a typewritten letter to a friend. On the contrary, most of us have to apologize when we write in longhand.

Love letters are the only ones that people are willing to take the time to decipher. All others should be coronatyped. And if more love letters were coronatyped, there might be fewer breach of promise suits.

HIDE IN THE DARK

By FRANCES NOYES HART
Author of "The Bellamy Trial"

Time: All-Hallows Eve.

Cast of Characters.

Trudi, wise, witty and chic, with all the ease of manner of a grand duchess and the lack of manners of a fishwife.

Gavin Dart, a rather tired and immensely successful business man of 50, with shrewd, dark eyes and steel-gray hair.

Ray Hardy, the youngest member of the party, not long married and overwhelmingly in love with

Joel Hardy, her charming and irrepressible husband, who has not grown five minutes older in the last ten years.

Jill Leighton, graceful and gracious, stepsister of that legendary Sunny, the beloved girl whose strange death ten years ago still lay like a shadow over the gay group.

Kit Baird, wanderer and adventurer in strange lands, who in his casual way does every romantic thing magnificently well.

THE STORY THUS FAR.

Thirteen gay revelers, calling themselves the March Hares, have gathered on Halloween at Lady Court, an old manor house. As the party gets under way, some one starts a graphophone. The record is "Underneath the Stars," Sunny's tune. Sunny herself, whom every one loved, having been drowned in Washington.

Kit entertains with a few songs. Lindy then tells him why she arranged the party. She confesses her love for him, proposes, while in another part of the house Larry proclaims his love to Jill.

NOW CONTINUE THE STORY.

AT DINNER.

"Jill, listen; it doesn't make any difference now—nothing makes any difference now except that we've remembered how to be happy, but just before we forget all the unhappy things forever, I wish that you'd tell me where you heard that ghastly nonsense about me and Sunny and Baltimore"

The joyous face in the mirror clouded, fixed in concentration.

"Larry, that's what's so strange. I don't see how I ever—I think it was Lindy first—or maybe that was afterward. It was Lindy who told about Sunny's going there, I know, because mother and I thought at first that maybe—maybe Sunny had been—murdered, by a tramp or a maniac of some kind, so Lindy thought we ought to know just what had happened. She wouldn't ever have told us if it hadn't been for that."

"Lindy told you that I'd taken Sunny to Baltimore? Jill, we're dreaming——"

"No, no," she said. "Weren't you in Baltimore that Saturday, Larry?"

"I was never in Baltimore in my life except at a house party the first winter that I was in Washington."

"Not the Saturday before Sunny died?"

A Jolted Memory.

"That was January, the week before I sailed, wasn't it? No, I was in Wilmington for Kim Farrell's wedding. Kit and I motored over——" He halted, staring at her incredulously over memory's warning hand. "You're right: I was in Baltimore. At the hotel, for about half an hour. We got off the road——"

"You didn't go there to meet Sunny?"

"I never laid eyes on Sunny, Jill. Was she there"

"Yes—with a man. Some one—some one thought it was you."

"Lindy?"

"No; not Lindy."

"Then who?"

"Larry, wait; I've got to straighten this thing out. Some one saw you there—and saw Sunny—and must have thought that you were there together."

"And that some one," remarked Larry, his face suddenly grim, "is responsible for ten lost years. And a bit over, too. Who saw me in Baltimore, Jill?"

"Just wait till I get a chance to think, will you, darling? I can't think at all, now, except that it's over and we're so happy—I don't want to spoil things by getting them all twisted again—Larry, darling, darling, please let's just be happy."

He stared down at the lovely, flushed face, so piteously eager, and abruptly his own relaxed.

"Happiness it is!" he said. "Everything else can wait. Now we'll show those maniacs in the hall what a party is. * * * Hi, what goes on out there?"

"Great jumping Jehosephat, children, listen to that wind! I'll bet it's tearing the boxwood up by the roots—and kindly look at the way it flattens down those flames——"

"What's the weather report, little Mable, with your face against the pane?" asked Sherry.

The Patter of Rain.

"It's perfectly frightful. All those trees over by the—the graveyard are absolutely twisting themselves inside out. It's too dark to see anything else, but I think it's beginning to rain. Listen!"

Over the reassuring crackle of the flames and the soaring voice of the wind rose the light, ominous patter, and Doug King's voice lifted in a lusty groan.

"Well, there goes the paperchase tomorrow; even if it lets up we'd leave tracks all over the place. No target practice, either, I'll bet. Never mind—— Who cares a tinker's dam what's happening when we have visions to dazzle these old eyes like those over yonder?"

He gestured dramatically toward the doorway where stood Hanna, tall and radiant in trailing white and diamonds, and Lindy, exquisite in clouds of violet tulle and pearls, hands linked like schoolgirls, smiling back at him conqueringly.

"Hanna, you're the most elegant thing I've laid eyes on since gentlemen discovered they preferred blondes. Still and all, you're my girl, Lindy. Come on over and sit by ole Uncle Doug and he'll tell you."

"I'm not going to sit down anywhere, and neither are you. Come on, every one—we simply must get started. Eight, nine, ten, eleven—who isn't down?"

"Us," called Chatty's cheerful little voice from the hall. "We've been dressmaking—— Oh, Trudi Sheridan, where's that lacquer red you were boasting about?"

Trudi cast a casually appraising glance down at the beige sport dress that reached almost down to knees and clear down to her knuckles.

"Would you believe it—I spilled two ounces of Tonty's 'Passionate Folly' plumb down the front of it? It looks like something the cat would rush straight off to the ash-barrel—I've been crying ever since quite a good deal. Didn't you hear me? That was me falling downstairs, too; blinded with tears."

An Improvised Gown.

"Trudi, I do think you're the most dreadful liar." Chatty, her dimples riotous, clutched accusingly at Trudi's decorously covered shoulders.

"I do know perfectly well that you put on this taffy-colored jumper because you thought I was going to feel out of it tonight without an evening dress. Honestly, of all the simpletons!"

She administered a final shake and yielded to series of small, hilarious giggles.

"And Tom Ross and I standing up there hacking the front out of this thing with a pair of nail scissors and filling in the four inches that we overestimated with lace off my nightgown. Maybe you aren't the only simpleton around this place!"

She gave an affectionate twitch to her wide dark blue taffeta skirts and added gleefully: "Imagine me worrying my head over an evening dress! Bohemia (she's the colored lady that helps out) says I spend so much of my life trying to decide whether Junior's old pajamas would look better as awnings for the back porch or seat covers for the Dodge that I never know whether my own dress is on backward or forward. I want to tell you that I took an old pink velvet cape that I had in my trousseau and made it over into——" The gay voice checked — wavered — trailed off into space.

Tom Ross was staring at the jubilant little figure in its neat dark blue and snowy frills with a look of such torn despair that all the roses blooming so dauntlessly in the gay face faded to wan contrition, and the light tonque faltered, stricken silent.

After a long moment she said in a small, apologetic voice thick with unshed tears. "Of course, the only reason I can't wear a different dress three times a day is because I'm such a perfect donkey of a manager. Mummy always said I was the worst manager she ever saw in her whole life—she always said that all the money that didn't drop through the holes in my pockets slipped right out through my fingers two seconds afterward. She said——"

An Excellent Manager.

Tom Ross, leaning swiftly forward, tilted the round, woe-begone countenance up to his, and deposited two long, deliberate kisses on the drowned lashes.

"She's the best manager since Eve," he said evenly. "She manages to keep four children, pigs, three waltzing mice, two darkies, a canary, a dog, a can full of polliwogs and an adoring husband, housed, fed, and contented on an incime that wouldn't keep an Eskimo in ice cream. Never you mind young feller—first thing you know you'll be having terrapin for breakfast and a lace boudoir cap. In the meantime, if it's all the same to the rest of this festive gathering, I move that we eat. I'm getting hungry enough to go for the berries off the holly trees."

"Sherry, get on the job again. Can't we have candlelight now, Lindy?"

The voices flooded over the ugly two minutes in a frantic torrent of babble—washing out the memory of Tom's pale desperation, of Chatty's pitiful nonsense—washing out the sick compunction that had bound the room in a painful web of silence.

"Of course we can have candlelight! Hurry, Tom, that means you. Kit, you know where the switch is, don't you? Turn out those lights, there's a lamb. Hurry, Tom . . . Oh, why in the world does any one ever use anything but candlelight?"

Under Tom's expert fingers the room was flowering from a place of jeweled darkness into a place of magic lights—little pools quivered and widened, velvet shadows shifted and fled; under the spell of the dancing flames of candles and the leaping flames of the fire it was suddenly and mysteriously alive. And by some glamorous illusion all the women were suddenly lovely as forgotten dreams, all the men adventurous as knights.

Chatty's despised dress was only a shadow, but above the shadow her brown curls danced into gold, her gra eyes into something braver than bule. Lindy and her amethyst clouds had melted into the jade background of her great chair, but in the oval mirror opposite the candles her shadowy eyes and shadowy smile hung like a portrait of romance itself, and when she stirred the room was suddenly filled with violets.

Around the Tables.

Jill Leighton, lovely and tremulous in her floating green as Daphne, hovering between Apollos arms and a leafy refuge, turned an enchanted face to Larry's grave worship.

In one corner of the couch Hanna's ivory and gold gleamed incredible as a miracle and the earrings trailing to her shoulders glittered like fairy fountains—not a hand's breadth from her Ray Hardy's vivid little face was suddenly bewitched into dusky beauty between its swinging hoops of gold and her gay orange frock flamed like a banner.

Ray leaned eagerly toward the vision at her side.

"Oh, Hanna, I do know better but I can't help it. Do you get absolutely ill hearing how incredible you are"

"You mean yellow hair and a straight nose? I think you're incredible, too—incredibly nice. Joel, could I have one of those heavenly little biscuits?"

"Lady, here's the plate. Any one that talks that way to my child bride is welcome to the shirt off my back. Massa Baird, sir, I'll trouble you to reach me a good thumping snack of what looks like the king of all chicken mousses."

"Oh, children, we can't eat like this!" protested Lindy in tones divided between horror and mirth.

"Even the March Hares ought to have some method in their madness. Kit, you and Doug come over to my table, and the rest of you sit down firmly wherever you want to, only do let it be at tables. Look how beautiful they are!"

The March Hares Sing.

"One more round, Lindy!" implored Doug. "One more round before we sit down, because this is a party, and we're the March Hares. This is Liberty Hall, isn't it, Lindy? Or is it Lady Court?"

"It's Lady Court," said Lindy with surprising firmness, and then added, relenting "Oh, well, just one more! This is good sherry. Here's to my guests—bless them for being here!"

"Here's to our hostess—bless her for having us! On your feet, March Hares—strike up the band!

Oh, what is the thing
That maddens our brain?

Doug's plaintive bellow echoed to the ceiling, drowning the wind itself.

That brings to our life
Both sorrow and pain?
And last but not least
That drives us insane?

"You tell 'em, boys! All together now!"

Wilson's whisky—that's a-all!
Wilson's whisky—that's all!

Shaw-Walker Closes Largest Year in 30 Years

JUNE 30th, 1930, Shaw-Walker terminated its thirtieth fiscal year, with the largest record of goods shipped and billed in the history of the company.

Of Shaw-Walker's twenty-three branch offices, one increased 51.7%, another 21%, and another 10%. Only four branches showed any substantial drop from 1929. Moreover, the sales of the Shaw-Walker dealer organization increased 8%.

During the last eight months, all business concerns have been buying with scrupulous care. Therefore, we feel that this preference for Shaw-Walker office appliances in a time of caution, is a tribute to the "Built-Like-A-Skyscraper" method of building fine tools for the office. • • •

BUY NO FILE, BUY NO BANK EQUIPMENT, BUY NO SAFE, BUY NO INDEXING, BUY NO DESK, until you have seen the progress made by Shaw-Walker in these important branches of office equipment.

We especially invite you to visit our showrooms and see "Skyscraper" the new organized desk by Shaw-Walker. Its new patented working top, its drawers organized for a better day's work, its invisible wires, telephone and waste basket, its "Built-Like-A-Skyscraper" construction into one solid piece of steel, and its beauty at a commercial price of $50 to $100, mark it as a revolution in the architecture of the office desk.

STOCK PRICES CLOSE IRREGULARLY HIGHER

Utilities Prove Strongest as Day's Rallies Are Hit by Reactions.

COMMODITIES AGAIN OFF

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Flurries of buying and selling made the course of stock prices irregular today, although the list, on the average, closed nearly a point higher.

A few shares reached new highs for the recovery, but failed to hold those figures. The chief evidence of group strength was in the utilities, where the day's best advances occurred. On the other hand, weakness of Warner Bros. Pictures, Trans-America, Safeway Stores and Eastman Kodak had an unsettling effect and operations for the advance met with increasing resistance.

Commodities were heavy. Wheat closed 1⅞ to 1¾ cents lower, reflecting a 14,000,000-bushel increase in the visible supply and weakness of foreign markets. Corn slumped 1¾ to 2⅜ cents on reports that rain had broken the drought in Nebraska and Iowa. Cotton met realizing and liquidation and finished 80 cents to $1 a bale off.

Time Money Easier.

Bonds were firm in dull trading which witnessed mild improvement in some of the highest-grade issues. Time money was easier in the longer maturities and there was a slightly firmer trend in commercial paper, movement of which normally is an accurate barometer of business conditions.

The move in the utilities, which rallied 2 to 4 points and generally retained their gains, was ascribed to covering. These stocks had not been participating extensively in the market's more recent advance, but the upward movement of the general list during the past three weeks apparently led some of the shorts to lighten their commitments. The stronger stocks included American & Foreign Power, Standard Gas & Electric, Columbia Gas & Electric, Electric Power & Light, North American and American Water Works. American Telephone rallied a couple of points, but lost its rise.

Warner Brothers slumped 5 points to a new low for the year, accompanied by reports that the $4 dividend was in danger. One of the officers of the company denied bearish rumors as to its financial position. The directors meet on August 6 to act on the dividend.

Eastman Kodak Declines.

Safeway Stores also went into new low ground, closing nearly 7 points net lower. Trans-America, under bear pressure, dropped more than 2 points. Eastman Kodak lost 4½ net.

In general, stocks met selling on the advance. U. S. Steel, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, American Smelting, General Motors and duPont were carried through their previous highs for the movement, but the rally was quickly followed by offerings. Steel, whose quarterly report is coming late tomorrow, sagged more than a point below the Saturday close and the other members of this little group finished considerably off from their highs.

Railroad earnings statements for June were assembled in sufficient volume to afford more illuminating comparisons. The first 60 roads to report showed net operating income of $58,337,000, against $59,042,000 in May. The percentage of decrease from June, 1929, was 33.9, but the total was only 1.83 per cent off from 1928. Rock Island, Burlington & Illinois Central were among the few roads to show gains last month over June of last year.

Copper Shares Active.

Copper stocks continued to reflect the more active consumer buying of red metal. Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting and Calumet & Arizona were firm and moderately active.

Farm implement shares attracted attention on the annoucement that International Harvester is expanding one of its plants to handle Russian business. The stock rallied about two points, but lost all but a fraction of the advance. J. I. Case, after selling more than four points higher, closed a point lower.

General Electric and Westinghouse Electric made extreme gains of about two and three points, respectively. The former yielded all but five-eighths of its rise, while the latter finished with a net gain of nearly two points. General Motors and Radio were up fractionally at the close.

Foreign exchanges, active and firm, were featured by an upturn in sterling to $4.87, and by an advance in the German mark to a new 1930 high. Withdrawals of gold amounted to $4,000,000, all destined for Canada.

STRIBLING BEATS SCOTT BY KNOCKOUT IN SECOND ROUND;

JOE KUHEL, NEWEST ACQUISITION, TO JOIN TEAM IMMEDIATELY

Shires to Be Shifted to Outfield; Deal Nats' Fourth.

with the Chicago White Sox, followed two days later by the famous Goslin-Manush-Crowder swap with St. Louis and the equally startling Braxton-Tate-Shires exchange with the White Scx a few hours before the trading deadline on June 15.

The purchase of Kuhel was termed a reconstruction move by President Griffith, who declined to say whether the American Association star would supplant Joe Judge. Griffith's announcement was taken to indicate that Shires is out of the first base fight, with the post now lying between Judge and Kuhel.

Judge, now hitting for an average of .332 and enjoying one of his best seasons after fifteen years of service with the Washington club, thus far has successfully defended his berth against all comers and is now the fourth best hitter on the team, being topped in the averages only by Rice, Manush and Cronin. Although declaring that the trade was a reconstruction measure, Griffith was firm in the belief that the Nats still have an excellent chance for the pennant.

Majors Scouted Kuhel For Past 3 Seasons

Special to The Washington Post.

Kansas City, Mo., July 28.—Joey Kuhel, brilliant first baseman of the Blues, is now a Nat. George Muelbach, owner of the Kansas City Club, tonight announced the sales of the young star to the Washington American League Club. He entrained tonight to join Walter Johnson's team in Washington.

In the deal with Washington, the Kansas City Club will get Harley Boss, fire baseman; Charley Gooch, shortstop and second baseman; a third player to be delivered later and a cash consideration.

The deal for Kuhel marks the graduation of one of the most promising first basemen ever to go up to the majors from the American Association. The brilliant playing of this youngster has attracted the attention of major league club owners and scouts for the last three years. Last season Cleveland was bidding for Kuhel, but the club was not interested enough to pay the price asked.

Since the Blues have been here on their present home stay against western clubs of the A. A., Eddie Herr, of the New York Yankees, and Jimmy Williams, of the Cincinnati Reds, who are on scouting trips for playing talent, have been watching Kuhel. Other major league scouts also have been looking over the player.

Six Feet Tall,

Weighs 185.

Kuhel was born at Cleveland, Ohio, June 25, 1906. He is a 6-footer and tips the scales at about 185 pounds. His first professional experience was gained with the Flint Club of the Michigan-Ontario League in 1924. He also played in Flint the following season and in 1926 moved to Springfield of the Three-Eye League.

The season of 1927 saw him with Lincoln of the Western League, and in 1927 he became a regular member of the Blues. He played in only two games in 1927, but took part in 120 contests during the season of 1928. The Blues had purchased Kuhel from the Flint Team and farmed him to Springfield and Lincoln.

Latest unofficial batting averages for this season show Kuhel hitting at a .377 pace, with 130 base hits in 86 games. He has scored 73 runs and is tied with Simons, of Louisville, for the league lead in clouting triples, each having twelve.

Marston Annexes Own Cup in Conn. Golf Play

New London, Conn., July 27 (A.P.). Max R. Marston, of Philadelphia, defeated Howard A. Ryon, 23-year-old Elmira, N. Y., golfer, 2 and 1, in the 36-hole final round of the men's invitation golf tournament at the Shenecossett Country Club today.

It was Marston's fourth triumph in this annual event, and the victory gave him the first leg on the Marston-Shenecossett Trophy, which he gave to the club to replace the one he acquired as a permanent possession a year ago.

Pitchers Star as Cubs Beat Reds, 3-2 and 5-3

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—The National League champion Cubs picked up a half game on the leading Brooklyn Robins today by winning both games of a double-header from Cincinnati, 3 to 2 and 5 to 3.

The twin victories broke the Cincinnati jinx which has done plenty to keep the Cubs out of the National League leadership. Charlie Root outpitched Bennie Frey in the first game, giving seven hits and fanning 12 men. Gabby Hartnett aided the cause with a home run in the fourth.

Guy Bush pitched the Cubs to victory in the second game, giving the Reds eight hits. Jakie May started for Cincinnati but was knocked from the rubber in the third, when Chicago scored four times. Harry Heilmann got a homer for the Reds in the second innings. More than 35,000 turned out for the Cub homecoming.

Lowly Rivals Jolt Pennant Chances

Figures Show Team Was Beaten Despite Better Average.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER WALTER JOHNSON yesterday led his Nationals back into town following one of the most disastrous Western trips which a Washington Team has experienced in years. Although the Nationals turned in eleven triumphs while losing thirteen games since they left the Capital City on July 6, four of these were at the expense of the Boston Red Sox, making the record in the West stand at only seven victories as against twelve defeats.

As three of the four teams in the Western sector are second-division clubs, the doings of the Nationals proved all the more disappointing, the result being a drop from the league leadership, which the Johnsons enjoyed as they started their trek Westward, to six games behind the Philadelphia Athletics as the Eastern teams turned for home Sunday night.

While away it is hard to believe that the Nationals actually outscored, outhit and undererrored their collective opponents, but the figures shown below bear this out, despite the sorry showing of the club as regards wins and losses.

Manush's Injury Signaled Slump.

The Nationals were in the midst of a winning streak when they left home and extended it to ten straight by winning the first game of the July 9 double-header in Boston. Heinie Manush was injured on this day and the Nationals have been able to win no more than two in succession since, doing this once by taking the final of the series in Detroit and the opener of the following set in Cleveland.

Until he was laid low, Manush was the "spark plug" of the Washington Team. He was hitting hard and timely, fielding well and generally leading the club on the field to one victory after another. It may be only a coincidence, but the Johnsons fell into evil ways from the day the services of the big left-fielder were lost. Ever since they have played like anything but a team with logical pennant hopes.

Until they hit the West, an alien lead meant nothing to them and they won game after game by coming from behind. On the trip just ended, conditions were just the reverse, for in as many of nine of the games they lost they were in front at some stage of the proceedings.

Western Trip Figures Lie.

It is said that figures do not lie, but those showing the Nat's doings since they left Washington certainly do. They indicate that the Nats benefited from better pitching than did their opponents, did better batting and put up a tighter game afield. But it was four high-score victories which they turned in which gave them their edge in hits and in runs scored.

As the games actually played, however, the Nationals did not play well at all due to the fact that the majority of their efforts came at the wrong time and that Johnson's henchmen did not hit in the pinches, that their opponents did at the expense of the Washington slabmen and that many of the Nat errors proved mighty costly. And, added to this, the Nats became depressed generally and except on very rare occasions, lacked the fire, dash and pep

Tate's Double Figures as Chisox Down Browns, 6-5.

ST. LOUIS, July 28 (A.P.).—Under a broiling sun which sent the mercury to 107 degrees officially, Ted Lyons and the Chicago White Sox defeated the Browns in the ninth inning here today, 6 to 5.

A run behind when the Sox went to bat in the final frame, Cissell singled and scored on Tate's double. Lyons then won his own ball game by sending Tate across the plate with his two-base hit.

Goslin hit his 22d home run of the season, his fourth in two days.

BRAVES HELD TO 2 HITS BY THURSTON

Veteran Gains Second Shutout Victory in Week for Robins.

BOSTON, July 28 (A.P.).—Hollis Thurston, veteran right-hand pitcher of the league-leading Brooklyn Robins, turned in his second consecutive shut-out today, holding the Boston Braves to two hits as the Robins won 2 to 0. Less than a week ago Thurston held the Cardinals to three hits and no runs.

Only three Braves reached first today and two of them were stranded there while the third went out by the double-play route. Cantwell and Pinch Hitter Clark connected with the two blows off Thurston while Maranville was given a base on balls.

Johnny Frederick led the Robins' attack with a double and two singles His double coupled with a similar hit by Wally Gilbert scored Brooklyn's first run in the fourth, while one of the singles led off the rally that counted for the other run in the sixth.

Macks Down Yankees in 12th, 6-5

Earnshaw's Triple and Cochrane's Single Decide Game.

By G. W. (MONITOR) DALEY.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Bob Shawkey gambled once too often with the Philadelphia Athletics' Three Musketeers, Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx, this afternoon, and the Yanks went down to defeat in a twelve-inning thriller which they ought to have won in nine innings rather easily. The score was 6-5.

A home run by Jimmy Foxx with one out in the ninth and a man on base spilled the beans for the unlucky Roy Sherid, Yankee pitcher, that tied a game which the Yanks had won and which they might have kept won had Shawkey not gambled that Sherid could get past the A's Big Three as he had earlier in the game. You can keep some of these fellows from hitting all the time and some from hitting some of the time, but you can't keep one of them from hitting some time. That was what Foxx did in the ninth off Sherid, and what Cochrane did in the twelfth off Ruffing.

Earnshaw Pitches Well After Ninth.

Foxx's home run tied the score in the ninth after the Yankee hitting had caused Rube Walberg's retirement and had brought in George Earnshaw. Earnshaw allowed a run in the ninth, but for the next three frames didn't give a hit. But in the eleventh the A's got going again when Cochrane walked to open the inning and Simmons put him on third with a single.

That looked like the ball game, but the Yanks weren't ready to quit. They had Sherid pass Foxx to fill the bases and then Red Ruffing came on to pitch to Miller. Miller hoisted a short fly on which no one moved, Williams attempted a bunt and Gehrig threw out Cochrane at the plate and Dykes filed to center, which caused much moaning in the camp of the A's.

The same situation came up again in the twelfth, for Earnshaw hit a three-base hit to an unprotected spot in center. Again the Yanks tried the same strategy. Bishop and Cramer were intentionally passed to fill the bases again with no one out. But here the forlorn hope was dashed. They wished a double play by way of the plate, but after Ruffing had passed up two strikes Cochrane lined a single to right and the game was over.

Earnshaw not alone gets the credit for the victory as the pitcher, but his big wallop really won the game—and he doesn't make a three-base hit in a coon's age. The Yanks were disposed to cuss their luck, but in reality they should have had more runs off Walberg than they did, and their poor fielding in the early innings gave away runs that were costly later.

GEORGIAN'S PUNCHES SEND BRITON DOWN 4 TIMES IN ROUND ONE

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

Round One.

Stribling boxed with the Englishman for a few moments and then landed his famous right to Scott's chin, following it with a series of lefts to the head. The men were warned for wrestling. Stribling nailed his man and Scott went down for a count of five. Just as he rose, a left to the stomach dropped the Englishman for a count of seven. Fighting like a tiger, Stribling sailed into his man and dropped him again, this time for nine. Scott went down again just before the bell and the gong saved him.

Round Two.

Finn Breaks Javelin Record With 237 Feet

Stockholm, July 28 (A.P.).—Matti Jarvinen, of Finland, set a new world's record today by throwing the javelin 72.38 meters, or 237 feet 5 85-128 inches, in an international track and field meet here. The present listed record is 232 feet 11 5-8 inches, made by Lundquist, of Sweden, at Stockholm in 1928.

1931 British Amateur On Westward Ho Links

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 28 (A.P.).—Next year's British amateur golf championship will be played at the North Devon Club at Westward Ho, probably beginning May 25.

The 1931 open championship will be played at Carnoustie, Forfarshire, a Scotch golfing center, from which many great golfers have gone to fame in the game. The open probably will begin June 15.

Announcement of the choice of venues for the two championships was made today by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, governing body of British golf.

Terry's Four Hits Win For Giants Over Phillies

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Bill Terry went on a hitting rampage today to give the Giants the 5-to-4 decision over the Phillies. He drove out four hits, two of which were home runs, and sent in the winning run in the ninth with a sacrifice fly.

The offensive tactics of the Giants' first baseman gave Jim Chaplin the shade in the pitchers' duel with Earl Collard. Terry has now hit safely in 15 straight games, getting 28 hits in 60 times at bat for an average of .467.

35,000 See American End Encounter With Smash to Ribs.

Scott Is Target From Start; Unable to Land Heavy Blow.

By FRANK H. KING.

WIMBLEDON STADIUM, London, England, July 28 (A.P.). Whatever hopes England had for a world heavyweight champion were blasted tonight by the sledging fists of William L. (Young) Stribling, prize of Georgia. The Macon youngster knocked out Phil Scott, gangling British title holder, in two rounds and did it so thoroughly that as far as England is concerned, the career of their champion is closed.

A record crowd of 35,000 saw Stribling belt Falling Phil to the floor four times in the first round and polish him off in the second with a smashing left hook to the ribs. Stribling completely outclassed the Briton in the ten-round engagement that was billed for the "championship of the world." And as a crowning anti-climax to England's pugilistic hopes, stout old Joe Beckett clambered through the ropes after the knockout and challenged the winner to battle with a bet of 500 pounds sterling on the side.

Scott at least had the satisfaction of not being counted out on his back. The American's final smash, tearing through Phillip's loose defense, caught him full in the ribs with terrific force and sent the Englishman twisting to the canvas. He quickly raised himself to a position on one knee, but there was an agonized expression on his face as he took the full count of ten.

At nine, Scott made a supreme effort, as if to rise, and Stribling, who had fought with tigerish ferocity, had a right-hand punch ready for him. Scott waved his arms in a frantic, hopeless gesture of defense and slipped back on his haunches. He never did get to his feet.

There was no cry of foul to mar the knockout. Stribling left the ring unscarred and cheers greeted his struggle in the passage up the jammed aisle to the dressing room, while boos almost as loud followed Scott, who had failed Britain and himself in his last chance for glory. By tonight's affair, Scott's ring career may be considered closed in this country, while Stribling is regarded as the logical opponent for a world title battle with Max Schmeling.

American Rains Blows on Foe.

Stribling scored his first knockdown within the first minute of fighting in the opening round. Scott was down for five, rose and took a left to the stomach that dropped him for seven, and was down again for a count of nine under a volley of smashes to the head. The bell ending the opening round found Scott again on his knees.

The second round lasted a minute. Scott tried to fight, punched at Stribling's body, but could not keep off the rushes of the enraged Southerner—a left to the body was the deciding blow.

Crowd of 35,000 Disappointed.

BLUE LARKSPUR LOSES CHANCE TO PASS ZEV'S MARK

Rated Best Horse in Country on Saratoga Weights.

NEW YORK, July 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Racing has lost one of its great horses with the breaking down of Blue Larkspur a few days ago. The loss is a heavy one to E. R. Bradley and to the turf as well. He was on the point of going up to the diamond circle and was running neck and neck with Gallant Fox in their paper chase to overcome Zev, the leading money winner in this country with $313,639.

The Fox of Belair has $274,880 to his credit and Blue Larkspur was on his heels and third on the list with $272,070. He was favorite for the Arlington Handicap of $40,000 when his weak tendon gave way.

The son of Black Servant, Blossom Time ran second in his first start this year, but followed up by beating Misstep, Sun Beau and others in the Stars and Stripes Handicap on July 4. He then carried off the Arlington Cup on July 19 in a convincing way with Petee Wrack, the Suburban Handicap winner, Toro, Sun Beau and Reveille Boy, the American Derby winner, soundly beaten. That purse of $25,200 brought his winnings for the season to $51,650.

Leading Money Horse of 1929.

Blue Larkspur was the leading money winner of 1929 with $153,450, scored largely in the Withers, the Belmont and the Classic. He made a good start as a 2-year-old in 1928 by winning four out of seven races, including the Juvenile, National Stallion and Saratoga Special for a total of $66,970.

Tendon trouble in August last season, when being pointed for the Travers, brought about his retirement, or even now he would be up in the diamond circle where Zev alone stands to date. Dick Thompson brought him back to the races this spring after a long rest in wonderful condition, but the strain on that weak tendon finally was too much. He might again be patched up but in all probability will be definitely retired this time.

Honored by Weights at Saratoga.

In assigning weights for the Saratoga Handicap, Walter S. Vosburgh, official handicapper of the Jockey Club, rated Blue Larkspur the best handicap horse in the country—3 pounds better than Diavolo, 6 better than Jack High, his rival of 1929, and world's record holder of the Metropolitan Handicap, and 7 better than Petee Wrack, suburban winner; Sortie, Brooklyn Handicap winner, and Sun Beau. He goes into retirement, then, generally accepted as the best horse in the country with the possible exception of Gallant Fox.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CASANOVA, $7.00, $4.64, $3.82; TANTALIZING, $5.42, $4.14; BABY NOYES, $15.86.

CASANOVA shook off SPAR in first three furlongs, drew into a good lead entering stretch, but tired in the final furlong and was under a hard drive to hold TANTALIZING safe. TANTALIZING improved position gradually, went wide on stretch turn and, continuing wide in the run home, could not quite overtake the winner. BABY NOYES saved ground on inside, closed ground and finished well. MOUTHPIECE tired. ENTICE and BROOM STREET closed a big gap from a slow beginning. SPAR set early pace, but could not keep up.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $2,000; claiming. Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 2:50. Off at 2:51½. Winner, Le Mar Stock Farm's b. g. (7), by Wrack—Wingold. Trained by R. T. Watts. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $350; third, $175; fourth, $75. Time, 4:08.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PROFITEER, $6.96, $3.66, $2.54; WOODY, $4.82, $3.14; ZERMATT, $2.38.

PROFITEER jumped fairly well and, always possessing much the best speed on the flat, disposed of BROOM WRACK and, despite finishing tired, kept WOODY safe. WOODY was also saved to nearing the final turn of the field, jumped well, but was unable to get to the winner. ZERMATT had no mishaps and went fairly well throughout. BROOM WRACK jumped in good style, took early lead, but tired badly after a bad mile and a half. FOUR COURTS lacked speed. ASTRONOMY was always out of it. MYRTHUS was going well when he fell at the tenth obstacle.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:23. Off at 3:28. Winner, O. Torrell's b. f. (3), by Ladkin—Susie. Trained by C. H. Trotter. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:49 4-5, 1:17.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARGARET SCOTT, $19.86, $12.36, $7.26; KULAMAN, $23.20, $8.90; THE TARTAR, $5.36.

MARGARET SCOTT raced on inside, gradually improving her position and, coming with a rush in the stretch, wore down leaders, getting up in final strides in goulfinish. KULAMAN showed fine speed pace to last eighth, wore down and headed THUNDER CALL, but weakened right at end. THE TARTAR closed some ground on the outside in the final quarter. SHIFT showed a dull effort. THUNDER CALL set a good pace to midway of home stretch before tiring. SANDY MAN had early speed, but was done in the stretch. DODGSON always was outrun.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:57½. Off at 3:57½. Winner, Mrs. R. Pollard's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—COG AIR, $5.98, $3.02, $2.94; HOT SHOT, $3.52, $3.14; MORSUN, $4.14.

COG AIR, always in closest pursuit of HOT SHOT after shaking off MORSUN leaving the back stretch and, continuing well, gamely wore down HOT SHOT in the final furlong and won going away. HOT SHOT opened up a good early lead, went well and retained it to the stretch before tiring and could not match the winner's challenge. MORSUN raced forwardly, had no mishaps and was under strong pressure all the way. GRACIOUS GIFT showed scant speed and put forth a dull performance under poor handling.

FIFTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,800; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:28. Off at 4:29½. Winner, R. S. Clark's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—GALLADAY, $9.14, $4.78, $3.14; FAIR BALL, $5.06, $3.52; DOCTOR FREELAND, $3.20.

GALLADAY, favored by light impost, had the most speed throughout, began tiring rapidly in the final furlong and was under strong pressure, but outlasted FAIR BALL. FAIR BALL, close up, was gaining on the winner through the final quarter, slowly but surely, and finished strongly. SEARINGTON, off to a bad start in the final drive, FOUND wearing down DOCTOR FREELAND, but failed to get up in the final jump. BEAMING OVER lacked speed and was badly outrun. JEANNE WACHS tired.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,800; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:58. Off at 5:03. Winner, F. F. Brant's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—EQUATION, $6.26, $4.42, $3.14; SWEET VERBENA, $42.34, $11.06; MISS BESS, $3.92.

EQUATION showed speed from the start, finally raced FLAG TIME into defeat and, continuing strongly in final drive, repulsed SWEET VERBENA gamely and won by safe margin. SWEET VERBENA improved position on inside, gaining gradually and, making a game effort in the stretch, easily bested remainder for place. MISS BESS closed a good pace from a slow beginning and finished fast. WHISKERY lacked speed and showed a dull effort. JEAN LAFITTE tired. FLAG TIME forced pace first six furlongs, came wide on the turn and was done in the stretch.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 5:33. Off at 5:36. Winner, Valley Lake Stable's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—NANCY SETH, $37.96, $16.16, $10.32; SETH'S BALLOT, $7.76, $6.10; ROYAL CHARGE, $6.00.

NANCY SETH went up rapidly on inside in first half mile to an easy lead and won going as rider pleased. SETH'S BALLOT raced forwardly from the start, saved much ground and held on well to the end. ROYAL CHARGE steadily improved his position and closed fast in the final drive on the outside. QUIBBLER was nearly left at the post and closed an immense gap. FIFF RAFF could never get up. SCONE had early speed and tired. SIR JOHN K was done after three-quarters.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 6:06. Off at 6:07. Winner, J. J. Greely's ch. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DEVON, $6.02, $3.44, $2.64; SEARINGTON, $3.78, $2.62; ORMONBIRD, $2.16.

DEVON came fast on the outside entering stretch and, overhauling the leaders, passed SEARINGTON reaching the last furlongs, outgaming latter in the final drive. SEARINGTON was used up racing ORMONBIRD into defeat and after taking a lead, tired when the winner challenged. ORMONBIRD, on outside, went well for six furlongs, then was done. PLUMBAGO tired early. HONEY GROVE quit after showing early speed.

MID-ATLANTIC PROS QUALIFY FOR P. G. A. TOURNEY

25 Will Seek Two Places Today

Low Scores Expected With Sun-Baked Fairways.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

GOLF professionals in the Middle Atlantic section will compete today on the Indian Spring course in a 36-hole medal play qualification round for eligibility to play in the annual championship of the Professional Golfers Association of America, which will be held September 8-13 at the Fresh Meadow Country Club, Flushing, Long Island.

Although there will be approximately 25 entries, only two qualifiers are allowed from this section, and as the annual event is the Mecca of all professional golfers, there will be a lively contest to win the coveted positions. In the absence of A. F. Bergman, secretary of the Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers Association, who is out of the city on his vacation, no pairings were announced last night, but the partners will be selected this morning by drawing the names.

The Indian Spring course was well filled yesterday with golf professionals playing a practice round, and owing to the baked fairways and the fact that the greens were holding a pitched ball, low scores were generally reported.

Dave Thomson
Shoots 70.

If Dave Thomson, of the Washington Golf and Country Club, can repeat today his performance of yesterday, he will undoubtedly qualify, for yesterday he led all his competitors with a fine score of 36—34—70, one stroke under par, despite the fact that he three-putted the seventeenth green. He lipped the cup for an eagle 3 on the long sixteenth and easily scored a birdie 4. His card:

Out..... 4 4 4 4 4 4 5 4 3—36
In..... 3 3 4 4 3 5 4 4 4—34—70

"Sandy" Armour, of the Congressional Country Club, although he did not keep his card, had an approximate 70, and Ralph Beach, formerly of Chevy Chase and Burning Tree and now with the Suburban Club Baltimore, was close behind with 71, being tied at that figure with A. B. Thorn, of the Woodmont Club. Mel Shorey, East Potomac Park, had 72; R. C. McKimmie, Army, Navy and Marine Corps Club, 73; Al Treder, Manor, 74, and A. L. Houghton, unattached, 78.

Shorey and Beach
Out in 34.

Both Shorey and Beach were out in 34 but failed to hold their advantage on the inward nine. Houghton was off his game, scoring 40 for the outward nine and taking 38 for the return journey, despite a birdie 3 on the eleventh hole. There were a number of Baltimore players but Carroll McMasters, Rolling Road; Glenn Spencer, Maryland Country Club; Charles P. Betschler, Rodgers Forge, and other leading Baltimore contestants were absent yesterday.

The outcome of today's battle will in the main depend upon the largest number of single putts which will enable the player to secure birdies. Drives of almost phenomenal length were common in yesterday's practice rounds, so that second shots to the greens on the par 4 holes were simple mashie niblick strokes. It must be remembered, however, that today there will be no conceded putts and that the pencil and the score card are handicaps which even expert players find it difficult to overcome.

Bowen Breaks Finnish Record at 200 Meters

Helsingfors, July 28 (A.P.).—Pete Bowen, short-distance running star of the American Track and Field Team competing here, won the 200-meter dash today in 21.6 seconds, setting a new Finnish record. Bowen won the 100 and 400 meter events.

In the 200 meters Akilles Jarvinen, Finland, was second in 21.9 with three other Finns, Asirom, Koponen and Mattila, bringing up the rear.

Stephen Anderson, of the University of Washington, another of the invading American stars, won the 110-meter high hurdles in 14.8 with Sjostedt, Finland, second.

Paul Vonckx, of Harvard, was beaten in the hammer throw by Ericksson, of Finland, who made a heave of 47.93 meters or 157 feet 3 5-128 inches. Vonckx whirled the hammer 47.48 meters or 155 feet 9 3-128 inches.

Stella Walsh to Run For Poland This Fall

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Stella Walsh, girl sprinting star from Cleveland, will not forfeit her right to represent the United States in the Olympic games in 1932 by representing Poland in European meets this year, the Amateur Athletic Union learned today.

Cablegrams were received from the International Amateur Athletic Federation and also the women's organization to that effect.

The news was forwarded at once to Miss Walsh, who came here last week to sail for the European meets, but refused to do so and returned to Cleveland when the A. A. U. was not able to give definite assurance that she would not endanger her right to represent the United States in the Olympics.

Cleveland, July 28 (A.P.).—Stella Walsh, fastest girl runner, said here today she will compete for Poland in a track meet at Prague, Czechoslovakia, early in September. She said she did not know how soon she would sail.

RISKO BOUT DELAYED.

Philadelphia, July 28 (A.P.).—The Johnny Risko and Ernie Schaaf bout set for tonight at the Municipal Stadium here has been postponed until next Monday night, August 4, because of threatening weather.

$50,000 Offer Made Thompson for Match

Cleveland, Ohio, July 28 (A.P.).—An offer of $50,000 to Jack Thompson, Los Angeles Negro, world welterweight boxing champion, to meet Tommy Freeman, of Cleveland, in a title bout of fifteen rounds here the last week of August or the first week of September, was taken under consideration tonight by Ray Alvis, Thompson's manager.

The offer was made by Tommy McGinty, manager of Freeman, at a conference with Alvis today.

STRIBLING STOPS SCOTT IN SECOND

up of rain, mist and sunshine of a summer evening for the ten-round bout ballyhooed as the heavyweight championship of the Old World. The crowd seemed particularly disappointed that Scott did not take the count on his back, although the Englishman appeared trying hard to rise on one knee at the count of nine.

Stribling's victory, coming on the heels of his sensational one-round knockout of Otto von Porat in Chicago several weeks ago, shot the young Georgian back into the limelight he shared with the outstanding heavyweights when he fought and lost to Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach two years ago. The Macon mauler now is in position to demand a return duel with Sharkey, who won from Scott on a technical knockout, but under questionable circumstances that involved a cry of foul at Miami last winter.

Max Schmeling, who won the heavyweight championship on a foul from Sharkey in New York, was invited to attend tonight's match and receive the challenge of the winner, but he was not at the ringside. The Stribling forces are expected to challenge Schmeling to a title match immediately.

Gate Crashers
Use Ladders.

The Prince of Wales, who is always at such affairs as this, was at Portsmouth tonight.

The ringside arena was generously sprinkled with brood expanses of stiff shirt fronts beaming in the evening sunshine that showed now and then. The rows of silk hats down front did nothing to better the view of those farther back. Indians in turban head dresses and Americans who braved the fickleness of an English summer evening in straw hats contributed to the cosmopolitan character of the crowd.

As darkness fell the gate crashers outside the arena, apparently prepared and waiting for their opportunity, threw long ladders against the outside walls and climbed to the roofs of the stands.

Win and Hurry Home, "Ma" Advised Stribling

Thomasville, Ga., July 28 (A.P.).—Young Stribling took his mother's advice tonight when he knocked out Phil Scott.

"Hit him like you did Von Porat and hurry home," Mrs. Stribling cabled him Saturday. "Ma" Stribling was in Thomasville today and listened to the Associated Press reports of the fight. She said she was nervous during the battle, but she showed no signs of it.

"Young" Stribling and his father-manager will leave England at once, she said, and will return to Georgia as soon as they can get away from New York.

PLAYGROUND MEET TO JOHNSON

Powell Defeated by 10 Points; Sweeney, Cassassa Star.

A DROPPED stick in the relay race, the last event of the day, cost the Howell Playground Track Team the opportunity to overhaul the Johnson Playground Team, and the latter was returned the winner, 36½ to 26½. At the start of the relay, Johnson was only 5 points ahead, and when Powell's Team took the lead, the possibility of a tie loomed.

In the exchange of sticks between the third and anchor man on the Powell Team, however, the stick was dropped and Schultz gained too great a lead to be overcome.

Scoring honors were divided between Chump Sweeney, of Johnson, and Charley Cassassa, of Powell, who scored 18 and 17 points, respectively. Sweeney won the 100, 220 yard dashes and the shot put and placed second in the shot put. Cassassa won the discus and shot put, scored second in the broad and high jumps and placed third in the 220-yard dash.

The summariese:

220-YARD DASH—Won by Sweeney (Johnson); second, Schultz (Johnson); third, C. Cassassa (Powell). Time, 0:24.

880-YARD RUN—Won by Admire (Johnson); second, Loftus (Powell); third, W. Albert (Powell). Time, 2:17.

Giant Athlete Barred At Navy; "Too Large"

Annapolis, Md., July 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Youths who seek admission to the Naval Academy may be too big and powerful, much to the disappointment of the football and other coaches, as proved by a recent incident.

A youth weighing 225 pounds and 6 feet 4 inches in height, who had passed his mental examinations, was rejected physically for no other reason than that his poundage was too great. He was of athletic build and had taken part in football and other sports at high school. This youth is now trying to have his disability waived, and has excellent chances of success.

Moreover, rowing under the sun of midsummer, which is part of the first year requirements, would probably bring him within the limits. A candidate of even greater weight was also rejected physically, but the reason was color-blindness.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, July 28.—Radio Station WJSV will broadcast the banquet to be tendered the American Legion Juniors, champions of Virginia, next Wednesday night, it was stated by the committee in charge today.

A delegation from the Legion will journey to Washington today and try and arrange for President Clark Griffith, of the Washington American League club, Manager Walter Johnson and several of the players to attend the affair.

On Thursday, the American Legion Juniors, will play the Post 24 team in a benefit game to raise funds to buy equipment. Plans for this game were mapped out at the finance committee meeting last night. The equipment fund total has reached $43.50.

Capt. George Wood tendered the players of the St. Mary's Celtics a crab feast at his home last night.

The Colonial Athletic club gained first place in the midget league today when they walloped the White Sox, 8-7. Safelle was the winning pitcher.

Manager Sam De Vaughan of the Cardinal Athletic club is anxious to book a game with the Bauserman A. C., for next Sunday afternoon in Arlington. De Vaughan hopes to complete terms for this game by Wednesday.

First round matches in the Municipal tennis junior tournament will be played today. Bill Moncure will referee the events. The senior matches will probably start next Tuesday. The pairings follow: Roland Goode—bye; Francis Hepburn vs. Sigmund Bernheimer; W. H. Duty vs. Burton Fitton; Harvey Florence vs. Martin Petersilla; Charlie Nicholson vs. Jimmy Bruin; Tommy Fairfax—bye; Henry Pierce vs. J. E. Taylor; Russell Smith.

Roland Goode, Russell and Tommy Fairfax have been seeded as 1, 2, 3, players. Goode won the championship in 1929.

Start Comeback
Against Macks.

The Nationals traveled yesterday, draw a blank today, and start on a comeback attempt tomorrow with the leading Mackmen as their guests, with another single game with the A's listed in the Griffith stadium on Thursday. In the final against the White Sox on Sunday, the Johnsons gave indications of having come out of their slump, not so much by the fact that they won easily but that they showed their old-time spirit while doing so.

Manush is back in the game and gradually regaining his strength in his injured leg and the Nats to a man are expressing confidence that they will make up for lost time during the next few weeks. They realize that, if they are to do anything, they must do it now, for the time is getting short and their closest rivals, the Mackmen and Yankees, will be met in eight of their next ten games.

This is a big order, but if the Nats can fill it they will put themselves very much back in the running, for most pennants are won by teams knocking off their closest competitors.

Johnson Sees
Slump's End.

Manager Johnson is confident that his team is out of its slump, basing his contention on the fact that the spirits of his men have been rising steadily and that the team looked like itself, both mechanically and mentally, in its last game, for the first time in many days. There is no question but what the Nats did look better in this contest and, should they manage to take both games from the Mackmen here tomorrow and Thursday, there is hardly a doubt but what they may be depended upon to pick up where they left off in Boston early this month, for the reaction from victories over the league leaders should prove to be just the kind of tonic they need to get them back in fighting trim.

The Mackmen and Yankees played yesterday and are due to meet again today while the Nationals are idling. The Macks will be called upon to face "General" Alvin Crowder tomorrow, with Irving Hadley drawing the mound assignment on Thursday.

Despite the fact that the Nats are pretty well worn out as a result of their battles during terrific heat spells in Cleveland, St. Louis and Chicago, Manager Johnson has issued a call for all to report for a workout at the Georgia avenue plant at 10 o'clock this morning.

Sir Martin, Famous Sire, Destroyed at 24

Lexington, Ky., July 28 (A.P.).—Sir Martin, 24 years old, noted thoroughbred sire, owned by the late John E. Madden, was destroyed today on the Hamburg Place Farm because of an injury the horse received Saturday.

Sir Martin was pensioned under the will of Madden. The horse was the only American-bred colt ever to be favorite for the English Derby. He fell while rounding the famous Tattenham corner and never finished. He was buried in Madden's famous horse cemetery with his sire, Imp Ogden, and his dam, Lady Sterling.

Indians Rally in Ninth To Beat Tigers, 7 to 6

Cleveland, Ohio, July 28 (A.P.).—Cleveland Indians pulled a sensational ninth-inning rally to beat out the Detroit Tigers in the series' opener here today, 7 to 6.

Pitcher Elon Hogsett, of Detroit, broke a 5-5 tie in the first of the ninth with a home run over the right-field wall, after he succeeded Uhle on the mound, but was bombarded for two runs in the last half of the inning. Outfielder Porter doubled to send the tying and winning runs across, after J. Sewell walked and Pitcher Jablonowski singled.

Ederle, Now Near Deafness, Says It Wasn't Worth While

By LORENA HICKOK.

RYE, N. Y., July 28 (A.P.).—She teaches swimming in a boardwalk pool, a bronzed young woman with a determined grin.

Unless you raise your voice she can not hear you and looks at you with an expression that has in it embarrassment, bewilderment, fear.

Across the back of her bathing suit is lettered:

"Ederle."

Four years ago this August Gertrude Ederle swam the English channel and came home to receive a Broadway welcome, congratulatory messages from President Coolidge and Gov. Smith and vaudeville offers that were said at the time to amount to nearly $1,000,000.

Today she pushed her hair back behind her ears—a gesture that has become characteristic since she began to lose her hearing two years ago as the result of those fourteen hours in the English Channel—and said, a little wistfully:

"It wasn't worth while.

Not Sorry.

"I'm not sorry I did it. Only—if I'd known how it was going to be, that I'd lose my hearing—I don't think I'd have done it. It—it wasn't worth it."

Four years ago Gertrude Ederle rode up the bay on the Macom and up Broadway in an open car while crowds cheered and ticker tape and paper snow filled the air.

"Sometimes I kind of wonder if all that really happened to me," she said slowly.

"But sometimes at dances the orchestra plays 'Let Me Call You Sweetheart,' the song I kept humming while I was in the channel—the song the bands played when I came home.

"And then it all sort of comes back over me again, and I have to sneak away or somebody will see me cry."

Was Totally Deaf
Last Winter.

A year ago last fall, at the end of two years in vaudeville, Gertrude's hearing began to fail. Last winter she could not hear at all. It is better now, but already her voice has begun to take on the flat quality that the voices of the deaf have.

"The doctors say it was the swim that did it," she said, "plus those two terribly strenuous years when I was in the water too much and never had any chance to rest."

When Gertrude came back from Europe there were many stories about the large sums of money she was to receive for this and that and of the rise of the Ederle family to affluence and luxury.

Those things didn't materialize. Henry Ederle, her father, still runs his provision store. The Ederles still live in the Bronx and Gertrude teaches swimming in a boardwalk pool at Rye. She'd like a job at some New York club next winter.

"I did earn about $150,000 in vaudeville," she said, "but I get less than $50,000 of it myself. I'm not kicking. It was just my hard luck. No one gypped me, but those two years on the road cost an awful lot.

"All I got out of my vaudeville earnings and didn't have to spend on my ears I've invested. But it isn't enough. And, anyway, I'm only 24. You can't just quit when you're 24.

"What I'd like would be for some one to build a pool and maybe name it after me and let me be head instructor there. But I guess it would be pretty hard to get any backing now."

Cops Make Hits Count To Lick Ft. Humphreys

Although outhitting its opponents only 11 to 9, the District Police Team yesterday swamped the Fort Humphreys Nine under a 17-5 score on the Fort Humphreys diamond. After the soldiers had gained a 5-3 lead in the fourth, the cops went on a spree in the fifth inning to score six times and take a lead which was never overcome.

Spiess, Hoffman and Sine took an equal hand in the swatting, each driving out two safe blows. Spiess connected for a double, while the latter two banged out triples in addition to singles.

HIGHER GRADE RAIL, UTILITY BONDS RISE

American Phone 5s and Few Carriers Reach New 1930 High Ground.

MEXICAN ISSUES STRONG

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—High-grade railroad and utility bonds again demonstrated their sensitiveness to even a nominal inquiry today, advancing in a quiet session.

Despite the lightness of the trading—sales fell below $7,000,000—decided progress was made by certain bonds in both the domestic and foreign sections. Strength of communications issues and another rally in the Mexican listings were evidenced.

American Telephone debentures 5s of 1965 were buoyant, climbing to a new high at 106½, under extensive accumulation, and were joined in the advance by Illinois Bell Telephone 5s, New England Telephone 5s, Postal Telegraph 5s, International Telephone 5s, and Western Union issues.

While the movement of railroad bonds was tinged by some easiness, a majority maintained a firm trend and some issues appreciated to the best figures of the year. Among the latter were Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Lehigh Valley 4½s, Michigan Central 4½s, Missouri-Kan-Texas 4s B, and Reading Co. 4½s.

Weakness and strength were shown by stock privilege issues. The reaction in Warner Brothers stock was reflected in the movement of the 6 per cent convertible bond. In a fairly large turnover, the issue fell off nearly 3 points. Share privilege utilities ran true to the trend of stocks, American Telephone 4½s climbing 2 points and International Telephone 4½s 1. Atchison 4½s made the best showing among carrier convertibles, gaining more than a point, while bonds in this group of the Baltimore & Ohio, Rock Island, and St. Paul sold off fractionally.

Trading in foreign bonds was light. The only feature was the marked strength of the Mexicans in thin trading. The government bonds rose from 1½ to nearly 4 points. Railway issues were less active but strong, with the assented 4½ of 1957 and assented 4 of 1951 gaining fractionally to reach their best figures of the year. Both the government and railway issues are covered by the new agreement reached by the government and the bankers. Standard governments held firm in light trading. Belgian 6½s reached a new high.

Treasury issues were irregular in dull trading.

Curb Review

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—The Curb Market began the new week with an irregular upturn led by one of the sharpest advances in the utilities in weeks. Trading continued in small volume and predominantly professional, sales aggregating 405,600 shares.

The advance in the utilities had the earmarks of short covering and appeared to be largely in sympathy with a retreat of the bears in that group on the big board. Such issues as Americn Superpower, United Light A and U. S. Electric Power gained a point or so. Electric Bond & Share was an active feature, rising 3¼ to a new high for the movement at 87½, but closing at 86¼. American and Foreign Power warrants rose 3, and American Gas & Electric, 4.

Some of the investment company issues were active and firm. Prudential, in which Boston interests are prominent, rose ½ point in greater activity than has been in this issue in some time. Corporation securities of Chicago and Insull issue rose some 2 points, United Founders was firm, getting above 18 again. Goldman Sachs rose ⅝, then lost its gain. Chemical National eased in profit taking.

Ulen & Co. was a firm feature in the industrials and specialties, rising 3 points to a new high for the movement at 24. Deere & Gleaner Combine rose 2, and Columbia Pictures more than 3.

Oils were sluggish. Active features were Cities Service and Houston new, the former losing ¼, net, and the latter gaining ¼. Gulf advanced 1½ in a few sales.

There were further sharp breaks among the infrequently traded issues. French Line dropped 11 to a new bottom at 26½. Carrier Engineering tumbled 7 to 30, and Canadian Industrial Alcohol A and Stein & Co. dropped about 3 to new lows.

CLAIRVOYANTS

CLAIRVOYANT THE MAN WHO KNOWS

608 12th St. N.W.

Over Woolworth's 5c & 10c Store

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—The largest receipts of wheat so far this season in Chicago and the greatest ever in Omaha did much today to pull down the values of all cereals.

The price-breaking effect was intensified by the circumstance that the United States wheat visible supply today increased much more than expected, being augmented 14,503,000 bushels for the last week. This amount greatly exceeded the enlargement either for the week previous or a year ago.

Rain in Iowa and Nebraska, together with indications of a period of widespread moderate temperatures ahead for the corn belt, led to heavy profit taking in the corn market.

Wheat prices closed unsteady at virtually the day's bottom level, 1¾@2 cents a bushel below Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1½@2¾ cents down, oats ½@1 cent off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

Chicago receipts of wheat today totaled 1,261 cars, and Omaha's record was 1,481 cars. These figures went hand in hand with assertions from trade authorities that the volume of wheat in sight and in prospect is more than sufficient for world needs.

Not much new export business in wheat from North America was apparent, and nearly half a million bushels here had to be put in store. It was pointed out that although the movement of wheat from rural sources Southwest was showing curtailment, the Central States were marketing freely, with spring wheat pressure likely to increase to a material extent as the spring-crop harvest was becoming general.

Corn at first showed stubborn resistance to increased selling pressure, and many new buyers were basing action on reports of heavy crop damage already done by drought and excessive heat. However, the advances in price today for corn failed to hold well as against likelihood of general relief from further damage by the prolonged hot wave.

The fact that the corn market had risen 16 cents a bushel in the last three weeks also was an incentive to sellers, notwithstanding that Saturday and Sunday were extremely hard days on the corn crop, temperatures being the highest yesterday of any day so far.

At the inside, corn prices today showed a maximum drop of 3¼ cents a bushel below Saturday's finish, but were rallying somewhat in the final transactions. Oats were affected chiefly by the action of other grains.

Provisions closed somewhat firmer, helped by the fact that the arrivals of hogs at Western points were fewer than was the case a week ago or at this time last year.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—September, 88⅝@88¾; 90⅝@90½; December, 93½@93⅝, 95⅞@96; March, 98⅜, 1.00⅝. Corn—July (bids), 83½; September, 93½, 86⅜@86⅞; December, 77½@77⅝, 81½@81⅝.

CAPITAL OFFICIALS PLANNING SHAKEUP OF CITY'S METHODS

Commissioners, After Visit at Camp With Hoover, Will Reorganize.

FISCAL RELATIONSHIP WITH U. S. IS PROBLEM

Preparation of Estimates, Division of Authority Are to Be Studied.

Thorough reorganization of the administrative machinery of the District will be undertaken by the District Commissioners as a result of their visit with President Hoover at his fishing camp on the Rapidan River over the last week-end.

Taxation, fiscal relations between the Federal and municipal governments, development of a long-term program for public works, traffic, relationship between the District government and the State agencies functioning in nearby Maryland and Virginia, are among the things which are listed for consideration in connection with the effort to bring about a betterment of existing machinery for the conduct of the affairs of the National Capital.

Improvement in the method of preparing the municipal estimates, including possibly the creation of a new office in the District government, is another subject which will be gone into and may find its way in the form of a definite recommendation in the Commissioners' program.

Another subject which will receive serious consideration is the authority of the Commissioners. There is in law at present division of authority in many instances. Some division of authority undoubtedly will be considered as necessary, as, for example, the separation of public utilities matters from control of the Commissioners and lodgment of that task with the Utilities Commission.

Traffic Authority Now Divided.

One instance where the Commissioners probably will not agree that a divided authority works for efficiency is in the present traffic law. This makes the traffic director responsible for all regulations. But the Commissioners can disapprove anything the director recommends and set his recommendations at naught. On the other hand, the Commissioners can not direct the traffic director to do anything.

There are other instances. The most important are found in new agencies created in recent years by Congress and made independent of the Commissioners. These include the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, broad extension of the authority of the officer in charge of public buildngs and grounds, and others.

What President Hoover said to them at the Rapidan Camp was kept secret by the Commissioners yesterday when they returned to their desks. Any information on the subject would have to come from the White House, they said.

President Hoover did not go into any lengthy discussion of details of District affairs, it was learned, however. The President did make it clear that he is anxious that everything possible be done to bring about adoption of a forward-looking program of public works and improvement of laws and regulations where necessary.

President Hoover several times has expressed his keen interest in the development of the National Capital and it is known that he is desirous of having worked out a definite settlement of the fiscal relations question. He does not want this question continually bobbing up whenever District legislation is under consideration. But he laid down no figures for the Commissioners and confined himself to general principles, it is understood.

May Draft Needs for City.

One plan which was suggested as a possible course for the Commissioners was to draft a comprehensive statement of the needs of the city. This program would contain first, a statement of those things which Washington would need if it were an ordinary city of its size without being the seat of the government. Its parks, public buildings, street improvements and other things would be estimated on such a basis.

A second and amplifying statement would add to the first statement those things which are necessary because the city is the National Capital. In this group would be included the unusual development of parks, streets, water and sewer systems, services afforded contiguous Maryland and Virginia, and similar things. Not only would this second and amplifying program of public works contain those things which should be done but which would not be done if Washington were not the National Capital, but it would also make allowance for the extra cost of strictly municipal works because of the National character of the city. The proposed costly municipal center was cited as an instance.

Somewhere between these two would be found the happy medium, and the question of Federal appropriations could be settled on that basis. District officials feel that, under present conditions, the $9,000,000 Federal appropriation is too ubiquitous and might be described as the most widely spread $9,000,000 ever appropriated by Congress, inasmuch as it is pointed to by members of Congress as proving that the Federal Treasury has contributed adequately for almost any public work which might be under discussion.

This plan, however, was not urged by President Hoover at the Rapidan camp, it was said.

District to Pay $3,116 In Condemnation Case

A condemnation jury appointed by the District Supreme Court to appraise the value of property in square 3523, which the District of Columbia needs for enlargement of McKinley High School and the Langley Junior High School, yesterday filed its award with Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat.

The jury decided that the District must pay $3,116, and awarded commensurate damages to five property holders. The jury consisted of Harry A. Karr, Malcolm W. Morgan, Myer Schafer, Edward L. Bacher and Ferdinand Waldman.

Architect Flies Bankruptcy Plea.

Louis R. Rouleau, an architect, with offices in the Investment Building, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to adjudge him a bankrupt. Rouleau, through Attorney Fred J. Rice, lists liabilities of $23,514.93, and assets of $450.

STUDENT SOLDIERS GREETED AT WHITE HOUSE

ROTARY TURN BAN FAVORED BY CROSBY

Commissioner Backs Action of Subcommittee on Traffic Control.

ELDRIDGE RAPS MOVE

Abolition of the rotary left turn for traffic at controlled street intersections was approved by Commissioner Herbert B. Crosley, yesterday in commenting on the action of a subcommittee of the commissioners traffic committee council now at work studying revision of the District traffic laws and their administration.

The sub-committee voted three to one to approve the left-hand turn for controlled intersections now in use at other than controlled intersections. This is the so-called "Hoover turn" and was urged for adoption by all cities by the national traffic committee named by Mr. Hoover when he was Secretary of Commerce to bring about uniformity of traffic control and regulations throughout the country.

Washington and Cleveland are the only two large cities which have the rotary left turn at intersections. All other large cities employ the left turn whereby vehicles get as close to the center of the intersection as possible when making a left hand turn.

Formal report of the subcommittee's action on the rotary turn has not been made to the Commissioners and will not be until the full report of the combined traffic advisory committee and council is submitted. This report is not expected before October, according to Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, chairman of the committee.

M. O. Eldridge, assistant traffic director, who was the one member of the subcommittee to vote in favor of retention of the rotary turn, said yesterday that he will submit a minority report as a matter of principle. Experience, Mr. Eldridge said, has demonstrated that the rotary turn is superior to the Hoover turn, and the argument for uniformity can not outweigh the importance of safety.

Several changes in existing regulations are expected to be recommended by the Commissioners' traffic committee. Traffic lights have been a sore subject in many quarters, and the committee undoubtedly will have something to say on the question of parking, especially in view of the recommendation of the committee named by Col. U. S. Grant 3d for prohibition of night parking of automobiles.

Deaths of Two Men Accidental, Jury Holds

A coroner's jury yesterday rendered a verdict of accidental death in two cases. One of them was in connection with William Banks, colored, 68 years old, of Hobart street near Georgia avenue northwest, who was injured last Friday while delivering groceries on Rock Creek Church road near Georgia avenue. He was overcome by the heat and struck his head when he fell, dying several days later.

The other man, Wesley Hall, colored, 34 years old, of Levy street near Sixteenth street northeast, was injured while repairing an elevator at the Edmonds Art Stone Co., on Queens Chapel road near Bladensburg road. He died at Emergency Hospital Friday.

Man Held to Grand Jury In Arson, Assault Case

William H. Sawyer, Negro, was ordered held for grand jury action yesterday in Police Court, Judge Isaac R. Hitts fixing bond at $5,000 on charges of arson and assault. A young colored woman who lives at an Eighth street address near Barry place northwest, told the court that she surprised the man rummaging about her home, and that when he espied her he bound and gagged her.

Later firemen were called to the home to extinguish a blaze and rescued the girl.

Painter Falls on Auto To Street, Is Unhurt

A freak accident in which a painter was hurled from a ladder onto the top of a passing automobile which struck him, and tumbled him to the pavement without injury, occurred yesterday afternoon at a house at Georgia avenue and Barry place northwest.

The painter was Louis Reed, 40 years old, of 6433 Eighth street northwest. Reed, according to Eighth Precinct police, was painting the side of the house on the Barry place side when a machine driven by a woman struck the end of the ladder at the curb of the narrow thoroughfare. Reed fell against the side of the car's top and to the street. He declined medical aid.

SMITH CONTROL HIT IN OUSTER PETITION

Bond Holders Request Court to Replace Henry et. al. in Apartment Row.

THREE BUILDINGS CITED

The Cedric Apartments at Fourteenth and Upshur streets, the Stanley Arms at 1125 Twelfth street northwest and the Al Roy Apartments at 1615 Kenyon street northwest yesterday became involved in litigation that has enmeshed the F. H. Smith Co. since recent indictments returned by the grand jury.

A newly organized committee for protection of the holders of bonds sold through the Smith Co. are plaintiffs in actions filed yesterday in District Supeme Court. In each instance the plaintiffs seeks to remove Samuel J. Henry, former president of the company, the Smith Co. and Smith Co.'s subsidiaries from control of the three apartment buildings.

In each of the suits its alleged that the committee has the equitable title in all bonds deposited by the holders and that it brings the suits only for protection of the securities.

Charge is made that Henry, the Smith Co. and the Smith Selling Co. are not proper parties to hold the properties either as depository, selling agents or trustee and the court is asked to remove them from their respective positions. Appointment of satisfactory persons to fill each of the positions is asked.

One-Year Padlock On Premises Asked

Closing of New York Avenue Building Under Dry Law Demanded.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Assistant United States Attorney Harold W. Orcutt yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to padlock for one year, under provisions of the National prohibition act, premises at 67 New York avenue northeast.

John Henry Schrader, alias Jack Schrader, May Spicer and Charles Russell Pulliam are named as tenants, while John B. Buckley is designated as the owner.

Charges against the Spicer woman and Schrader were dropped recently in Police Court when Assistant United States Attorney David A. Hart was informed that the same informer had sworn to two warrants in less than a week and in each instance had described the woman as Jane Doe and pictured her as of different age, different height and different weight. That arrest is mentioned in one of the affidavits signed by police and prohibition agents which supports the petition.

PRESIDENT REVIEWS C. M. T. C. TROOPERS

CAVALRY BAND IS HEARD

President Hoover yesterday reviewed 280 members of the C. M. T. C. cavalry unit at Fort Myer, Va., and 850 Western Pennsylvania boys from the C. M. T. C. camp at Fort Washington, Md. The review took place on the rear lawn of the White House.

The Fort Myer unit, made up of boys from the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland, New York and New Jersey, arrived first and marched on the field headed by Col. Harry N. Cootes, of the Third Cavalry. The Third Cavalry band also headed the delegation.

After the Fort Myer boys had taken their position with their backs to the White House, the Fort Washington contingent arrived under command of Lieut. Col. James Fennimore Cooper, of the 313th Infantry Reserves of Scranton, Pa.

Trip Made on Steamers.

They had made the trip up the Potomac River on two steamers and marched to the White House from the Seventh street wharfs. They faced the Fort Myer contingent, leaving a space between for the President and his party.

An ambulance brought up the rear, but was not called into action despite the terrific heat. The front rank of both outfits was made up of the blues, or fourth year men. These men graduate on Thursday, when they will become eligible for commissions as second lieutenants in the reserve.

Promptly at 12:45 o'clock, the President, accompanied by his military and naval aides, walked from the White House executive offices and took his place in the center of the assembled companies. After brief inspection, he proceeded to the White House and the troops moved off.

In the afternoon, both outfits were the guests of the management of the Fox Theater.

Sladen to Inspect Fort Myer.

This morning the work and progress of the C. M. T. C. unit at Fort Myer will be inspected by Maj. Gen. Fred W. Sladen, commanding the third corps area which includes Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The inspection program will begin at 9:30 o'clock, when Gen. Sladen will be greeted by Col. Harry N. Cootes and escorted to the parade by a mounted detachment of blue students. After the customary salute and review, Gen. Sladen will make a detailed examination of the camp.

This evening an entertainment program will be presented. A jazz band and a play written by students will be among the features.

Woman Cites Desertion As Grounds for Divorce

Gertrude E. Harris, of Longfellow street northwest near Thirteenth street filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court seeking a limited divorce from Frank I. Harris, of Baltimore, Md. The wife asks alimony, custody of two minor children and an injunction restraining the husband from molesting her and the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris were married May 16, 1923 in the District of Columbia. The wife charges the husband with deserting her without cause. She also states that he telephoned her after his departure and suggested that she and the children live with her relatives. Attorney Walter C. Balderston appears for the wife.

Thieves Steal Two Basket Balls.

Two basket balls valued at $6 were stolen from the Dennison School on S street near Fourteenth street northwest, Thomas O'Connor, the janitor, reported to police yesterday. The thieves entered by breaking glass in a side window.

YOUTH'S BACKYARD SWIMMING "HOLE" CLOSED BY POLICE

MONEY WAS ROLLING IN UNDER FEE OF 10 CENTS

Dr. I. Rutkoski, Brother of Builder, Inspected Water in Pond.

The law's hand has dried up Frank Rutkoski's swimmin' hole, and as a result rank anarchy prevails among the neighboring youth. Frank is only 14, but he has big ideas. Weeks of work under a sweltering sun, with old bricks and mortar from a nearby lumber yard, produced a small pool in his yard at 1411 Manchester lane northwest—a bucolic spot in Washington, where the Russian family keeps a cow, chickens, ducks, pigeons, rabbits and a pretentious vegetable garden.

Frank filled the pool with a garden hose connected to the city mains, and after plugging many leaks, took his first swim. For a time just he and his sisters enjoyed the pool, but later dozens of playmates came for daily splashes.

10-cent Fee Charged.

As Frank is a good business man, he saw no reason why he shouldn't collect for the water that he ran into the pool daily. An admission fee of 10 cents was assessed, and for a time business boomed. Then an older boy, who persisted in ducking the smaller fry, despite Frank's "no duckin" sign, was chased from the pool by Frank's mother. The chargined youth reported the business venture, and "the law" told Frank that he must either pay a license or drain the pool. As the family income would not permit added expenditures, the pool was abandoned.

Frank doesn't understand a law that won't let a fellow swim, after all his work on the pool, and he thinks the law has played him a "dirty trick." Wasn't the pool filled each day with clean water, under the supervision of Frank's older brother, Dr. I. Rutkoski?

Protest Meeting Held.

Frank's resentment has spread to his companions, and a mass meeting was in progress yesterday about the empty hole. Under the leadership of a swaggering 11-year-old, the irate group was almost prepared to march on the District Building, to tell "the law" what's what.

Frank confessed he was tempted to "sneak" a little water in the pool yesterday, but as his home is only a stone's throw from the Thirteenth Precinct Station he thought better of it.

Owner of Hotels Here Buys One in Florida

Harrington Mills, owner of the Harrington and Grafton Hotels in this city, Saranac Inn, in the Adirondacks, N. Y., Whiteface Inn, at Lake Placid, N. Y., and the Coquina Hotel at Ormond Beach, Fla., has just purchased the Clarendon Hotel at Daytona Beach, Fla., it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Mills' latest acquisition is a four story structure, containing 225 rooms and facing the ocean. It will be entirely refurnished and conducted under his supervision as a modern winter resort hotel. He purchased the hotel at an unannounced consideration from the Prudence Co., of New York.

Hackmen Robbed Of $9.35 and Taxi

One Held Up in Garage, Another After Driving to Address.

Two more robberies of taxi drivers were reported to police yesterday, the loot of the bandits being $9.35 and a taxi.

Bertrand L. Simmonds, of 320 L street southeast, was robbed of 35 cents by a colored man in an empty garage near Second and B streets northwest. The man got into Simmonds' cab and forced him, at pistol point, to drive to the garage. The gunman drove off in Simmonds' taxi.

Early yesterday morning two colored men entered the cab of Marshall J. Jenkins, of 2 N street southwest at Fifth and G streets northwest. They told him to go to an address in the southwest, and near First and N streets southwest they held him up with a pistol and took $9 from him.

Capital Tree Squatter Passes 120 Hours Aloft

Unperturbed by gathering clouds and the Weather Bureau's prediction of rain, Frank Kilmartin sat in his honey locust tree at Fourteenth and Chapin streets last night, determined to stay up until all tree-sitting records are his.

Frank will have a birthday this Thursday—his eighteenth—and he plans to celebrate it in the tree, with a cake from his mother and the plaudits of his fraternity brothers, who will make merry 40 feet below him. The Centarl High School student ascended the tree at 10:25 last Wednesday night. At that hour last night he had been in his perch exactly 120 hours.

BOY'S HOMEMADE POOL CLOSED

DIVE INJURIES FATAL TO DON L. GRIFFITH

LIMBS WERE PARALYZED

Paralysis of both legs and arms, received in striking bottom in a dive Sunday afternoon in shallow water at Chesapeake Beach, Md., last night proved fatal to Don L. Griffith, 45 years old, of 306 Virginia avenue southeast, head of the printing firm of Griffith Brothers, 810 F street northwest.

He succumbed at Emergency Hospital, where little hope had been held for his recovery. Hospital authorities, pending an X-ray examination, had expressed belief that he had received spinal injuries.

In company with other members of his family, spending the summer at Chesapeake Beach, Griffith received his hurts in a dive from a fishing pier. Upon striking bottom, he rose to the surface in a dazed condition and toppled backwards. Members of his family pulled him ashore, where he was found to have suffered complete paralysis of the limbs. He was removed to the hospital here.

He was a member of the Masonic and Moose orders here, and founded the firm of Griffith Brothers with his brother, Earl Griffith, who later retired from the organization.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Jack and Don Griffith, jr., and a daughter, Dorothy Griffith.

Woodridge Garden Club Plans Gladiolus Show

The Wooldridge Garden Club will hold its fourth annual gladiolus show at the Presbyterian Sunday School Building, Rhode Island avenue and Twenty-second street northwest, today. Prizes will be awarded in eight classes.

The first seven classes are open to all residents within the limits of the territory of the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association, while class 8, competing for the John Poole special award, is open to any gladiolus grower in the city or vicinity.

Sale of Oxford Hotel Fixtures Is Postponed

Sale of furniture and other property in the old Oxford Hotel, at Pennsylvania avenue and Fifteenth street, will be resumed at 9:30 o'clock next Monday, it was announced yesterday afternoon by J. H. Weaver, proprietor of the hotel.

The sale opened yesterday morning, but the response was so poor that a decision was reached to resume the sale at a later date. A few articles were sold yesterday, Mr. Weaver said. The hotel is soon to be razed to make room for the new Federal building program.

Man Held to Grand Jury On Gas Holdup Charge

Charged with holding up a filling station last May 30, Harry Mills was arraigned in Police Court yesterday and ordered held under $1,000 bond for grand jury action. The arraignment was before Judge John P. McMahon.

Mills was identified in court by Paul A. Barbot, of Hyattsville, Md., operator of the station, as one of the two men who held him up and rifled the cash drawer. Barbot estimated the loot as $80.

TREE HALTS TRUCK; YOUNGSTERS SAVED

INTOXICATED, POLICE SAY

Blocking the path of a large transfer truck, a slender oak tree saved a number of children and their parents from possible death in front of the Tilden Hall apartments, at Tilden street and Connecticut avenue northwest, early last night.

Just after the dinner hour, when the lawns in front of the apartment house were thronged with children and their mothers and fathers, the truck came sweeping down Connecticut avenue and turned toward Tilden street, according to witnesses.

The driver of the truck, a colored man, who police reported to be intoxicated, took the turn in such a manner that, after sweeping across Connecticut avenue, he was unable to guide the large vehicle into Tilden street, witnesses said.

The truck hurtled straight for the lawns on which the children were playing. On the corner stood a slender oak tree which withstood the rush of the truck. So powerful was the impact that the radiator was rammed back toward the driver's seat and the steering gear was smashed into small pieces.

The truck was owned by the National Capital Storage & Moving Co., Inc. Police for a time were unable to learn the name of the driver because of his intoxicated condition. He was first taken to Emergency Hospital and then to Gallinger Hospital in a Fourteenth Precinct patrol wagon. After treatment at Gallinger the man revived sufficiently to describe himself as Henry Tyler, 21 years old, of Sixth street near I street northwest. He is suffering from internal injuries. No charges had been placed against the driver at an early hour today.

Police, Firemen Face Ban on Outside Work

An order forbidding policemen and firemen to engage in work outside their regular jobs is expected to result from a conference to be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon between Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby and Fire Chief George S. Watson, Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, and John P. Colpoys, representing the labor unions.

Protest was made to Commissioner Crosby last week against firemen doing work as painters during their off hours, while regular tradesmen were idle and looking for work. Fire Chief Watson is opposed to outside work by his men.

Young Man Is Booked On Prohibition Charge

Julius Sanders, 21 years old, of Ninth street near O street northwest, was booked at the Eighth Precinct station early yesterday afternoon on charges of transportation and possession of five gallons of alcohol after his arrest by Policeman S. M. Scott in an alley in the rear of an N street house near Nineteenth street northwest.

Scott reported that he saw the machine enter the alley and became suspicious when he saw Sanders alight with a tin container. Sanders was released on $1,500 bond.

ARRESTS HELD HARD BLOW TO DRUG RING OPERATING IN EAST

Hearing of Five Here Continued; Agents Believed Seeking Others.

TWO CALLED 'BIG SHOTS' UNDER $20,000 BONDS

Men Nabbed in Capital Said to Have Come to Make Narcotic Deliveries.

Arrest and arraignment in Washington yesterday of five persons on charges of violating the Harrison narcotic act, in the opinion of Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of narcotic violations, has broken the back of what he considers the biggest dope ring in the East.

This viewpoint was accentuated yesterday when the five persons were arraigned before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage. At the time Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins, representing the office of United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, described two of the men—both foreigners—as the "biggest shots in the dope racket on the Atlantic Coast."

Refuses to Divulge Details.

Secretary Lowman yesterday refused to divulge details of the methods by which the alleged "ring" had been trapped but intimated that everything in connection with the case emanated directly from a seizure of drugs in New York City. These drugs, it was understoood, and Mr. Lowman did not deny the statement, had been on a New York dock for several months.

That the agents still were seeking to find other persons believed to be implicated with the alleged ring was seen in the fact that Mr. Collins insisted on a hearing ten days from the date of arraignment on the grounds that the Government agents, who were primarily responsible for the local raids, were out of the city.

Mr. Collins and other narcotic agents stated that the men were in court in other jurisdictions as witnesses but the statement by Mr. Lowman that other raids in other sections might be expected momentarily was taken as indicating that they were on another "round-up."

$20,000 Bonds Set for Two.

The two alleged "big shots," both of whom were arrested here Saturday night, are Pete D. Agistone and Joe Anzellone, both of New Jersey. Commissioner Turnage ordered each held under bond of $20,000.

At the same time a 55-year-old mother and her 30-year-old son and another man, all alleged by Mr. Collins to be members of a "big racket" that extends through every part of the Eastern section of the United States, were ordered held under bonds of $3,000, $5,000 and $10,000, respectively. The mother is Mrs. Josephine Graham and the son is Robert Joseph Janney. The other man is John C. "Jack" Gallahan, who recently was given a five-year suspended sentence following a plea of guilty to a similar charge.

Mr. Collins told the commissioner that when Anzellone and Agistone were arrested Saturday night that narcotic agents made one of the largest seizures of heroin ever confiscated in the East. He said the amount of the drug seized weighed 60 ounces and that at bootleg prices it would bring at least $65 an ounce.

Came to Make Delivery, Claim.

The assistant United States attorney intimated that the two men had come from New Jersey to make a delivery to the other persons nabbed in the raid.

Anzellone, apparently willing or predestined to take the "rap," pleaded guilty when his name was called but the companion, to whom he was handcuffed, indicated that he did not understand the English language. Anzellone attempted to make a statement, but Mr. Collins interposed and asked the commissioner to bear in mind the reluctance of the other man to make a plea and to enter Agistone's plea as "not guilty."

Mrs. Graham entered a plea of not guilty and when the commissioner assessed the bond of $3,000 declared she could not make it. She, too, attempted to make a statement to the court, but was forestalled by her counsel, Attorneys James B. Archer and John P. Mullen.

Tries to Exonerate Mother.

Janney, who, while handcuffed to Callahan, affectionately kept his free arm draped about his mother's shoulders, also tried to exonerate her, but was unable. He pleaded guilty to a possession charge, but entered a "not guilty" plea to he sale charge, which had been booked against him. Commissioner Turnage assessed bond of $5,000, despite he fact that Attorney Mullen pointed out that the other bond on which the man was at liberty amounted to only $500.

Callahan's case was disposed of in quick order. He pleaded not guilty and the commissioner, looking at the record showing he was under a suspended sentence, fixed the $10,000 bond.

Hearing in all five of the cases was fixed for August 4 after Attorney Archer had objected to continuance for ten days. The Government asked for the continuance on the grounds that the majority of the agents who engineered the local raids were out of the jurisdiction.

Local narcotic agents, who admitted that out-of-town men had worked up the case, and Mr. Collins refused to discuss whether the men who were wanted as witnesses in the local cases were out seeking information on other members of the alleged narcotic ring.

Mrs. Graham later was released on $1,500 bond, Max Weinstein being surety.

Two Are Given Terms In Theft of Auto Battery

James E. Webster, 22 years old, Negro, and Edward A. Smith, 19 years old, also colored, were sentenced to serve six months in jail yesterday in Police Court following arraignment and conviction before Judge Isaac R. Hitt in Police Coure on charges of petit larceny in connection with the theft of an automobile battery and tools from a house on Thirteenth street northwest, near Wisconsin avenue, where the latter worked.

Police Seek Aged Colored Woman.

Police were yesterday asked to search for a colored woman reported to be 100 years old, who has been missing from her home at 1402 Olive avenue northwest for several days. She is Sarah Lee and is said to be very feeble.

Jail Shy Two Prisoners At Roll Call Last Night

There was consternation at the jail last night when the stentorian voice of the caller of the rolls in Col. William A. Peake's establishment on the breezy banks of the Eastern Branch came to the name and number of one John Mahoney.

There was a reason. John Mahoney was not among those present, despite a ten-day invitation to be there. But Johnny Mahoney was not alone in his aberrations. One William Kane, recipient of a similar ten-day command and performance, was likewise chiefly notable for his absence.

Two such grave offenses might ruin the esprit de corps of many an organization, but not so in this case. The caller of the rolls concluded his task without so much as a murmur being heard from his assembled multitude. The boys remained true to the best traditions of the service.

Shortly after the pair had failed to answer at the evening call, the police were asked to bring them back. As a part of their pennance they will be placed on the more or less disgusting kitchen police job.

Police Wait Three Hours To Nab Pair on Rum Charge

Lying in wait nearly three hours last night, police of the Eighth Precinct arrested Max Cosman, 34 years old, of Northampton avenue near Twenty-ninth street, and his wife, Mrs. Bessie Cosman, also 34 years old, on charges of possession and transportation of five gallons of alcohol and one-half gallon of gin.

Policemen William McEwan and H. M. Smith, of the Eighth Precinct, made the arrests, they say, as Cosman left his automobile to make a delivery in a house on Georgia avenue near Florida avenue.

The policemen claim Mr. and Mrs. Cosman had been appearing regularly at the Georgia avenue address, always with two boys, 4 and 5 years old, in their company. The children's presence previously allayed the suspicions of police, but last night the trap was laid. The man and his wife were released on $1,500 bond each.
